SIX INJURED — Six persons were injured in this accident at the intersection of the CCC-Highway-W and Jamison Road at 11:13 a.m. Wednesday. Cars driven by Linda Pence, 22, Sabina, and Orville Hawkins, 59, Snow Hill Road, were involved. At press time all of those involved were at Fayette Memorial Hospital. Injured passengers all from Sabina, riding in the Pence vehicle were Della Pence, 47, broken knee cap, cuts and bruises; Denny Pence, 3, head injury; Jerome Pence, 2, no apparent injury and under observation and Robbie Pence, 4, no apparent injury, under observation. The extent of the drivers injuries was not immediately known. Sheriff Sgt. Bill Crooks said that the Hawkins vehicle, headed north on Jamison Road, pulled into the path of the Pence vehicle which was traveling northeast on the CCC-Highway. The investigation is continuing.

Jaworski demand for more tapes could bring fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sweeping new prosecution demand for President Nixon's Watergate tapes could mean another confrontation between the White House and the special Watergate prosecutor.

There was no immediate comment from the White House on how it will respond to Tuesday's bid by special prosecutor Leon Jaworski for court permission to issue a subpoena for 63 conversations.

Jaworski's predecessor, Archibald Cox, went to court last summer and won backing from district and appeals courts for a subpoena issued on behalf of the grand jury. Jaworski also subpoenaed the White House last March for materials believed to relate to the barter of ambassadorships and got substantially what he requested.

Jaworski asked U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica to make the subpoena returnable at 10 a.m. April 23. That would be two days before a subpoena issued for the House Judiciary Committee for material it wants for its impeachment investigation.

The special prosecutor said he needs the tapes and supporting documents to prepare for the Watergate cover-up trial of H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, John N. Mitchell and four others scheduled to begin in Sirica's court Sept. 9.

His request to the court and the Judiciary Committee's subpoena for 42 conversations differ in time and scope although 23 of the conversations are duplicated.

Jaworski concentrated on talks Nixon had with Haldeman and Ehrlichman, formerly the President's principal aides, and asked for a few that included Charles W. Colson and John W. Dean III.

The Judiciary Committee subpoena also asks for Haldeman-Ehrlichman-Dean conversations, and also those Nixon had with former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst and Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen.

The special prosecutor's request embraces specific conversations ranging over most of one year—from June 20, 1972, through June 4, 1973. The House subpoena spans two months, from Feb. 20, 1973, through April 18, when the Watergate cover-up was crumbling.

In his latest action, Jaworski followed the practice of asking the court for permission to subpoena since the material is sought for trial evidence.

The special prosecutor said he felt "obligated to seek these materials by subpoena," because he has received "no definitive response" to requests by letter. He enclosed a letter he wrote to White House lawyer James D. St. Clair, written April 11, advising him a subpoena would be sought in five days.

Haldeman, Ehrlichman, Mitchell and Colson, along with Gordon Strachan, Kenneth W. Parkinson and Robert C. Mardian are charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Army chief cuts Calley's prison term

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say Secretary of the Army Howard Callaway went far beyond the recommendation of a clemency board in halving Lt. William Calley's prison sentence to 10 years for the My Lai massacre.

Callaway's decision meant Calley could come up for parole within the year.

The Army said it could not make public the recommendation of the Army-Air Force Clemency and Parole Board. But sources said the board proposed only a slight reduction in Calley's 20-year sentence.

Callaway said he remitted 10 years of Calley's prison sentence because of "mitigating circumstances indicating that Lt. Calley may have sincerely believed that he was acting in accordance with the orders he had received and that he was not aware of his responsibility to refuse such an illegal order."

At the same time, the Army seccetary said Tuesday "there is no reasonable doubt in my mind that he perpetrated the acts for which he stands convicted."

The case is now before President Nixon, who has said he will review it personally and make the final decision. Army lawyers said Nixon could affirm the present sentence or cut it further but could not increase it.

Calley's civilian lawyer Kenneth M. Henson, said in Columbus, Ga., that the Army secretary's ruling was disappointing. "We're still hopeful that the President of the United State exonerates Lt. Calley," Henson said.

Officials at Army headquarters said they believe Calley spent only one night in the Ft. Benning, Ga., stockade after his sentencing by a court-martial to life in prison at hard labor on March 31, 1971.

Nixon ordered Calley released from the stockade April 1, 1971, and said he should be confined to his quarters pending review of his case.

WCH to pay more

PUCO allows natural gas rate hikes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Customers of five major utilities in Ohio will be paying more for synthetic natural gas after a decision announced Tuesday by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

The PUCO allowed the firms, all customers of the Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., to increase the cost of synthetic gas to customers through a "fuel cost adjustment clause."

The commission also ordered the companies to explain to customers why the increase in necessary.

The request for the rate boost was made last June by the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co., Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., Dayton Power and Light Co., Ohio Valley Gas Co., and West Ohio Gas Co.

The utilities told the commission the extra revenue was necessary to obtain fuel from new sources.

The commission has allowed gas utilities to adjust their billings to customers for the past 22 years by passing along cost increases for natural gas.

Utilities are already receiving synthetic gas from a Green Springs plant, the PUCO noted.

The commission said it would review the impact of the adjustment clauses on customers.

Storm siren tested; isn't loud enough!

The storm warning siren atop the Courthouse, tested at noon Wednesday, functioned properly and at full volume according to a Fire Department spokesman. But the blast apparently did not carry beyond the city limits. Of those contacted, only one of five persons living near the city corporation line heard the test alert.

Officials at the Washington Avenue Nursing Home, Washington Ave. at Elm St., and residents at Highland Ave. and Fairway Dr., Clinton and Grand Aves., and Forest and Temple Sts. did not hear the siren at all.

At North St. and Oakland Ave. a resident stated that he heard it only because he was listening for it and had the door open. "If the door had been closed, I couldn't have heard it," he said.

Only one of the Union Township residents contacted heard the alert. A woman on Prairie Road, who was in her yard, was able to hear it, but her husband who was inside the house could not. Others who heard nothing included officials of the Quiet Acres Nursing Home, Palmer Rd.

Volcano erupts

MOSCOW (AP) — A 15,584-foot volcano on the Kamchatka Peninsula, at the East Asian end of the Soviet Union, has begun erupting after being quiet for seven years, Tass reported today.

The official Soviet news agency said ashes from the volcano were falling on an area of 300 square miles.

Kissinger meets Latins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger opens four days of consultations with Latin American foreign ministers today, hoping to make progress toward his goal of a revitalized U.S. policy in the hemisphere.

Kissinger and his 24 Latin American colleagues are to meet at the State Department this afternoon for private informal discussions on trade, aid and financial problems President Nixon will host a state dinner for the ministers tonight.

After a concluding session Thursday at the State Department, the ministers will fly to Atlanta for the annual meeting of the General Assembly of the Organization of American States. Kissinger plans to return to Washington Sunday morning.

Democrat wins in Congress election

Nixon hurt by vote

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — The Democratic victory in Michigan's special congressional election is a blow to President Nixon's hopes of demonstrating political popularity to Republican House members considering impeachment.

Previous GOP setbacks in House contests in Johnstown, Pa., Cincinnati, Ohio, and Grand Rapids, Mich., have made many Republicans fearful of a GOP electoral disaster in next November's congressional elections.

Many congressional observers feel this has increased the likelihood that many Republicans may seek political safety by voting for an impeachment resolution if the House Judiciary Committee approves one.

In this atmosphere, Nixon decided to do his first campaigning since his own 1972 re-election. Figuring he would be blamed for any GOP setback here, he decided he should try to get in on any possibility of triumph.

Such a victory would surely have been cited by the White House to GOP doubters as evidence Nixon retains much support in the country and that a pro-impeachment vote would be politically risky.

At the time of the visit, six days before the election, there was considerable sentiment among the 8th District's political observers that Republican James Sparling Jr. had cut substantially into the lead indicated by polls for Democrat Bob Traxler and might even win.

But when the ballots were counted Tuesday night, the vote for Sparling in the rural areas Nixon visited fell below the normal Republican percentages. It was insufficient to offset the Democratic surge for Traxler in more populous Bay City and Saginaw, where labor unions are strong.

The Traxler victory, in a district the Democrats last won in Franklin D. Roosevelt's 1932 landslide, can only be read as a further sign of weakness on the part of Republicans and the President.

If this increases the likelihood of impeachment, it is not because of the 8th District's new congressman. Sparling also said he would vote to impeach if the evidence warranted.

The real impact will come, Traxler noted, from GOP House members already in Washington.

"They are the people that have to decide just how big an albatross he's going to be around their necks in November," he told his cheering supporters.

Ford plays down Demo victory

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford says the Democratic victory in a special Michigan congressional election is a bad omen for the country and that continued Democratic victories could lead to a "legislative dictatorship."

"One party control is not good for America," Ford said after Democrat Bob Traxler's narrow victory Tuesday in the state's 8th District over Republican James Sparling Jr.

"And the trend in congressional elections now is for the Democrats to end up with an overwhelming majority in the House. This will mean a legislative dictatorship."

Ford said the election would have no bearing on how Congress treats the President in regard to the impeachment inquiry now being conducted by the House Judiciary Committee.

Sparling said he did not blame Nixon for his defeat.

Traxler, who won in this traditionally GOP district despite a personal appearance by President Nixon on behalf of Sparling, said Nixon is the problem of Republicans, not Democrats.

Traxler's victory gave the 8th District seat to Democrats for the first time since 1932.

It marked the fourth time in five special elections this year that normally GOP areas have fallen to the Democrats.

But it was the first time Nixon took an active role in trying to stem the tide.

With all of the 296 precincts in the district unaccounted for in unofficial returns, Traxler had 59,918 votes, Sparling 56,575.

The results gave Traxler 51.4 per cent of the vote.

Traxler said after his victory that voters knew that perhaps a new moral force was needed in the White House.

"And while we didn't dwell on Watergate...there are a lot of people who felt it very important that a message and communication be sent that decency, honesty and integrity are absolutely essential in the White House."

In his comments, in a statement given to newsmen at Palm Springs, Calif., Ford said he had talked with Sparling "and he informed me that Watergate was not the principal factor in his defeat. The unions simply did a better job than the Republican organization in getting out the vote."

Sparling said he would decide later whether to challenge Traxler in November, when the seat opens up again in a regular election.

He insisted Nixon was not invited to Michigan to campaign for him, but rather to "get out of the White House where he is now isolated and face the people."

In his three-hour tour in the district last week, Nixon avoided heavily Democratic big city areas, where unemployment hovers around 10 per cent. He concentrated instead on the small communities where the district's GOP strength lies.

He drew a generally warm welcome from thousands, although there were some protesters.

Abernathy slates new Poor March

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said the group would "confront Washington with our bodies this year" over the economics of poor people.

Abernathy spoke Tuesday night before a spring meeting of SCLC directors in the allblack suburb of Lincoln Heights.

Abernathy, in a fiery speech before about 150 persons, called President Nixon "the most notorious criminal in the land."

He also described Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace as "the symbol of racism in America" and vowed to stop an Edward Kennedy-George Wallace Democratic ticket in 1976.

"We are tired of hearing about Watergate. We want jobs. We want to be able to go to the doctor twice a year. We want to be able to sit in the dentist chair to have our teeth cleaned," he said.

Simon named treasury chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon named federal energy chief William E. Simon to be Treasury secretary today and pledged to play an expanded personal role in directing the government's economic policy.

Nixon promoted Simon's chief assistant, John C. Sawhill, to federal energy administrator.

In announcing Simon's nomination, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren also announced that the President "intends to play an increasingly expanded role," in coordinating the administration's economic policy.

Simon's selection had been expected for weeks.

Fighting continues on Syrian frontier

By The Associated Press

Israeli and Syrian artillery and tank guns battled again today on Mt. Hermon and along the Golan Heights.

The Israeli military command said Syrian guns pounded Israeli positions on the bitterly contested mountain, wounding one soldier, and the exchanges spread along the 40-mile perimeter around the territory captured in the October war.

The Syrian command reported Syrian and Israeli forces battled on the slopes of Mt. Hermon throughout the night but gave no details. The thud of artillery was heard all night in Damascus, the Syrian capital 23 miles from the Biblical mountain.

The Syrians also said the fighting spread along the front at daybreak.

It was the 37th consecutive day of fighting and coincided with the 29th anniversary of Syria's independence from France.

The Syrians have been trying to capture an Israeli reconnaissance post on the north side of Mt. Hermon which overlooks the entire front. A report from Damascus said the Syrians have established a forward command post on a slope of the snow-covered mountain, indicating more attempts to capture the Israeli position.

Associated Press newsman Hal McClure reported from the front that Israeli reinforcements ran into heavy Syrian cannon fire as they made their way up the slopes of the mountain on Tuesday.

Syrian President Hafez Assad returned to Damascus from a five-day visit to Moscow, and the two governments announced that the Soviets would increase Syria's military capacity and support Syria's "legal and inalienable right to use all effective means for the liberation of its occupied lands."

Beirut newspapers said the Kremlin pledged early delivery of MIG25 jet fighters and ground-to-ground missiles.

In the joint communique the Soviet government attempted to counter U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's success in Middle East peacemaking by criticizing attempts to solve the area's problems in "a piecemeal" fashion. It warned that to exclude the Soviet Union from peace negotiations would lead to "grave consequences."

There was mounting war talk in Cairo as President Anwar Sadat warned that an Israeli attack across the Suez Canal would be countered with longrange Egyptian missiles that he said were "still directed at three major Israeli cities."

Egypt is "ready for any eventuality" and has "a startling number" of tanks ready to cross the canal immediately if the need arises, Sadat told a group of students.

Eckhart blasts utility firms taxes

By The Associated Press

More candidates disclosed their incomes and one lieutenant governor hopeful attacked utility firms Tuesday for the taxes they pay.

Henry Eckhart, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, said Ohio Bell will receive $11 million credit on net income of $57 million for 1973. United Telephone will receive a $3 million credit on net income of $8 million, Eckhart said.

"If you accept that the utility companies were entitled to this very favorable income tax treatment, you must also accept that the rate payers should not be required to pay dollars for taxes which are no longer charged," he said in prepared remarks for a Columbus political caucus.

"Ohio's utility companies owe their customers millions and millions of dollars in refunds and reduced rates," Eckhart said.

He is one of nine candidates for the Democratic nomination. Eckhart served as chairman of the Public Utilities Commission during part of Gov. John J. Gilligan's administration.

Meanwhile, Republican gubernatorial candidate Rep. Charles Fry, R-75 Springfield, disclosed he paid $28,167 in federal income tax in 1973 on a taxable income of $71,785 for him and his wife.

He said he had a gross income of $94,433, some $68,650 of it from salaries.

Elsewhere on the campaign, U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, looking for the Democratic nomination for the Senate, recommended Tuesday that food exports be limited in order to keep food prices in the U.S. at a reasonable level.

"The American consumer must be given first claim to his own farm products," Metzenbaum said.

Two candidates of nine on the slate for lieutenant governor have tentatively agreed to a discussion of election issues. Rep. Richard Celeste, D-5 Cleveland, and William O'Neill of Columbus agreed Tuesday to the discussion.

O'Neill suggested the discussion take place at lunchtime on the steps of the Capitol during the last week of the campaign.

Widespread manhunt on for SLA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe said today he is convinced that Patricia Hearst "was not a reluctant participant" in a San Francisco bank robbery and that he considers her a common criminal.

Saxbe told reporters at his weekly news conference that he was expressing his personal views about the 20-year-old newspaper heiress reported kidnaped by the Symbionese Liberation Army more than two months ago.

Saxbe said he believes the FBI would be justified in breaking into a dwelling to capture Miss Hearst and SLA members.

"The entire group we're talking about are common criminals," Saxbe said. Asked if he was including Miss Hearst in that description, he replied, "Miss Hearst is part of it."

In response to questions about the bank robbery, Saxbe said, "it would appear to me that she was not a reluctant participant in this robbery. My personal conclusion is that she was not a reluctant participant. There's room for others to say she was coerced into it, the two guns pointed at her and so on."

In San Franciso today, Saxbe's view was bolstered by bank guard Edward Shea, who said Miss Hearst "was full of curse words" and appeared ready to fire a sawed-off carbine if necessary during the robbery.

Shea, 66, who was disarmed during the holdup, said Miss Hearst "absolutely was a participant" in the bank heist Monday in which two passers-by were shot.

"She wasn't scared, I'll tell you that," he said. "She looked as though she knew what she was doing. She had a gun and looked ready to use it. She had plenty of command in her voice. She was full of curse words. She let it be known that she meant business."

Earlier, Miss Hearst's fiance said he believes the SLA contrived the bank holdup — in which she carried a carbine — to make people think she had joined the terrorist group.

Steven Weed, 26, told reporters Tuesday that Monday's bank heist, in which two persons were wounded and $10,690 was stolen, was designed "to get people to believe she is converted without having to let her go."

He also said he believed Miss Hearst "is being humiliated at the hands of a group of people who are determined not to let her get out of this alive."

In an April 3 taped communique, Miss Hearst scorned her family and said she had joined the SLA, which has claimed responsibility for abducting her Feb. 4 from a Berkeley, Calif., apartment she shared with Weed.

Weed said Miss Hearst, 20, appeared sick and exhausted in the photographs taken automatically by cameras in the bank Monday. She was accompanied by three white women and a black man.

Police Capt. Mortimer McInerney also said the holdup may have been staged by the SLA to "show off Patty Hearst as a member of their ranks."

Meanwhile, John Kelly, who heads the FBI office here, said the SLA could have forced Miss Hearst to participate in the robbery by threatening to harm her or her family.

Deaths, Funerals

Miss Viola May Shumaker

GREENFIELD — Miss Viola Shumaker, 77, a former Greenfield resident, died at 5 p.m. Tuesday in the Roselawn Nursing Home, West Lafayette.

Born in Highland County, Miss Shumaker was never married.

She is survived by two brothers, John, of Gallipolis, and Ralph, of Antioch; and three sisters, Mrs. Nanna May Thompson, of Dayton, Mrs. Margaret Ward, of Hillsboro, and Miss Elizabeth Shumaker, of West Lafayette. Two brothers and a sister preceded her in death.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Murray Funeral Home, with the Rev. Noble Miller officiating. Burial will be in Greenfield Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Friday.

John D. Williams

MARION — John D. Williams, 56, of Marion, died at 6:02 a.m. Wednesday in Community Memorial Hospital, Marion, where he had been a patient for the past 11 days.

Mr. Williams resided in Washington C. H. for 18 years before moving to Marion some five years ago. He was vice president and sales manager of G&G Homes Sales Corporation as well as rental property manager and a member of the board of directors of G&G Homes Inc., both of which are located in Marion. He was a World War II veteran, a member of the Paul H. Hughey Post, American Legion, as well as the 40&8 F&AM, and a member of Grace United Methodist Church. Mr. Williams belonged to the $1,000,000 Club of National Homes and was a member of United Commercial Travelers.

He is survived by his wife, the former Julia Schrock; a daughter, Mrs. Michael (Patty Lou) Garinger, of Dayton; and three brothers, Robert and Philip, of Columbus, and Daniel, of Sunbury.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home in Washington C. H., with Dr. Harold Scott officiating. Burial will be in Washington Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 until 4 p.m. and from 7 until 9 p.m. Friday.

MRS. LAURA M. DELLINGER — Services for Mrs. Laura Mae Dellinger, 93, of 123 W. Oak St., were held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Wilbur Bullock, pastor of McNair Presbyterian Church, officiating. Mrs. Dellinger, the widow of W. H. Dellinger, died Saturday.

Pallbearers for the burial in Bloomingburg Cemetery were Mark and Mike Dellinger, Tommy, Gary, Jim, and Bill McMurray.

SLA manhunt

Patricia's father, Randolph A. Hearst, returned Tuesday from a 10-day rest in La Paz, Mexico, and told reporters he had no idea whether his daughter was coerced into joining the bank robbery.

"Sixty days ago, she was a lovely child; 60 days later — a picture of her in a bank robbery!" said Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner.

Meanwhile, a federal bank robbery warrant was issued Tuesday for escaped convict Donald D. DeFreeze, the alleged SLA General Field Marshal Cinque. It was the first time the FBI publicly stated DeFreeze was the SLA leader. Authorities have said the group has about 25 members.

Earlier, federal robbery warrants were issued for three women previously linked to the SLA.

Another warrant seeks Miss Hearst as a material witness to a robbery. The FBI has said it did not charge Miss Hearst with bank robbery because photos showed that guns held by two SLA women were pointing in her direction.

Investigators also questioned why the robbers failed to shoot out the bank cameras, which were in plain view and took 1,200 pictures.

A dozen inspectors and scores of FBI agents were assigned full time to the search for the four women and five men who staged the daring robbery.

Problems surface in U.N. Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Confrontations are surfacing on all sides at the United Nations General Assembly special session on economics.

Conflicts between rich nations and poor, between oil producers and oil consumers, between socialist and capitalist countries, and between China and the Soviet Union have emerged in the last two days of debate.

Three major Arab oil countries, Kuwait, Iraq and Saudi Arabia, demanded Tuesday that the industrialized countries bear major responsibility for easing the economic hardship caused among the needy nations by the oil countries' hike in their prices.

"The greater part of it should be borne by the advanced industrial countries," Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani of Saudi Arabia told the assembly Tuesday.

He said his government gave more than $2 billion in foreign aid in 1973, and this made it the world's largest donor relative to national income and output.

Foreign Minster Sabah al Ahmad al Jaber al Sabah of Kuwait told the session the advanced countries "have a historic responsibility because they are primarily responsible for the backwardness and privation which are the lot of the underdeveloped countries."

He said Kuwait is spending 7 to 8 per cent of its gross national product on foreign assistance while the contribution of industrialized countries dropped in 1972 from .42 of one per cent to .34.

China accused the Soviet Union of trying to sabotage the assembly proceedings by an "irrelevant" proposal to link economic development to East-West detente.

U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on Monday urged against confrontations and appealed to the oil-rich countries to use some of their profits to aid needy nations.

"I think most of the developing countries took the view that there was an implied threat in what he said," Nigeria's foreign minister, Okoi Arikpo, told reporters.

Montgomery County GOP audit discloses 'oversight'

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Montgomery County Republican officials say the General Accounting Office has thrown a spotlight on what amounted to "an oversight" by the county party and a contractor who billed for labor, but not materials.

The GAO conducted an audit of the county GOP executive committee and Tuesday accused Republican officers and the electrical contractor of apparent violation of state and federal election laws which require reports on corporate contributions.

The $2,262 "oversight" was also referred to the U.S. Attorney General and the state attorney general's office.

Commenting on possible prosecution, county GOP president Charles Ross said, "They (GAO) insist on making a big deal out of every audit."

Billing of $2,422 by Chapel Electric Co. for employes' labor on installation of lighting in a 1972 redecoration of party headquarters was not discovered until the audit, said committee treasurer Guy Kennedy.

Kennedy said it was not the intent of either the executive committee or the company to make or accept an illegal campaign contribution.

The audit showed costs for the new lighting in the Dayton office as $4,685, but found bills adding up to only labor costs.

The GAO also cited the committee for failure to allocate its media expenditures on a percandidate basis and said party officials failed to report the occupations and principal places of business of many contributors.

Auditors said they also found a reported cash balance of $5,155 on hand April 7, 1972, but said other cash was held in a special checking account, a building fund and certificates of deposit—all totaling $45,998.

The report, however, said the committee has since amended its report of beginning cash on hand to include those extra funds.

The News In Brief

10,000 await flood relief

BEAUMONT, Miss. (AP) — An estimated 10,000 south Mississippi flood victims are waiting for high water to move downstream so they can return to their homes.

The floods, which followed up to 16 inches of rain last weekend, have claimed eight lives and caused an estimated $60 million in nonagricultural property damage.

At Hattiesburg, where the Leaf and Bowie rivers converge, and at Columbia, where the Pearl River is over its banks, water was receding. But flood waters still remained in many homes and businesses.

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A week-long strike at the Borg Warner Co. plant, described by company officials as a wildcat walkout, has ended.

Members of Local 719 of the International Union of Electrical Workers voted Monday night to end the walkout. They were back on the job Tuesday.

The workers walked off the job April 9, reportedly in a dispute over disciplinary action taken against the union's president and another employe.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-passed campaign reform bill that includes little-noticed financial disclosure provisions will be before a House committee next week when Congress returns from its Easter recess.

Chairman Wayne Hays, DOhio, of the House Administration Committee already has said he opposes the bill because it provides for full public financing of presidential and congressional campaigns.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Petroleum shortages will recur despite the end of the Arab oil embargo unless the public continues to save fuel, top government energy officials say.

John C. Sawhill, deputy administrator of the Federal Energy Office, said in an interview Tuesday that gasoline shortages, at their worst, would not get as bad as last February when some motorists waited in service station lines for hours.

But Sawhill said that "some people probably will forget about conservation and some spot shortages of gasoline will develop."

Little girl foils attempt at kidnap

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A 10-year-old girl on her way to school foiled a kidnap attempt by outwitting her would-be abductor. She escaped unharmed with the aid of a neighbor.

Police told this story:

Patricia Marshall and a friend were waiting for a school bus Tuesday on a corner near her home in Lake Vista, a New Orleans subdivision. A man stopped his car, pushed Patricia in on the passenger's side and slammed the door.

Patricia yelled at her friend to run. Then, pretending she couldn't open the car door, she began banging on the car window. The kidnaper, apparently convinced his victim was secure, started around to the driver's door.

Then Patricia opened her door. The kidnaper ran back around and tried to close it. Patricia blocked the door with her foot as they struggled. A neighbor, Harvey Schwartzberg, passed by on his way to work and stopped to help.

The kidnaper gave up trying to force the door closed and sped away after Patricia, with Schwartzberg's aid, escaped from the car.

Stans faces Vesco testimony

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has finished his testimony before a federal court jury trying him on criminal conspiracy charges. Now it is the turn of his codefendant and one-time Cabinet colleague, Maurice H. Stans.

Mitchell testified under cross-examination Tuesday that he appointed Harry L. Sears as Republican campaign manager in New Jersey in 1972. Sears was one of the government's star witnesses against Mitchell.

On the same basis, the government brought out that Mitchell was instrumental in the appointment of William J. Casey as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission and of ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III to his initial administration job in the Justice department.

"Isn't it true, Mr. Mitchell, that your testimony is directly contradictory to that of all three of these men?" the witness was asked, in an attempt to suggest that it was Mitchell who was lying rather than the three men in whom he had placed his trust.

A defense objection was sustained on grounds the question was improper and it went unanswered. With that Mitchell's cross-examination was at an end.

Stans, Secretary of Commerce in President Nixon's first Cabinet, is scheduled to begin his testimony after the trial resumes today. There may be a final, minor defense witness first for Mitchell.

Mitchell and Stans are accused of using their influence to obstruct a massive fraud investigation by the SEC into the financial empire of Robert L. Vesco, in exchange for the latter's secret $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

Mitchell's place on the witness stand was taken in midafternoon by the man who replaced him as Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst.

Dean testified that Mitchell once called him and asked him to ask Kleindienst to look into the Mitchell-Stans grand jury here.

Kleindienst's testimony was elicited in support of Mitchell's denial that he ever had such a conversation with Dean after the latter had gone to the White House. Kleindienst said at the outset:

"I think of John Mitchell as one of the closest, most intimate friends I've ever had in my life."

"I have no recollection of any such call from Mr. Dean," Kleindienst went on. "I have no recollection of any conversation with Mr. Dean on this subject."

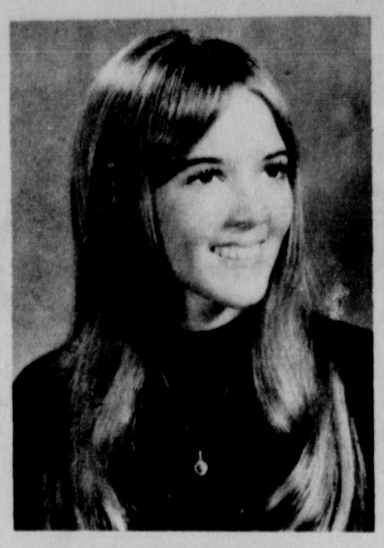

"Do you deny it happened?" he was asked.

"Well, I don't believe it happened," Kleindienst replied. "...Certainly, he didn't say anything to me about acting as a conduit or messenger boy for Mr. Mitchell, because Mr. Mitchell didn't need a messenger boy between us."

Homecoming Queen plans Army career

The 1973 Washington Senior High School homecoming queen has chosen a career in the U.S. Army.

S-Sgt. William Bradshaw, U.S. Army recruiter for the Washington C.H. area, said Sandra Kay Cardiff, a 1973 WSHS graduate, has enlisted in the U.S. Army and will become a physical activity specialist. She will be assigned to Yuma, Ariz., following basic training at Ft. McClellan, Ala.

Miss Cardiff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cardiff, 522 Peabody Ave., was vice president and treasurer of Y-Teens at WSHS in addition to being a member of Student Council, National Honor Society and the Society of American High School Students.

A large high pressure system centered in Arkansas made for clear skies over Ohio during the night and the same system will continue to dominate the state's weather through Thursday as it drifts slowly eastward.

Under clear skies Tuesday night, temperatures across the state at dawn Wednesday were on the chilly side, generally ranging in the 30s except at Toledo where the mercury was holding at 29 degrees. Under sunny skies both today and Thursday, temperatures will warm somewhat during the afternoon hours.

With high pressure influence on the state, dry conditions will continue through Thursday.

A chance of showers Friday through Sunday. Highs in the 60s and lows in the 40s.

Clear skies favor U.S.

By The Associated Press

Clear skies and crisp temperatures prevailed over most of the nation today, marred only by a few showers.

The scattered showers that washed parts of the Rockies, central Florida, Kentucky and Tennessee during the night were expected to diminish later in the day.

Cool air moved into the eastern half of the country, and freeze warnings were posted for parts of the Virginias and Maryland.

While early-morning readings for most of the nation were in the 30s and 40s, levels in the South reached the 50s and 60s.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 77 at the Key West, Fla., Naval Air Station to 27 at Lebanon, N.H.

Teamsters threaten other unions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Teamsters union, locked in a bitter feud with the United Farm Workers, has threatened retaliation against any unions that support the AFL-CIO's nationwide boycott of California grapes and lettuce.

Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons took the unusual step of writing the leaders of all AFL-CIO affiliated unions to warn that participation in the boycott would result in an end of all future cooperation by the Teamsters.

Thank You

We wish to thank our wonderful neighbors and friends for their thoughtfulness and expressions of love and kindness during the illness and death of my husband and our father, Thomas Dunn.

Special thanks to Dr. Rose, who was more than faithful and understanding to all of us.

Stock list cools off

NEW YORK (AP) — Another prime rate increase cooled off the stock market's recent rally today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up .63 at 861.86, and gainers clung to a narrow lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Citizens and Southern National Bank of Atlanta became the fourth bank to raise its prime lending rate above the former record high of 10 per cent, putting the key rate at 10¼ on existing loans and 10½ on new ones.

Cadence Industries was the NYSE volume leader, unchanged at 3 in trading marked by a 100,800-share block at that price.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .30 at 94.30.

Avis was down 4 at 14⅞ after the announcement that American Express would not proceed with plans to acquire the company from International Telephone. ITT was off ⅛ at 23⅛.

Polaroid, which came in with lower quarterly earnings this morning, dropped 3¾ to 61⅜.

Consolidated Oil & Gas was the Amex volume leader, up ¼ at 8⅛. Trading was halted in the issue for dissemination of news of a gas find in Webb County, Texas.

The NYSE's noon index of all its listed common stocks stood at 49.91, up .03.

High court OKs KSU lawsuits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court said today that damage suits against Ohio officials in the 1970 slayings of students at Kent State are not barred by executive immunity of state officials.

Thank You

To all the 250 people who signed my petitions so I could be a candidate for Fayette County Commissioner on the Republican ticket May 7. To those I didn't get to see I want you to know I need all the help and support you can give me.

I am a farmer residing in Jefferson Township. I am presently a Jefferson Township Trustee having served for 12 years. I have been on the Republican Central Committee for 15 years. I am a Director of our Fayette County Fair Board. I have always tried to be a person of good standing in my community, and any job or office I have held made an earnest effort to perform it efficiently and conscientiously.

I believe an elected official should serve ALL the PEOPLE, with all money spent when needed, to the BEST PURPOSE and PROGRESS, over which you have control. There is no substitute for SOUND MONEY MANAGEMENT and a DEDICATED OFFICE HOLDER. I have faith I can work and cooperate with other officials.

On May 7 when you go to the polls to vote for the person you want to work and represent you, may I ask for your nomination for Fayette County Commissioner?

Faulty weapons detectors

Questions have been raised about the propriety of routine electronic screening of airlines passengers to prevent their carrying weapons aboard.

The contentions that this is an unjustified invasion of privacy, and that above all basing criminal charges on the fruits of such warrantless searches is wrong, are legitimate subjects of debate.

One thing surely could be agreed to by everyone, though; as long as electronic screening is authorized, it should be operated efficiently. This gets us to New York Rep. John M. Murphy's claim that according to a government report a high percentage of airport weapons detectors are inoperative or malfunctioning.

This seems to be borne out by the experience of a Chicago Sun-Times reporter who found that detectors at two out of four checkpoints in O'Hare International Airport gave no sign when he walked through with a steel hammerhead in his pocket.

That makes the detection system a farce. If the electronic devices don't find a hunk of metal that size, what protection do they offer against the would-be aircraft hijacker with a gun in his pocket?

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Good talk, but who listens?

The World Anti-Communist League held its seventh annual convention in Washington, D.C., last week. It was the last place in the world to expect coverage for speeches about rolling back totalitarian threats, freeing the East European nations, building a U.S. Navy second to none, or getting Fidel Castro out of our hair.

The White House, pursuing detente, prefers to sidestep uncomfortable questions about Soviet military capabilities or intentions. The Washington press is monomaniacal, with no time for anything but Watergate.

But at least two interested outsiders were paying rapt attention to everything that was being said at the convention. They were the correspondents for Tass, the Soviet news agency, and the Communist Daily World.

The speeches were good, but how is one to evaluate their effect if only Moscow seems sufficiently interested to take them seriously? Adm. John McCain, Jr., former commander in chief of U.S. naval forces in the Pacific and Indian oceans, gave a remarkable briefing on the Soviet drive to dominate the oceans.

Last October, at the time of the Yom Kippur war, the U.S. Mediterranean fleet, 60 vessels strong, made the sudden discovery that 90 Soviet warships were busy protecting the Russian military supply lanes to Egypt and Syria. The Soviets lacked an aircraft carrier, but they had ships capable of launching 300-mile surface-to-surface missiles. The U.S., in short, was in an inferior position in the eastern Mediterranean at a most critical moment.

ADM. McCAIN went on to explain his "strategic island concept," which, if it is accepted as U.S. military policy, requires an upbuilding of such bases as the island of Diego Garcia in the Indian Ocean. The Tass and Communist Daily World men scribbled all of this down. But is Henry Kissinger listening? Will SALT II have anything to say about limiting conventional naval forces and facilities?

Another speaker, Rep. Richard Ichord (D.-Mo.), drew up a realistic balance sheet of detente as it has been practiced by the Soviets and the U.S. to date. Moscow has gotten a great deal out of detente for itself.

1. There was the wheat deal. 2. The Export-Import Bank agreed last October to lend the Soviets $500 million at six per cent interest. 3. The provisions of SALT I seem to have locked the U.S. into a second-place position in straegic power.

What did the U.S. get in return for all this? Ichord conceded that we did get help from the Russians in the Vietnam war settlement. But they were no help at all in the Middle East crisis. They not only armed the Egyptians, but they criticized Sadat for reaching an agreement with Kissinger, and they sided with Syria in urging the Persian Gulf Arab states to continue the anti-American oil embargo after the cease-fire.

ICHORD is not against detente as an idea, but he asked the 350 Anti-Communist League delegates what sense it makes to give without getting? Why offer the Soviet Union, which is furiously building a big navy, a huge loan at low interest and then have President Nixon turn around and demand $85 billion for U.S. defense?

Tass and the Communist Daily World showed the utmost interest in Ichord's complaints about one-sided detente, but is Richard Nixon ready to listen?

Anti-Communist League "Freedom Fighter" awards went to Valentyn Moroz of the Ukraine, Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary, and Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, the exiled Russian Nobel Prize winner. Moroz, the least known of the three, is a Ukrainian historian who, without international fame to protect him against imprisonment for writing his own version of the "Gulag Archipelago," has just smuggled to "the outside" these words: "Tell them only this: I am kept with the insane, they are creating hell for me. They are trying to drive me to the insanity of those with whom they locked me up. I cannot breathe."

"I come from another planet." So Avraham Shifrin, a luckier man than Moroz in that he has survived his own "Gulag Archipelago" imprisonment, introduced himself to the Anti-Communist League delegates. In his 1973 testimony before a U.S. Senate subcommittee, Shifrin anticipated everything that Solzhenitsyn has had to say. But it takes a Nobel Prize winner to make a splash.

It is really too bad that our anti-Communists have to listen to each other in a vacuum caused by a blind trust in detente. When will we, as a nation, realize that it takes two to detente even as it takes two to tango?

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, APRIL 18

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

A down-to-earth attitude needed. Don't let yourself be drawn into a whirlwind of rumor and speculation, now rife in many quarters.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

You may not size up occupational situations as accurately as usual. Better double-check! On the personal side, romance and travel favored.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Avoid a tendency toward lethargy. Rewards will be commensurate with the efforts you expend. Keep your own counsel in personal affairs.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Bonuses indicated from past efforts. These should give you new incentive, perhaps a wholly new approach in certain areas. Long-range plans favored.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Opposition from unexpected sources should not disrupt routine or plans previously made. Accept all challenges with your innate sturdiness and affability.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Look well into proposed suggestions or you may find yourself involved where you least desire it. Some definite "no" answers will be required.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A good period for branching out into new fields in your regular activities allow you the time. Creative interests especially favored.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Where you are not certain of your course, take time to gather more facts. Be sure you are not following "blind leads" or ill-informed persons.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A day for reflection. Give careful thought to decisions you must make soon. Outcomes could be extremely important to the future.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Originality will not be necessary to success now, so don't waste time by trying to be "different." You will do better by following past, well-tested procedures.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Under unusually generous Uranus influences, your creative urges are strong, may impel you to do something unusual and outstanding. Make the most of this fine period.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

You may encounter what seems to be undue opposition. Take whatever steps are necessary to overcome it, but do not mistake honest discussion for hostility.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly individualistic, creative and possessed of driving ambition. You usually attain your ambitions, took since your persistence and stamina are outstanding. In your relentless drive toward success, you often inspire others to follow your lead, but you could lose their support unless you overcome your overaggressiveness and an inclination to "dictate." You are extremely versatile and many fields are open to you in choosing a career. As a business executive or lawyer, you could be an outstanding success but, if your talents along artistic lines seem to dominate your choice, follow your desires since, properly educated, of course, you could become an eminent painter, musician, actor, playwright, composer.

Peter Fonda's marriage ends

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — The 12-year marriage of actor-producer Peter Fonda and his wife, Susan, has ended in divorce.

Superior Court Judge Richard Wells granted Mrs. Fonda's petition for divorce Monday after she testified the marriage had been destroyed by irreconcilable differences.

Fonda and his wife have been separated for more than two years.

Mrs. Fonda was granted $2,500 a month in alimony and $500 a month in support for each of the couple's two children, Bridget, 10, and Justin 7. Wells ordered that community property be divided.

Fonda is the son of actor Henry Fonda and brother of actress Jane Fonda.

Woman lashes out at judge on jury duty frustrations

DETROIT (AP) — Helen Mueller is a shy, 102-pound housewife who said she "really felt sort of proud" when she was called for federal jury duty.

But that was before she found out what jury duty was like.

After 20 days' service over three months, she stomped into U.S. District Court here to give Judge Fred W. Kaess a good bawling out.

"If I ever get in trouble, I'll never ask for a jury trial," she told the startled judge. "I don't want to be judged by a group of angry, frustrated people.

"We were herded around like animals, from one pen to another. Nobody says welcome, or tells you what the rules are, or what your rights are or what's going on around you. Most of the time you just sit, not knowing what it is you're waiting for.

"People become very resentful," Mrs. Mueller told the judge last week. "You'd be surprised how many jurors say they'll never vote again, because jurors names are drawn from the registered voters. I think that's terrible!"

Judge Kaess agreed and said a judicial committee was working on jury system reform.

The Drayton Plains woman said that the required 20 days of jury duty can stretch into six months if a juror is never chosen for a trial. So jurors stretch the truth a little during their examination just to get on a case and get the whole thing over with, she said.

"I don't mean the jurors lie," she said. "But for example, I've learned not to say what my husband's profession is. If I say he's a social worker, I'm excused right away. I learned very quickly to say he is a director for a family service agency. That's OK."

For another, the jurors aren't notified when a case is dismissed or settled out of court. "You might have to come in and sit all day only to be told to go home. And you never knew why," she said.

But Mrs. Mueller said the capper was the day she telephoned the emergency number to tell the court she couldn't show up because of a medical problem. She said she got a recorded message that told her what time to be on duty.

Red China opens trade showcase

TOKYO (AP) — Red balloons trailed anti-Confucius and anti-Lin Piao banners Monday for the opening of China's chief commercial showcase to the foreign world, the 35th Canton trade fair, Hsinhua reported.

The official Chinese news agency said it was the largest fair in history, but an American businessman quoted by Japanese reporters in Canton said the products shown were similar to those exhibited at the fair last fall.

The Japanese reports said about 5,000 foreign traders attended the fair on the first day. They said about 30,000 from 100 countries are expected during the fair's month-long run.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Long-time worker wants 'divorce shower'

DEAR ABBY: For years I have contributed to office collections for coworkers on the occasion of their engagements, marriages, anniversaries, births, deaths in the family, new homes, etc.

My wife and I separated a year ago, and I've been rooming with another man since then. Now I'm getting my own apartment, and I need all the things a couple needs to set up housekeeping-sheets, towels, dishes, appliances, etc. (My wife took everything when we split up.) Since I can't afford to buy all these things at once, I have proposed a "divorce" shower at work. It might even be appropriate for the gifts to be used items, since it's a second start for me.

The general reaction in the office was favorable, but some were on the fence. We agreed to abide by your advice as to whether this idea was too outrageous or actually a sensible way to help me out with a problem.

POTLESS

DEAR POTLESS: The idea makes a lot of sense to me. But you shouldn't "propose" the shower yourself, anymore than a bride should "propose her own shower. (P.S. Yours is not actually a "divorce shower," it's a miscellaneous shower for a man who's setting up housekeeping and doesn't have a pot.)

DEAR ABBY: I work in an office building. There's a woman down the hall who smokes a pack of cigarettes a day, and she bums every one of them!

She knows there are several smokers in this office, so she runs in just about every 30 minutes and asks if "anybody" has a cigarette.

I asked her why she didn't buy some and she said, "I'm not supposed to be smoking at all, and if I buy them I'll only smoke them." (I wonder what she thinks she is doing with the cigarettes she bums off us?)

Is there some real sharp answer we can give her when she comes in here to bum a cigarette?

SUCKER

DEAR SUCKER: Don't look for a sharp answer. Tell her if she's going to smoke she'll have to buy her own. That's sharp enough.

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating Henry for six months. He says he doesn't have a telephone at home. I do not have the phone number of the night or day jobs where he works. He says they allow only emergency calls, so he does all the calling.

One day I asked him where he lived and he said: "I can't give you the address because I'm moving right now." When I asked him where to send his Christmas card, he said: "Just hand it to me."

I have never been introduced to any of his friends, and he says he doesn't have any family.

Once I came right out and asked him if he was married, and he said no. He is always telling me I ask too many questions. I have a feeling he is not being honest with me. There are things I would like to know about him because I am falling in love with him. Why do you think he's so secretive?

IN THE DARK

DEAR IN: It's just a wild guess, but I'd say he's either married or living with someone. Unless he's willing to let you know where he lives and where he works, you'd be wise to forget him and look for a man who's not afraid to answer a few simple questions.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, April 17, the 107th day of 1974. There are 258 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1521, the Diet at Worms, Germany, excommunicated Martin Luther from the Roman Catholic Church after the former monk refused to admit to charges of heresy.

On this date- In 1790, Benjamin Franklin died in Philadelphia at the age of 84.

In 1861, Virginia seceded from the Union.

In 1941, in World War 2, Yugoslavia surrendered to Germany, but partisan forces continued to wage guerrilla warfare.

In 1943, U.S. bombers hit Palermo, Sicily.

In 1945, the United States announced that Japan had lost more than 200 planes in a single day of suicide attacks on Okinawa.

In 1958, a world's fair opened in Brussels, Belgium.

Ten years ago ... a Middle East Airlines airliner crashed into the Persian Gulf, killing all 49 persons aboard.

Five years ago ... Sirhan Bishara Sirhan was convicted of first-degree murder in Los Angeles in the slaying of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

One year ago ... President Nixon said major developments had come to light in the Watergate case as a result of a new investigation that he himself conducted.

Today's birthdays: Writer Thornton Wilder is 77 years old. Newscaster Harry Reasoner is 51.

Thought for today: Never tell your resolution beforehand
John Selden, English statesman, 1584-1654.

Only a few years ago, an enterprising mortician opened the first U.S. drive-in funeral parlor in Atlanta.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Thanks to a revived audience interest in more than music, news and sports, no less than four new radio drama or humor series are on the nation's airwaves these days. Now a fifth series is afoot.

It's the National Public Radio Theater, a dramatic effort that lasts an hour. Distribution of it began this month to the 163 public radio stations in the federally funded National Public Radio system.

NPR officials say a total of 11 of the weekly shows will be sent the stations this year, with a minimum of 26 new ones ordered for 1975. All will feature original or adapted material written only for radio.

What prompted it?

"One of the big things that moved us ahead was the success of the 'CBS Radio Mystery Theater,'" an NPR spokesman said, referring to the hour-long, weeknight series that made its debut in January.

"I think it proved the point that we've been trying to push," he said. "That there is an audience for radio drama if they, the audience, knows it's there."

Other radio series now on the air are the Mutual Broadcasting network's "Zero Hour," a suspense effort; a "National Lampoon" comedy series and "Sounds of the City," a soap opera about a black family.

The radio plays are produced by EARPLAY, a joint project of the University of Wisconsin's extension school and the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, at the university's radio station in Madison.

Karl Schmidt, a professor of educational communications, supervises the project. He says the show draws its thespians from New York, Chicago and the Minneapolis-St. Paul area as well as from the studentry.

How does he get his scripts?

"Mostly, we work through drama agents in New York," he said, "but we also solicit manuscripts through ads in the New York Times, the Saturday Review and other publications like that."

The pay for the scrivening is more inspirational than any known muse. Schmidt says an original, one-hour radio drama is worth $2,000 on acceptance, regardless of the author's fame or lack of it.

Question: Since few public radio stations can afford to advertise, how can listeners find out (a) the call letters of the nearest NPR outlet, and (b) when the programs air?

A spokesman said the best way is for the listener to write NPR's office in Washington, D.C., and ask which NPR station is in his or her area. Then call the station and ask when the show begins.

Court News

DIVORCE SUITS FILED

Two new divorce suits have been filed in Common Pleas Court.

Betty J. Campbell, 324 E. Paint St., has filed suit against Donald J. Campbell, Rt. 6, Washington C.H., on grounds of neglect of duty and cruelty. The parties were married Oct. 16, 1971, in Washington C.H. and have no children, according to the petition. The plaintiff asks that she be awarded half of the checking account existing on the date of filing the complaint, half of the accumulated savings account, furniture, household goods, sufficient additional funds for a down payment on the purchase of an automobile and that she be restored to her maiden name, Betty J. Forrest.

Helen M. Anders, of Milledgeville, has filed suit against Wilbur A. Anders, of Milledgeville, on grounds of neglect of duty and cruelty. The parties were married June 28, 1934, in Washington C.H. and have four children, three of whom are emancipated. The plaintiff asks child custody and support, temporary and permanent alimony, a property settlement to be determined by the court and a restraining order, which was granted.

ASKS ALIMONY ONLY

Susan L. Montgomery, 541 French Court, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court against Daniel J. Montgomery seeking alimony only. The parties were married Oct. 27, 1968, in Cincinnati and have no children, according to the petition. The plaintiff claims the defendant is guilty of neglect of duty.

Highway construction delay indefinite

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Declining revenues have resulted in an indefinite delay of highway construction work in Ohio, the head of the state Department of Transportation says.

J. Phillip Richley reported declining gasoline sales between December and February have cost the state more than $8 million in lost tax revenue.

Said Richley: "Our receipts started dropping in November, and the last three months they have really plummeted."

"The speed limit reduction (to 55 miles an hour) will have some effect, and if the gas suddenly starts to flow, it will reflect in our receipts," Richley said.

He said tax records showed December receipts down $1.7 million from the same month a year ago, with a drop of $3.3 million in January and $3.2 million in February.

City issues new building permits

The following new building permits have been issued at City Hall:

Louis Baer, 421 E. Market St., room on rear of residence; cost estimate $2,500;

Bernard Huffman, 428 Warren Ave., metal building on lot; cost estimate $150;

J.F. Loudner, 629 Fairway Dr., enclose patio; estimate $300.

Robert M. Pratt, 807 E. Paint St., new residence and attached garage, Lot 24, Dayton Ave.; cost estimate $30,000.

Columbus school planning blasted

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A civil rights worker testified Tuesday that sites for several schools planned in the Columbus education system would neighbor on property deeded with racially-restrictive clauses.

A hearing was expected to continue here today in federal court on a complaint by parents of eight Columbus students seeking to block an $89.5 million school construction program.

William A. Montgomery, who testified, described himself as a civil rights worker and said the building program would continue patterns of racial segregation.

Future of economy mostly guesswork

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Where the economy goes from here is becoming the subject of plain guesswork among some otherwise fearless forecasters of short-term trends whose brainpower is relied upon heavily in financial circles.

Many seem to agree that it might be an eventful summer in terms of prices and interest rates and wages and shortages, but conviction seems absent on whether things are going up or coming down.

Several analysts have sagely observed that while interest rates have been rising the trend has been down. That seems to suggest that recent increases have been mere jiggles in a downward slanting line, but you can't be certain.

One nationally circulated newsletter drops a reference to 15 per cent bond yields, while others maintain that the current 9 per cent return for new, top-rated corporates has to be the tops.

But those who claim to know really don't, unless they have managed to read the mind of Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who is the most influential man in determining how high or low the rates go.

What about prices?

A widely known economist with White House acquaintances is telling his corporate customers to expect the worst. He says inflation is chronic, that it isn't going to go away and everyone better realize it.

But others, some admittedly of the school that perennially believes "things can't get any worse," feel that the peak of inflation has been reached. Food prices have climbed 60 per cent in a decade.

You can take your pick of opinions about what is likely to happen when wage-price controls expire April 30, with forecasts seeming to be equally divided between a moderation and an increase in the inflation rate.

Unable to find a consensus regarding prices, or on their prospects for wage parity, consumers are taking matters into their own hands and are planting their own vegetable gardens.

Reach accord in Mansfield prison strike

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's corrections department won union agreement to disciplinary action against strikers at Ohio State Reformatory, including suspensions up to 30 days without pay, on a four-day prison walkout that ended late Tuesday.

Workers on the overnight shift had been caretakers of the institution's inmates since early Saturday when 260 employes struck. The prison employs about 450.

Joseph Ashley of the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction said a list of 23 procedural complaints was settled in a bargaining session Monday. But representatives of two unions did not consent to the disciplinary action until Tuesday evening, he said.

Striking members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes Local 1741 and the Richland County chapter of the Ohio Civil Service Employes Association had earlier ignored a court order to stop pickets from blocking prison entrances.

State corrections director Bennett J. Cooper had scheduled a Tuesday meeting on the procedural complaints about sanitary conditions and safety before the work stoppage.

But the question of alleged guard brutality, which triggered the Saturday walkout, Ashley said, "never had been clarified" in the talks.

Members of a citizen's advisory committee had talked with inmates who reportedly claimed physical abuses by the guards, Ashley said.

"Any employe with a documented reason for absence during the walkout will be paid for the four days," Ashley said. "But if the state has evidence any employe participated in the strike, he will not be paid."

The state agreed in a 12-hour session Monday to take action within 90 days on the safety and sanitary complaints, Ashley said. Employes said those issues had been ignored for over five months.

Wages were not a part of the dispute.

Hayes calls fellow solon blatant liar

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, called fellow Congressman Pierre S. DuPont, R-Del., "a categorical liar" for charging that Hays blocked campaign reform bills in committee.

In an angry rebuttal by telephone from his Flushing home, Hays said he is sponsoring a stronger bill, which should have been apparent, had DuPont read the text.

"If you've got the DuPont millions, you don't have to have any brains," he shot back.

The Delaware Republican charged during a news conference that Hays had substituted a weak bill which was a "mockery" of campaign reform.

DuPont is cosponsoring a bill before the House Administration Committee to set strict limits on the amount a single candidate could spend and the size of individual donations.

DuPont said he would try to get that bill out of committee, but also could support, with some reservations, a campaign spending reform measure recently passed in the Senate.

DuPont said he would attempt to add a ban on political contributions from special interest groups to the Senate measure.

DuPont told reporters he would endorse proposals requiring income tax disclosures by elected officials or a mandatory audit by the Internal Revenue Service.

Smoke inhalation fatal

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Shirlene Taylor, 34, died of smoke inhalation during a fire in her mobile home at LeSourdsville Tuesday, according to Butler County Coroner Dr. Garret J. Boone.

Lottery Commission angry with state

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A battle over the location of the new state Lottery Commission headquarters may have to be decided by the attorney general.

Lottery Commission members, visibly perturbed after being told that they did not have the final say in picking a headquarters site, voted 4-0 Tuesday to move into the building of their choice, even though an official of the State Department of Administrative Services told them they didn't have authority to make the choice.

The commissioners picked the Research Center building owned by the University Circle Research Center Corp., a Case Western Reserve University subsidiary.

Ray F. Weisent, administrator for space and planning of the Administrative Services Department, said his department will decide where the lottery commission locates its offices. Weisent said the department preferred the Ernest Bohn Towers in downtown Cleveland.

Lottery Commission Chairman David F. Leahy reported last week the commission had narrowed the choice to two sites—the Research Center and the Bohn towers, a housing project for the elderly located in the Erieview Urban Renewal district.

Weisent said the commissioners could only recommend a site but that the final selection would be up to his department.

Commission members said they were shocked.

Leahy said in talks in recent weeks with administrative services officials no one had given any indication that the commission couldn't make the final selection.

Commissioner Louis S. Goldman of Dayton abstained from the vote, saying that the decision was "an illegal act."

Before the vote was taken, Goldman announced that he may resign.

"This goes deeper than the location for the lottery commission," he said. "They are both good buildings. I'm considering whether I will sit on this commission any longer.

"I would like to go to the governor immediately, lay our cards on the table, and say, 'What are we? What are we doing here?'....I don't have to waste my time doing things like this."

Rattlesnake watershed hearing set for Thursday

SABINA — A public hearing to review a proposed project in the Rattlesnake Watershed, which covers a 277-square mile area in Fayette, Clinton, Highland, Greene and Madison counties, will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Sabina School cafeteria.

The meeting will be conducted by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources in cooperation with the Rattlesnake Watershed Steering Committee. The steering committee's pending application for planning assistance under the federal Small Watershed Act of 1954 will be reviewed.

The act authorizes the federal government to give technical and financial assistance to local organizations in planning and carrying out watershed projects.

Under the law, local, state and federal units of government cooperate in flood prevention and control, land drainage and management of water and related land resources.

The law is administered by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

THE PROPOSED project would include the watershed area of Lees Creek and Rattlesnake Creek upstream from the junction of Rattlesnake and Paint creeks.

Representatives of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources' watershed-planning section will be at the meeting to explain the current requirements for carrying out a program under the Small Watershed Act, to assess the need for the watershed project and to determine the level of public support for the project.

Althought, the project is in a pre-planning stage, the sponsors and steering committee anticipate a significant amount of stream channelization in Fayette and Clinton counties.

Agnew happy with life as writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "When I was young, I thought it was a lot more likely that I would grow up to be novelist than vice president of the United States. The written word has always fascinated me."

That's how former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew describes his new role as a writer. In an interview in the current issue of Ladies Home Journal, Agnew says he decided to write a novel to build confidence after a "very traumatic experience."

Agnew said he is writing every word of the novel "A Very Special Relationship," in longhand on lined yellow legal paper or dictating dialogue in the den of his Maryland home.

The book is about a vice president a decade in the future who "becomes the dupe of Iranian militants who want to cause an all-out confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union."

Agnew says he will use his personal knowledge of the vice presidency and the Washington scene but that Vice President Porter Newton Canfield of the book is not Spiro Agnew, or any other former vice president.

Canfield is a wealthy, aristocratic Ivy Leaguer who falls in love with the secretary of health, education and welfare — "beautiful, amber-eyed Meredith Lord."

"Writing these love scenes frightens me to death," says Agnew.

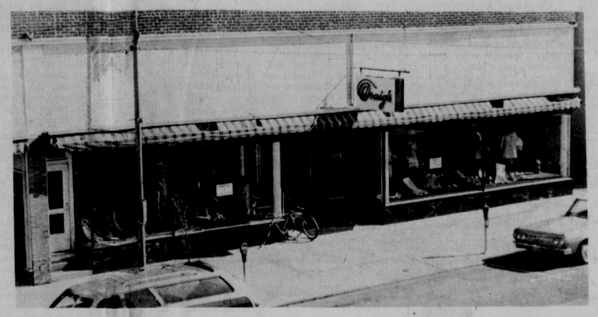

He added, "I have to admit that I won't always be writing from my own experience. I'm not a man of great experience in this area."

Solons push easier pay boosts

By TERESA C. PITTS
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Public officials could receive pay raises faster and easier should voters approve two changes of Ohio's Constitution at the primary polls.

The proposals before the voters are Issues No. 1 and No. 2 on the May 7 ballot, to modify the law prohibiting public officeholders from accepting pay raises granted during their current term.

Passage of the two constitutional amendments would allow all 33 state senators to receive $3,500 pay boosts in January, and would make statewide officeholders with four-year-terms eligible for pay raises granted between now and the end of 1972.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown predicts the two issues, plus a third creating a state board to simplify ballot language, will pass "to beat the band."

Some political observers, however, say overlapping language in the pay raise issues will lead to a court challenge should both be approved.

Unlike last year's heated debate over repeal of the state income tax, this year's constitutional ballot questions have attracted little voter interest.

"I haven't heard about any opposition to any of them," Brown said. "Our office is particularly concerned with Issue No. 3, of course.

"I don't expect you'll hear much grumbling from legislators if the first two pass," he added.

Issue No. 3 organizes a state Ballot Board to write conside, understandable language to explain proposed constitutional changes before voters.

Voter confusion about issues was blamed for last year's failure of five of seven proposed constitutional amendments.

A majority of the voters must decide "Yes" on the issues in order for them to pass.

Issue No. 1 is divided in two. Part one proposes that officials holding the same position in the same district be paid equally. That is, one county commissioner could not receive a higher salary than other county commissioners.

The second section recommends that all members of the General Assembly receive pay increases at the same time, regardless of when their terms end. Under current law, no public officer may accept a pay increase granted by the legislature during his current term.

Passage of Issue No. 1 would make the 15 state senators who aren't running for re-election this year eligible for pay raises that go into effect Jan. 1 for the 18 new or re-elected senators.

Lawmkers have already approved a salary hike for themselves from $14,000 to $17,500 annually effective Jan. 1.

Issue No. 2 would permit increases in compensation of public officials with more than two years remaining in their terms.

Passage of the issue would not affect a ban on giving pay raises to officials have served more than half of their four-year terms.

Because Issue No. 1 deals with legislators and "public officers" and Issue No. 2 mentions "public officers," which can include state senators, some political observers contend the issues conflict, and, if passed, are open to a court challenge.

"Possibly," said a spokesman for the secretary of state. "But we won't really know until they are passed."

Service Notes

On Great Lakes duty

Coast Guard Radioman 3-C Terry L. Hahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey C. Hahn, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, is helping provide assistance to commercial ships during an extension of the Greak Lakes winter shipping season. He serves aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Southwind, which is on its last operational mission for the Coast Guard.

After the spring ice break-up, the cutter will be returned to its homeport here, and then leave for Baltimore the end of April.

Named flight officer

Navy Ensign James W. Libbey, son of Mr. and Mrs. MacArthur W. Libbey, Rt. 4, Washington C.H., was designated a Naval flight officer after graduating from the Airborne Tactical Data Systems Course at the naval air station in Glynco, Ga.

The course was designed to train prospective airborne combat information center officers for flight duty aboard Naval aircraft.

A 1972 graduate of the Ohio State University, Columbus, was a Bachelor of Science degree, he joined the Navy in January 1973.

Completes MP course

U.S. Marine Corps Pvt. Kenneth E. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, has completed the military police course at the U.S. Army training center at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

During the course, Pvt. Smith was trained in civil and military law, traffic control, patrolling, techniques of quelling riots and disturbances, prisoner of war control, communications, care and use of authorized weapons and unarmed defense methods.

STEP INTO FASHION WITH 4-H

With Fayette County having over 300 members enrolled in clothing projects each year, training in this area is wanted by advisers, parents, junior leaders, members and judges. We have a great opportunity coming on FRIDAY, APRIL 26th. A style show will be conducted by Mrs. Norma Deyo, State Clothing Specialist, a person from the State 4-H Office, and members of the State 4-H Fashion Board to explain the new clothing project possibilities. Several projects now are available to boys as well as girls. Most projects now have a knitting option in addition to sewing. Plan now to spend Friday evening, April 26 from 7 to 9 p.m. with us at the Washington Junior High School Auditorium to get answers and ideas for 4-H clothing projects this year.

BEFORE BUYING THAT NEW APPLIANCE

Selecting major appliance is not an easy shopping job. You must think about your family's needs, cost, and even energy use, space, noise levels, and pollution. Compounding the selection problem are the many makes, models, and features of each appliance.

Pre-purchase information is a must when you buy a major appliance. Do some armchair shopping — read the newspaper, magazines, Extension bulletins, mail order catalogs, and consumer research reports. Check at the local library for more information on equipment. You'll find our free, packet on buying major kitchen appliances very helpful too. It's available by calling 335-1150.

Such armchair shopping will give you two good ideas — what's available and what selection points about an appliance are important to you. Armed with this information, you're ready to visit several stores and do some comparison shopping.

The price of a basic appliance is a good deal less than one loaded with features. But these features may be worth the money — if you need to substitute time or energy for money. For example — features that make an appliance easier to use may be a great help to an older or physically handicapped individual.

Selecting an appliance is easier if an emergency doesn't limit your shopping time. Don't wait until the appliance quits to shop for a replacement. The amount of use and the kind of care given an appliance greatly affects its life expectancy. But, these guides may help you estimate how long an appliance will last. Ranges, refrigerators, and freezers have an average life of 15 to 16 years. Water-using equipment, such as washer and dishwashers, last an average of 9 to 11 years.

Safety is a factor that's sometimes overlooked. Manufacturers continually test in the laboratory and on the assembly line for safety and quality. Appliance companies also submit products to independent testing laboratories, such as Underwriters Laboratories. The American Gas Association conducts a national testing program for gas appliances. As you shop, watch for seals and tags, such as UL symbol, which show the appliance has been safety checked.

Remember that you, too, have a responsibility for appliance safety. Learn how to operate the appliance correctly; follow the instructions given in the appliance's use-and-care manual.

As you shop, check service facilities and availability. Be sure you understand any warranties or guarantees. Check wiring, water pressure, or any other utility needed to operate the appliance. Decide what you're going to do with the old appliance. Today's world doesn't need any junked appliances adding to the litter problem.

You'll be happier with your new appliance when you give time and thought to its selection.

Wedding date is July 6

MISS LINDA JAMES

Mr. and Mrs. Fred James, 1219 Washington Ave., announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda, to Eric E. Kipker, son of Louis L. Kipker, of Ada, and the late Mrs. Kipker.

Arts and Letters Society to meet

The seventh meeting of the National Society of Arts and Letters Columbus Chapter, will be a luncheon on the ground floor of the Clintonville Woman's Club, 3951 N. High St., at 1 p.m. Thursday.

Following a brief business meeting, Mrs. William S. Clark, past president, will introduce Mrs. Novice G. Fawcett, who will speak on a trip around the world made by the Fawcetts.

Mrs. Butler class hostess

The Kings Daughters Class of the First Christian Church met in the home of Mrs. Harry Butler for their regular business session.

Mrs. Edythe Parsley, class president, called the meeting to order. Devotions were presented by Mrs. Delores Myers in the theme of "Spiritual Work Shop," closing with the hymn "I Would Be True" and members repeating the Lord's Prayer.

The Lesson Study subject "Night of the Ghost," based on 14th chapter of Matthew was presented by class teacher, Mrs. Naomi Helm, and closed with a prayer hymn. For roll call which followed, each member responded with a special remembered Easter.

The church is raising a missionary fund for Xenia Brotherhood to assist in the rehabilitation resulting from tornado devastation. A contribution to the fund was approved by the class.

Decision of the class was that flowers provided for Easter services should be given to a convalescent home. The president reminded all of the Womens Fellowship meeting for Tuesday.

The president read a poem by Emily Dickinson entitled "If I Can Stop One Heart From Breaking" to close the session. The meeting was adjourned when members said the class benediction.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Mildred Whittington and Mrs. Myers in serving a delicious dessert which included a miniature Easter basket.

Eric Crawford is six years old

Eric Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Crawford, 531 Albin Ave., celebrated his sixth birthday Saturday. Keeping with the Easter season "Pin the Tail on the Bunny" and an Easter egg hunt was enjoyed by Eric and his friends.

Refreshments of cake, ice cream and punch were served to his kindergarten friends Amy Wyatt, Julie Boswell, Jackie Smith, Amy Arnold, Stephanie Hatmacher and Gary Brown. Also present were Carrie Ann Neff, Kevin and Angela Crawford, cousins of Eric, his brother Andy, and Wesley Wyatt. Mrs. Whitlow Wyatt assisted Mrs. Crawford in the hospitalities.

Grades to Grads CCL meets

Mrs. Roger Coe welcomed the Grades to Grads Child conservation League members to her home for the April meeting. Mrs. Robert Warnock, president, conducted the business session and announced that members should make reservations for the May banquet with her by April 25.

The slate of officers announced were: President, Mrs. Dale Ritenour; vice president, Mrs. Claude Keim; treasurer, Mrs. Ralph Hanes; recording secretary, Mrs. John Bobbitt; and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ray Bentley.

Mrs. Ritenour read an article concerning "Abortion," prepared by Michael Vrettos of the Fayette County Department. A discussion followed.

Members gave suggestions for program topics for the year. Mrs. Coe and Mrs. Marvin DeMent served refreshments.

Teacher contract matters top county board's agenda

Contract renewals for more than 50 Miami Trace School District teachers topped the business agenda during Tuesday nights meeting of the Fayette County Board of Education.

Superintendent Guy Foster announced the certified teachers whose contracts were to be renewed for the 1974-75 school year. They are as follows:

Continuing contracts - Dale Creamer, Fred Doyle, Janet Rex and Michael Yambor.

Three-year contract renewals (1974-77) — Charles Andrews, Paul Febo, Fonda Fichthorn, Pat Gall, Wallace Hill, Anne King, Janet McCarty, Carol Rhoads, Rebecca Sollars, Joyce Tudor, Robert Cosgray and Jean Ford.

Two-year contract renewals (1974-76) — Cathy Ambrose, Glenna Bish, Peggy Breakfield, Nancy Campbell, Charlotte Cassio, Harold Cook, Judy Ehlerding, Roger France, Susan Geiszler, Shirley Gilmore, Michael Henry, Richard Hill, Glenn Jacobson, Penny Johnson, David Krupla, Stephanie Krupla, Karen Shook, Sandy Stayrook, Larry Stover, Deborah Taylor, Carol Thomas, Cheryl Tutera, Fred Zechman, and Karen Bernard.

One year contract renewals (1974-75) — Timothy Bailey, Marjorie Blair, Lynda Bryan, Betsy Hamrick, Margaret James, Vicki Leasure, Marjorie Lint, Alma Litton, Gretchen Mayti, William Sowash and Thomas Yates.

THE BOARD explained that, due to law and board policy, the following temporary teachers shall be informed of the termination of their contracts: Susan Bailey, Paul Grim, Nancy Johnson, Lesley Jones, JoAnn Rhoads, Betty Shipley and Terry Sword. It is up to the board to renew the contracts if they choose to do so, in August.

The board also voted to employ three additional teachers. Debora Smith, Miamisburg, was granted a one-year (1974-75) contract with a salary of $7,702; Mary Williams, Rt. 2, was granted a 31-day contract (April 22-June 4, 1974) at a salary of $1,238.63 and Lynn Anthony, 215 Florence St., was granted a 31 half-day contract (April 22-June 4, 1974) at a salary of $555.98.

Mary Williams will replace Joseph Faris at Wayne Elementary School in Good Hope, whose resignation the board honored and the Lynn Anthony will replace Mary Watts at Wilson Elementary School, whose resignation was accepted by the board, effective April 19.

Another resignation accepted by the board was that of Christine Wolford, music teacher for Madison Mills, effective June 5.

Robert Hinchman was granted a leave of absence without pay, due to ill health, for the remainder of this school year and next year, and Larry Stover's request to be relieved of his freshman basketball coaching duties at Miami Trace High School at the end of this school year was granted.

OTHER BUSINESS included: the acceptance of the monthly financial reports and the monthly activity reports; renewal of the septic tank cleaning contract which went to Smith Septic Tank Cleaning Service for two years at $975 per year and the discussion of the sale of old buses and the purchase of new ones.

Assistant superintendent Steve Yambor announced that bids will be accepted May 31 on a minimum of four and a maximum of five, old school buses. The proposed date of sale will be June 11 and the tentative date of delivery will be March 1, 1975.

A problem posed by people living near the Wayne Elementary School baseball diamond in Good Hope was discussed by the board.

The occupants of the nearby houses have complained of baseballs hitting their homes. The board tabled the discussion pending further investigation.

The following persons were granted permission to attend professional meetings: Foster, April 17, Southwest Ohio Superintendents meeting in Wilmington and April 30 vocational school meeting in Wilmington; Ronald Lott, April 26, Title IV meeting in Hillsboro, and May 3-4, state school psychologists meeting at Salt Lake Lodge; Gilbert Jones and Donald Matthews, May 8-11, Ohio Association of Public School Employees meeting in Columbus; Fred Zechman and Doug James April 18-19, football workshop at Penn State University; Margaret Dowler, April 18 college financial aid workshop in Dayton; and Becky Cordes and Martha Fleming, May 6, regional food service workshop in Columbus.

Board president Kenneth Payton presented a vocation school report in which he announced the Ohio Board of Regents will establish the district for the five-county general-technical college. The five counties effected are: Fayette, Clinton, Adams, Brown and Highland. Two campus locations, one at Macon and one at the former Clinton County Air Force Base, have been selected by the regents.

Other business included the board's allocating $250 toward lowering the ceilings of the first and second grade classrooms at Jasper Elementary School.

The project, proposed by Marion Stockwell, president of the Milledgeville Parent-Teachers Organization, in order to conserve heat, will run over $2,000.

The next meeting of the county board will be held at Olive Elementary School at 8 p.m. May 7.

Fire code boner seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio builders' organization official has charged that an "administrative blunder" is responsible for sweeping changes in the state fire code being made without builders being notified.

The two revisions require sprinklers in all buildings over 50 feet high and automatic smoke detection devices in apartments without sprinklers.

Robert Stutz, technical director for the Building Industry Association of Central Ohio, said builders have not had time to become acquainted with the rules, which went into effect Monday.

Stutz said the Ohio Board of Building Standards held hearings on the code provisions in February, then decided in March to make them effective April 15.

"That date has come and passed and the building industry and enforcement agencies have not been given copies of the changes," Stutz charged.

76 schools damaged

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Tornadoes which swept through southwestern Ohio April 3 damaged 76 school buildings in four Ohio counties, federal officials announced Tuesday.

The Federal Disaster Assistance Administration in Dayton estimated it would cost $33.6 million to repair the structures.

The bulk of the damage was at Central State University at Wilberforce where 36 campus buildings received $20 million worth of damage, officials said.

In Xenia, 12 public school buildings suffered $12 million worth of damage, officials said.

Other damage reported by the disaster unit was at Mason School District, Warren County, $115,000; Sayler Park and Millvale Elementary schools, Cincinnati, $100,000; Oak Hills District, Cincinnati, $95,000; St. Brigid, a private elementary school, Xenia, $216,300, and at two private colleges, Wilberforce University, $750,000 and Cedarville College, $200,000.

Scioto grand jury sets special session

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)— The grand jury in Scioto County will meet in special session April 23 to look into the death of a Portsmouth woman, Prosecutor Everett Burton says.

George E. Washington, 21, of Portsmouth, has been charged with aggravated murder in the death of Sherrie Webb Moody, 22.

The woman's body was discovered on a rural road south of here Saturday.

Agency can't find housing applicants

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development field office reported it is having trouble finding tornado victims who requested temporary housing.

A spokesman said all requests have now been processed, but many persons have not followed up their requests.

The government pays free rents for such victims up to a year.

Farm energy chief said on way out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nicholas H. Smith, farm energy chief in the Agriculture Department, will be ousted from his job by May 1, according to government sources.

Smith, whose salary is $33,899 a year, announced his resignation Monday to associates, the sources said. But he told a reporter Tuesday night "no definite decision" had been made about leaving his post.

Smith flatly denied, however, that Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, now on a trip to the Far East, had requested he quit. Butz will return about April 24.

Smith joined USDA a year ago as a political appointee in the department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. He was named to head farm energy surveillance for the agency on June 27 last year.

As recently as March 29, Butz reaffirmed Smith as head of the department's energy operations.

"Mr. Nicholas H. Smith has been designated by the ASCS administrator as director of USDA energy management activities. Liaison with the Federal Energy Office will be through his office," the memorandum signed by Butz said.

None of three sources which said Smith will be ousted was able or willing to pinpoint the reason. However, one said Smith might have ad libbed too much on policy matters during farm energy testimony before congressional committees.

The source said Butz — or perhaps those near him — may have become concerned that Smith was "too busy making policy instead of carrying out the party line" formulated by Nixon farm officials.

Smith has a 1,700-acre crops and dairy farm in Michigan and reportedly may return there to head those operations.

U.S. Tornado Belt

TORNADOES' DEADLY WINDS roar across many parts of the world..... continental plains of North America are their favorite birthplace. Center of maximum frequency changes with season: February over the central Gulf States; March and April, moves east to southeast Atlantic states; May, southern plains; and June, north to northern plains and Great Lakes area as far east as western New York. Reason for drift? Tornadoes are born most often when warm, moist air masses battle with cool, dry air. As the whole area warms up, tornado frequency lessens.

A warning . . . just in case!

The springtime skies might have been ominous rather than inviting as the warning siren atop the Fayette County Courthouse wailed today.

It was only a test — the first step in an effort to provide an alert for Washington C.H. residents and dwellers on nearby farms who might someday be in the path of a killer tornado such as the one which struck Xenia two weeks ago.

It could happen here.

A GLANCE at the map above shows that Fayette County is on the eastern edge of the U.S. tornado belt — the eastern edge of an area where twisters are "occasional" rather than "frequent".

The zone seems to end at the edge of the Southeastern Ohio hills outside Circleville, although tornadoes may drop down anywhere under certain weather conditions.

And it has happened here!

During the late evening of Sept. 8, 1885, a tornado (then called a "cyclone") spiraled into Washington C.H. from the southwest, striking the city about 8 p.m. Within minutes six persons were dead, homes and business buildings were shattered.

There was no weather warning system at that time, and those who first spotted the funnel cloud near Selden on the CCC Highway, southwest of Washington C.H., were unable to alert the residents of Washington C.H.

Historians say that the storm moved into Fayette County from Greene County, of which recently devastated Xenia is the county seat.

THE WASHINGTON C.H. damage estimate after the 1885 tornado struck was "in excess of $500,000". A storm of that intensity today would have destroyed millions of dollars worth of property and probably would have claimed many more lives, since much of the suburban area in the path of the 1885 storm was undeveloped farm land at the time.

The number of injuries in the "Cyclone of 1885" was never accurately estimated, although it was considered providentially small for a storm which traveled along the ground for at least 12 miles.

Pictures of the damage are still on display in a frame on the main floor lobby at the Court House.

Tornadoes form most often on hot, humid days of April, May and June, usually between noon and midnight, when a mass of cool air meets a warm air mass. Usually, although not always, they are preceded by severe thunderstorms, hail and lightning.

Listed in adjoining columns are precautions you should consider if you are warned that a tornado is approaching, or if you see a funnel cloud.

How to protect yourself!

The tornado is the most sudden of all weather disasters — the most powerful storm with the most extreme wind force.

Instant shelter is the only one way to save life; preferably below ground level and away from windows.

The best protection is a storm cellar, or cave, with an air outlet to equalize air pressure.

IN TOWN take shelter in a building; steel-framed or concrete reinforced buildings are safest. Stand against interior walls or in hallways on lowest floors. Avoid tops of buildings; the tornado will often shear off the roof and upper floors. Also, avoid small brick and masonry block buildings since they usually lack reinforcement and may crumple in the wind. Avoid buildings with large area roofs such as gymnasiums, auditoriums and theaters; they may collapse from the air pressure.

AT HOME your basement, usually the side nearest the tornado, is best. A basement with a poured-slab wall is safer than one with a mortared wall since mortared walls collapse more easily when cracked. If you have no basement, head for the nearest neighbor that does. If there is no time, hug an inside wall closest to the center of your house. Closets and bathrooms on the first floors often survive a tornado and may provide protection.

Sturdy furniture, such as a heavy table or piano, offers protection from collapsing roofs or chimenys; curl up underneath to protect your head and eyes. Open windows and doors on the side of the room away from the tornado to lessen the chance of an explosion when air pressure drops as the tornado roars by.

OUTDOORS you best bet is not to panic. A tornado moves in a straight line, almost like a crayon line across a sheet of paper. If the funnel grows larger, it is coming closer to you. If you are walking or driving, try to avoid the tornado by moving away at a right angle. If you cannot escape, lie face down in the nearest ditch, depression or hollow.

AUTOS may outrun a tornado, since the storms usually travel between 25-40 miles per hour; but if it appears you may be trapped, get out of the car and head for the nearest hollow. Tornadoes toss cars, trucks and trailers around like pebbles.

In buildings with many people, power and fuel lines should be turned off and lookout posted to give warning if the tornado approaches.

Tornadoes occur most often on hot, humid days in April, May and June; mostly between noon and midnight. During thunderstorms watch for clouds that are turning rapidly around a central point and form into a vertical mass, almost like a finger; this may be a tornado in the making.

When the "finger" of clouds touches the ground it looks like a funnel and becomes a tornado, a twister. It whirls around at great speed creating winds on the outside and a vacuum on the inside. The longer that funnel touches the ground the more dirt and debris it sucks up; thus it becomes darker in color and more visible in daylight.

At night or in heavy rain or dust clouds when you cannot see the twister you will feel and hear the wind increase in velocity and volume as the tornado approaches; you have two to three minutes of warning when you feel a sudden increase in the strength and sound of the wind.

When that happens, head for cover at once.

Ohio Perspective

Plasma problems worry officials

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fifty cases of infectious hepatitis reportedly stemming from bad blood plasma techniques have Ohio health officials worried.

They are pushing for legislation that will give them control over the state's plasma donor centers.

Rep. Richard L. Wittenberg, D-44 Toledo, introduced the control legislation the Department of Health wants in the House April 3.

"The state health department has encountered problems with blood plasma centers and has given strong support to this bill," said Wittenberg.

Dr. John N. Ackerman, chief of the communicable diseases division, said about 35 cases of serum hepatitis have been reported among donors in the Akron area as a result of faulty techniques and procedures. In some cases the victims were selling blood.

"Along with several other scattered cases they probably total more than 50," said Ackerman.

Ackerman said the state moved in in each instance to advise and recommend corrections in a bid to eliminate dangers. Under the Ohio sanitary code the state has no legal powers to control plasma centers.

Wittenberg's bill would apply only to those plasma centers practicing the relatively new technique of plasmapheresis, a process under which only the plasma is retained and the remaining substances, including red blood cells, are returned to the donor.

Plasmapheresis is more attractive than taking whole blood in one sense—donors may give a pint twice in one week because their blood regenerates faster.

Only a few such centers now operate in Ohio, including two in Columbus, two in Cleveland, one in Akron and one in the Toledo area.

Regular blood banks, Ackerman said, are regulated well by the federal government.

If enacted, Wittenberg's bill would require all commercial plasma centers to keep a record of the donor's dealth, including a doctor's certification a week prior to donation. The doctor would have to certify the donor did not show a positive reaction to serum hepatitis.

Positive reactors would be barred from selling their blood, along with anyone having syphilis or who has been under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

Water project decisions delayed

By DEAN SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio communities will not learn if they will receive federal funding for water improvement projects until mid-May, a spokeswoman for the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency said.

Noreen Wills said Tuesday the final priority list for determining which communities get funded will not be completed until later this month. She said it is hoped the U.S. EPA regional office in Chicago will act on the list within two weeks.

Mrs. Wills said the final list has been delayed because of 500 changes in the original list of 828 projects. The Ohio EPA had hoped to have the list completed by early April.

"We had 500 total changes in the list and that has caused some delay," she said. "About 300 municipalities have asked that their points be recalculated and then 200 communities wanted their projects added to the list.

"We simply can't recalculate that many and revise the list and still get it out on time."

Communities throughout the state have been anxious to see the final list because it will determine if and when they get funding in the next year.

Each water improvement project has been rated and those with the highest points will get the money. Only 60-100 projects of the now 1,058 will receive federal money, Mrs. Wills said.

She said the Ohio EPA will disburse the $173 million in fiscal 1974 according to the final list. When that money runs out, she said, the agency will then begin distributing the $193 million for fiscal 1975.

Despite the delay in revising the list, she said communities in line for the money will not have to wait.

Mrs. Wills said, "We don't anticipate any grant delay for the communities. We have been working closely with them to get their plans ready. So when the approval comes through they can begin."

The priority list has been held up nearly a year.

Last summer, the U.S. EPA rejected as inadequate Ohio's first list of 225 projects. The federal agency asked the state to use additional information in compiling the list and include all possible projects.

After that, the list grew to 858 and then to 1,058 after public hearings last month.

The results of experiments carried out in 1943 have shown that the fastest messages transmitted by the nervous system travel at 265 m.p.h. With advancing age, impulses are carried 15 per cent more slowly.

Charles Chaplin given serenade

CORSIER-SUR-VEVEY, Switzerland (AP) — Silent movie king Charles Chaplin was serenaded by local school children and given four bottles of wine by Corsier's mayor Tuesday on his 85th birthday.

"I am intensely happy to be alive," Chaplin said in an interview.

The comedian spent his birthday with his wife Oona and their three youngest children at Chaplin's 37-acre estate overlooking Lake Geneva.

The gift of wine is a tradition here for honoring octogenarians.

Nixon's nephew gets married

NEW YORK — President Nixon's nephew Donald A. Nixon has married 23-year-old Helene Lipsky of Wantagh, Long Island.

The marriage was confirmed by the bride's mother, Mrs. Boran Lipsky. She said the couple was married two weeks ago in Costa Rica.

Donald is the son of the President's brother, F. Donald Nixon, and is employed as an aide to indicted financier Robert L. Vesco, who has been living as a fugitive in Costa Rica and the Bahamas.

Student sentiment sought at OU

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—A call for a poll Wednesday night of student sentiment has been issued by organizers of a workers' union strike at Ohio University.

Picketing of Nelson Commons cafeteria at OU began Tuesday morning by about 50 student workers. The cafeteria is the university's largest food service facility.

The pickets demanded recognition of their union from the school. The union claims about 200 members from the 1,200 student employes on campus.

Cook named president of WCH Lions Club

The Washington C.H. Lions Club elevated Ralph Cook to the office of president in the annual election held following the regular dinner meeting Tuesday night in the Country Club.

The 79 club members attending also heard Dr. Byers W. Shaw present facts regarding colon and rectal cancer and a project being sponsored in Washington C.H. for detection of the disease.

The club's board of directors, following the regular session, voted to contribute $500 to aid the relief for tornado victims in Xenia. The contributions will be forwarded to the Xenia Lions Club for proper distribution.

Cook, 1229 High St., owner of Cook Home Improvements and a member of Washington C.H. City Council for 13 years, assumes the office of club president after serving the past year as vice president. He succeeds David Looker.

OTHER NEW officers are Richard Coates, first vice president; Jesse Persinger, second vice president; George Naylor, third vice president; Benjamin G. Roby, secretary; William Lucas, assistant secretary; James Polk, treasurer; Harold Thompson, assistant treasurer; Gene Sagar, tail twister, and David Boswell, Lion tamer.

Two new members were also elected to the board of directors. They were Wesley Cox and Larry Lehman.

Dr. Shaw, a Lions Club member, said that the second most common cancer of men and women is cancer of the colon and rectum. He said there are 76,000 new cases a year and 47,000 deaths.

"The cure is no better now than it was 30 years ago and this is because the diagnosis is made too late," Dr. Shaw noted. "If these cases could be diagnosed earlier, the chance for survival would be vastly improved."

He promoted a colon cancer detection clinic which will be held Sunday, April 28, in the Medical Arts Building, Willard Street. The clinic is being sponsored by the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society. Men and women over 40 years of age are urged to attend.

Dr. Shaw showed a film and later fielded questions from the audience. The program was arranged by Persinger.

During the business meeting, it was announced by Coates that the annual cleaning project of Roszmann Field will be held during the April 30 meeting.

Lewis Overturf, of West Jefferson, was a guest with Bart Mahoney.

Annual TB meeting to be held Monday

The annual meeting of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association will be held Monday, April 22 at 6:30 p.m. in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

Mrs. John Summers, executive director of the South Central Ohio Lung Association, will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. George Finley, president of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association, will conduct the business meeting.

(Amended Senate Joint Resolution No. 15)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and proposing to enact section 20a of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to equalize the compensation of public officers and members of the General Assembly.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the primary election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, a proposal to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and a proposal to enact section 20a of Article II, of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, to read as follows:

ARTICLE II

Section 20. The General Assembly, in cases not provided for in this constitution, shall fix by law the term of office and the compensation of all public officers; but no change therein shall affect the compensation of any officer during his existing term, unless the office be abolished; provided, however, that if an officer elected to the same office from the same district on taking office receives a greater compensation, such rate of compensation shall thereupon be payable to each of the other officers holding the same office in that district.

An officer who is appointed to fill a vacancy in an elective office shall not be entitled to receive more compensation than any elected officer holding the same office in the same district is receiving at the time such appointed officer takes office.

Section 31. The members and officers of the General Assembly shall receive a fixed compensation, to be prescribed by law, and no other allowance or perquisites, either in the payment of postage or otherwise; and no change in their compensation shall take effect during the legislative biennium within which it was made.

Section 20a. Notwithstanding Section 20 of Article II of the Constitution of Ohio, any increase in compensation fixed by the General Assembly for any public officer, which, because of its being made during his term of office, does not become payable to such officer until after two years from the date of its enactment, shall nevertheless become effective and payable on and after the effective date of the enactment of such increase in compensation.

SCHEDULE

The secretary of state shall place upon the ballot as separate issues the proposal to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and the proposal to enact sections 20a of Article II, of the Constitution of Ohio, so as to permit the electorate to vote separately on each such proposal.

If a majority of the electors voting on the foregoing proposed amendments, at the primary election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, adopt the same, they shall become part of the Constitution of the State of Ohio and existing sections 20 and 31 of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio shall be repealed.

(Amended House Joint Resolution No. 61)

JOINT RESOLUTION

To amend Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to provide for preparation of the language which appears on the ballot when the General Assembly proposes a constitutional amendment so that it will properly identify the substance of the proposal, to provide procedures for timely challenges to the adoption and submission of such amendments, and to assure information to the voters about such amendments.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at a special election to be held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, a proposal to amend Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE XVI

Section 1. Either branch of the general assembly may propose amendments to this constitution; and, if the same shall be agreed to by three-fifths of the members elected to each house, such proposed amendments shall be entered on the journals, with the yeas and nays, and shall be filed with the secretary of state at least ninety days before the date of the election at which they are to be submitted to the electors, for their approval or rejection. They shall be submitted on a separate ballot without party designation of any kind, at either a special or a general election as the general assembly may prescribe.

The ballot language for such proposed amendments shall be prescribed by a majority of the Ohio ballot board consisting of the secretary of state and four other members, who shall be designated in a manner prescribed by law and not more than two of whom shall be members of the same political party. The ballot language shall properly identify the substance of the proposal to be voted upon. The ballot need not contain the full text nor a condensed text of the proposal. The board shall also prepare an explanation of the proposal, which may include its purpose and effects, and shall certify the ballot language and the explanation to the secretary of state not later than seventy-five days before the election. The ballot language and the explanation shall be available for public inspection in the office of the secretary of state.

The supreme court shall have exclusive, original jurisdiction in all cases challenging the adoption or submission of a proposed constitutional amendment to the electors. No such case challenging the ballot language, the explanation, or the actions or procedures of the general assembly in adopting and submitting a constitutional amendment shall be filed later than sixty-four days before the election. The ballot language shall not be held invalid unless it is such as to mislead, deceive, or defraud the voters.

Unless the general assembly otherwise provides by law for the preparation of arguments for and, if any, against a proposed amendment, the board may prepare such arguments.

Such proposed amendments, the ballot language, the explanations, and the arguments, if any, shall be published once a week for three consecutive weeks preceding such election, in at least one newspaper of general circulation in each county of the state, where a newspaper is published. The general assembly shall provide by law for other dissemination of information in order to inform the electors concerning proposed amendments. An election on a proposed constitutional amendment submitted by the general assembly shall not be enjoined nor invalidated because the explanation, arguments, or other information is faulty in any way. If the majority of the electors voting on the same shall adopt such amendments the same shall become a part of the constitution. When more than one amendment shall be submitted at the same time, they shall be so submitted as to enable the electors to vote on each amendment, separately.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take immediate effect and existing Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed.

INSTANT BANK — The modular frame of the new First National Bank "East Office" arrived in Washington C. H. Tuesday afternoon. The mobile trailer core will soon become First National's 24-hour banking center. The East Office will be located on the site of the present drive-in bank at East and North streets and will be a full-service branch.

Youth hurt in cycle mishap

A motorcycle accident sent a Fayette County youth to Fayette Memorial Hospital Tuesday, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported. City police investigated a minor accident.

Deputies said James J. East, 16, Rt. 4, Washington C. H., sustained injury to his right leg when his motorcycle ran into the rear of a car stopped in traffic on Ohio 41, 30 feet north of Peddicord Road in Union Township. The car was driven by Ronald E. Moore, 16, U.S. 62-S.

East was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by ambulance service where he was admitted. He was listed in satisfactory condition by hospital officials Wednesday.

Sheriff's deputies reported minor damage to the car and moderate damage to the motorcycle.

Slight damage was reported in an accident between cars driven by Joseph C. Stackhouse, 50, of 1228 E. Paint St., and David M. Matson II, 24, of 826 Washington Ave. at 11:03 a.m. Tuesday.

The mishap occurred in a private drive off of Columbus Avenue, near Blackstone Street, police said.

B'burg man hurt in cycle crash

A Bloomingburg man was hospitalized Tuesday following a motorcycle accident at his residence.

Charles W. Sigert, 48, of Bloomingburg, wrecked his motorcycle while riding it in a field behind his home at 4:15 p.m., Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported.

He suffered an injury to his left arm and facial abrasions and is presently listed in satisfactory condition at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Terrorists crazy, plane victim feels

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A young survivor of a 1973 Rome terrorist attack that killed 32 said she is trying to keep from becoming prejudiced.

But the 19-year-old Robyn Haggard, an American who lives with her parents in Saudi Arabia, believes the Palestinian terrorists who blew up her airplane after a gunfight were "crazy."

Miss Haggard just underwent more skin grafts at Holmes Hospital here and will return this weekend to her home.

She was returning home for the Christmas holidays from Knoxville, Tenn., where she was attending high school when the terrorists boarded the plane at Fiumicino Airport. Her cousin, Bonnie Presnell, who later died of burns, was with her.

The plane was delayed and then the pilot told the passengers to lie on the floor because a hijacking was occurring. Earlier, a policeman had been killed in an airport lounge. Minutes later, the girls saw a hijacker board and drop a phosphorus grenade in Robyn's seat.

She was turning away when it exploded, burning her left side, hands and face. She has been in and out of hospitals since.

"Everything went black. It was all smokey," she recalls. "I couldn't breathe, I don't know where Bonnie went. I stood up. I was tripping on my clothes and I ran down the aisle," said the slim brunnette.

Someone opened an emergency door and she and others leap to the wing. More explosions went off inside the plane.

Afterwards, the hijackers flew aboard another plane to Kuwait.

"I try my best not to be prejudiced, but those five were crazy. They came to our plane deliberately to kill us all. We were innocent, and they killed all they wanted to around the airport.

"When they did surrender they gave victory signs" at Kuwait, she said.

I think they were crazy," said the daughter of an oral surgeon for an oil company.

She said her hardest moment recently was flying back to the United States a month ago when her plane landed for a layover at the same Rome airport.

Sunnyside has open house

An open house was held Tuesday night at Sunnyside Elementary School by the school's Parent-Teacher Organization. A total of 75 persons attended.

Sunnyside Elementary School, which opened in 1939, will be closed at the end of the school year by the Washington C.H. Board of Education as a money-saving measure.

Mrs. Ed Warning, PTO president, conducted the program and teachers and the school principal were recognized.

Henry Best, school principal, was presented an attache case and Mrs. Faye Morrow, Mrs. Lucille Davis, Miss Mary Blazer, Mrs. Barbara Eakins, Miss Alexis Wackman and Mrs. Frances Tye, all teachers at the S. Fayette Street facility, were presented charms engraved with the dates of their teaching tenure at the school. Mrs. Warning received a corsage from Best.

All of the elementary classrooms were decorated for the event, and small ribbons with the name Sunnyside School were given to each guest.

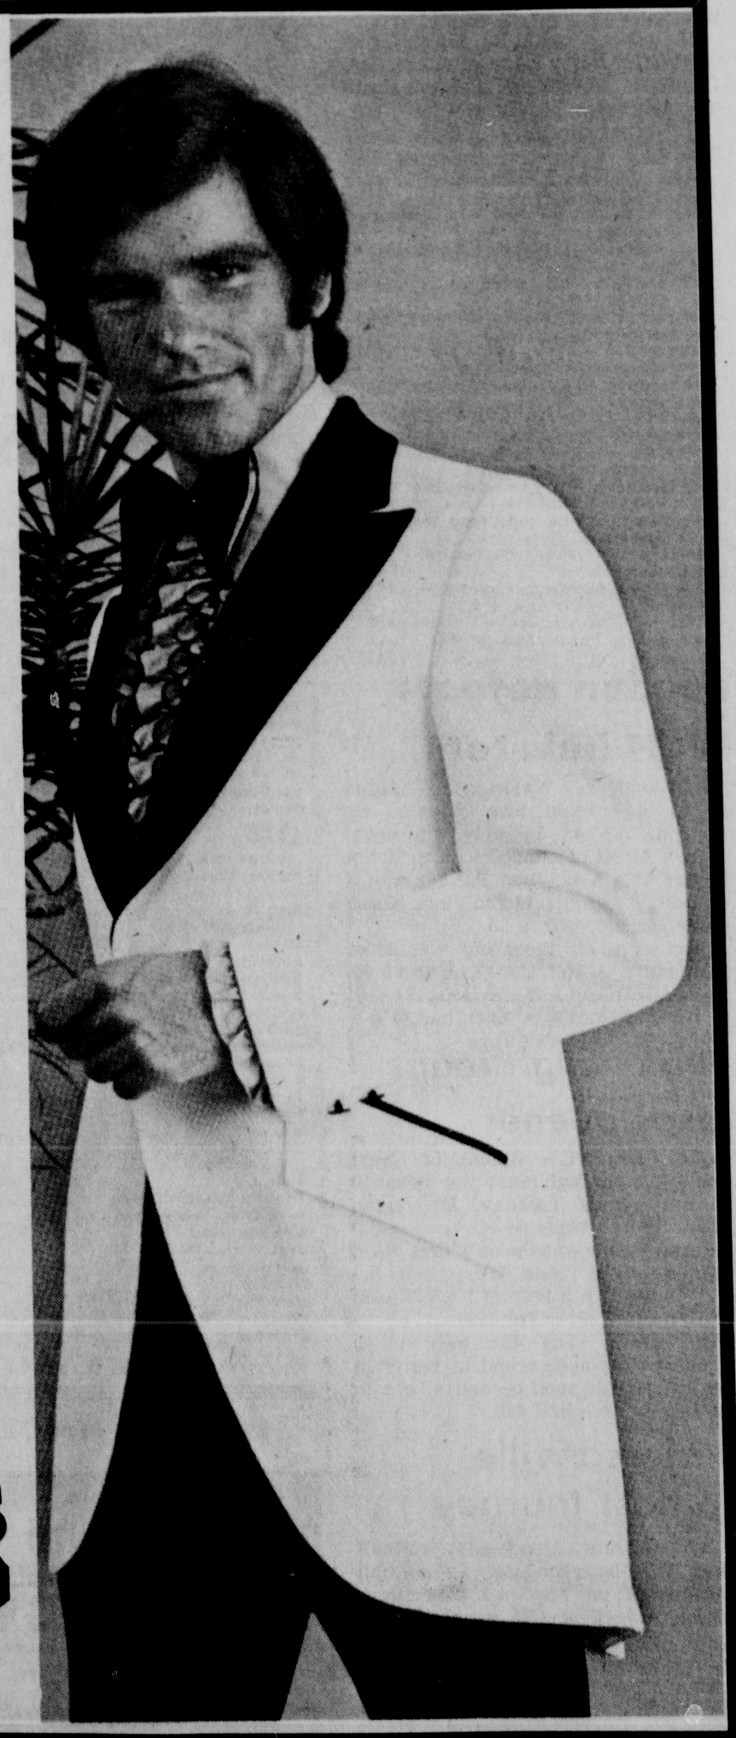

Serving on the social committee for the open house were Mrs. James Richards and Mrs. Charles Harris.

Blow 3-1 lead in final inning

Dodgers rout Reds, 5-3

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Los Angeles pitcher Andy Messersmith says the Dodgers haven't forgotten the team's 1973 collapse and the disastrous string of late-season defeats to the Cincinnati Reds.

"This win has to help us. It's what the Reds did to us last year...come from behind all the time. We remembered it," said Messersmith, who homered the Dodgers to a 5-3 victory in the 11th inning Tuesday night.

The triumph came after it appeared the Reds were on their way to winning their eighth game in their last nine outings against the Dodgers.

"You shouldn't lose games like this," said Reds' Manager George "Sparky" Anderson.

The Dodgers rallied from a 3-1 deficit on Jim Wynn's solo homer and a run-scoring single by Willie Crawford.

Relief ace Jim Brewer, 1-0, then handcuffed the Reds with three hitless innings. It was Brewer's first duty in nine days.

"I don't have to pitch every day," said Brewer. "Off two weeks and I will still be sharp as long as I throw on the sidelines."

The Reds tagged Messersmith for a run in the second inning on Dave Concepcion's runscoring double. In the third inning, Messersmith gave up walks to starter Clay Kirby and Pete Rose and a single to Joe Morgan. Danny Driessen then blasted a two-run double.

Kirby checked the Dodgers on three hits for seven innings before leaving with a minor muscle pull in his back.

In the 11th, Rick Auerbach opened the rally with a single and was sacrified to second by Willie Crawford. Loser Fred Norman walked Joe Ferguson and Steve Garvey loaded the bags with a single.

Bill Russell then hit a smash to left field that was missed by the diving Pete Rose and two runs were scored.

"Usually," said Russell, "when I hit balls like that they're caught. I concentrate more with men on base." He had 56 runs batted in last year hitting eighth in the lineup.

"It was close," said Rose. "I missed it by about six inches. Even if I had caught it, a run would have scored."

"We're fortunate to have a guy like Auerbach to back up Russell and be able to play third and second too," smiled Dodger Manager Walter Alston.

Manager Anderson said he hopes for a split in the two-game series. He sends Roger Nelson, 0-1, against Al Downing, 0-2 tonight.

"We've got to stop Los Angeles from getting too far out front," he said. "You know they were ahead by 11 games once last year before they faded and we caught them.

"We want to be out front or within a few games by All Star time."

The Dodgers are two full games out front now with an 8-3 season record. Cincinnati is 4-5.

East Clinton raps Blue Lions, 10-5

Washington C.H. Blue Lion varsity baseball squad was stung Monday evening by the East Clinton Astros at East Clinton by a score of 10-5. East Clinton led the Lions 7-0 after the first three innings. The loss sends the Lions' season mark to 1-3 while their SCOL record remains 1-1.

The Astros started early and never seemed to let up. A triple, two singles, and two walks quickly netted their first inning's three runs. In a repeat of the first, a double, two singles, a walk, and two errors gained three second frame runs and the Astros led quickly 6-0.

The Astros struck again in the third on a single, a walk, and alert base running. The result was an insurmountable 7-0 lead. The Lions finally go rolling in the fourth on a walk to Herb Bonner, a single by Sam Beedy and two throwing errors by East Clinton. The Astros did not let up and scored another run in the bottom of the fourth on a single, a walk and an error to make the score 8-2.

The Lions scored their final three runs in the sixth on a walk to Craig Shaffer, a double by Alan Coppock, a walk to Duke Willis and two fielders choices. The Astros picked their final two runs in the bottom of the sixth on four singles.

The winner was Jan Rittenhouse for the Astros, who worked five innings and gave up four hits and no earned runs. The loser was Larry Dumford, who in his two innings, gave up six hits and six runs, only three of which were earned. The bright spots for the Lions were the relief pitching by Greg McCune and the hitting of Alan Coppock who went three-for-four.

Lions' jayvees best Panthers

Behind the hitting and pitching of Mark Lamberson, Washington C.H. reserve team easily handed the reserves from Miami Trace a 10-3 setback.

Lamberson allowed just three hits to the Panthers and none of the runs he gave up were earned. In his seven innings of pitching, Lamberson struck out 10 and walked five.

Lamberson's double in the second inning brought the Lions' first two runs across the plate. Lamberson's double and Doug Phillips' triple were the only extra base hits for the Lions in their nine hit attack.

The Panthers received a triple from the bat of Mark Spears.

Pantherettes extend streak

Miami Trace girls' softball squad ran its perfect record to three games with a 7-2 win over Springfield Southeastern, Tuesday.

Debbie Morarity and Pam Matson swung the big bats for the Pantherettes. Morarity tripled with the bases loaded in the third inning to give Miami Trace a 3-0 lead. Matson's double scored two more runners in the seventh.

Thursday, Miami Trace and Washington Senior High square-off on the Lions' field.

NEW YORK (AP) — Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn gambled and won.

New York Coach Red Holzman took a chance and lost.

And because of those two decisions, the Celtics beat the Knicks 111-99 Tuesday night and took a commanding 2-0 lead in their National Basketball Association Eastern Conference best-of-seven final series, which continues in Boston Friday night.

In the only other pro basketball action Tuesday night the Milwaukee Bucks whipped the Chicago Bulls 101-85 in game one of the NBA Western Conference finals.

The moves by Heinsohn and Holzman both came in the decisive third period, when the Celtics turned a 60-53 halftime deficit into an 86-74 lead, outscoring New York 33-14.

Heinsohn took his calculated risk with 3:10 remaining in the quarter when his superstar and captain, John Havlicek, incurred his fifth personal foul. The Celtics, spurred by a 19-4 run early in the period, including 10 consecutive points, were leading 78-72 when Havlicek charged into Dean Meminger for his fifth foul.

But instead of taking him out and having him available for the usually vital fourth quarter, Heinsohn left him in the game.

"I kept him in because that's where the game was going to be won or lost," explained Heinsohn. "If I take him out, it's like he committed his sixth personal."

The decision paid off. Havlicek, who had fired in a remarkable 19 points in the first period—only three short of the NBA playoff record of 22—hitting his last seven shots for Boston's final 14 points of the quarter, didn't draw another foul. He played the rest of the way and wound up as the game's high scorer with 27 points.

Tigers streak past Panther thinclads

WILMINGTON — Miami Trace could only manage to win five events, as the Panthers bowed to Wilmington by the score of 71-47 in track, Tuesday evening.

Ron Warnock was the only double winner for the Panthers. Warnock won the discus with a heave of 122'8" and the shot with a put of 477'6".

The other winners for Miami Trace were Ernie Perry in the two mile, Gary Combs in the 880 and Kurt Neff in the high hurdles.

Hillsboro will visit the Panthers next Tuesday.

Teays Valley wipes out Miami Trace margin

Miami Trace's one run lead was not enough, as Teays Valley bombed relief pitcher Kevin Dunn for six runs in the final two innings to pull out a 8-3 victory.

Sophomore Greg Cobb gave the Panthers a 3-0 lead in the second inning. Cobb tripled with the bases loaded and wound up with four hits in four trips to the plate during the day.

The Vikings reached starter Bob Phillips for two runs in the top of the fifth. Jim Althaus reached base on an error and Greg Lambert doubled. Hal Southers' single brought both runners home.

Dunn relieved Phillips in the sixth and was greeted with a four-run uprising. Singles by Jim Stuthard, Terry Glitt and Ron McPherson quickly loaded the bases. McPherson was picked-off, but Althaus walked to put three men on again. Lambert followed with a triple, scoring all three runners, and he later scored on a wild pitch.

Two more runs were added to the Vikings tally in the seventh when Bill Williams came through with a triple, while Glitt and McPherson were on base.

Miami Trace is now 2-4 for the season. The Panthers travel to Madison Plains this evening.

Lions win first against Shermans

By LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Winning nine events and sweeping the top three places in three events, Washington Senior High School captured its first victory of the season with a dual meet upset of Class A Unioto, the newest entry to the South Central Ohio League.

The Blue Lions out scored the Shermans 74-53. However, the victory margin was quite deceiving, as the Tanks lost their top sprinter, Randy Sprouse, at the finish of the 100 yard dash.

Sprouse pulled a hamstring in his right leg, forcing him to be scratched from the 220, 880 relay and his final leap in the long jump. Sprouse had just won the 100 when his leg gave out on him. With Sprouse gone, the Shermans had to reshuffle team members in several events.

Washington picked up a total of 27 points on the Shermans in three field events, the Achilles' heel of this year's Unioto tracksters. The Lions shut out the Shermans in the discus, pole vault and high jump. Unioto swept the top three spots in the shot put, as Lions' strongman John Sanderson fouled on all three attempts.

Chuck Wilson was the only individual double event winner for the Lions. Wilson took first in the long jump with a leap of 18'9½" and first in the high jump, as he cleared 5-4". Wilson was also a member of the winning 880 relay team.

Final Team Totals — 1. Washington (w) 74, 2. Unioto (u) 53.

New voting precincts create boundary changes

Two new voting precincts, one in Washington C.H. and the other in Union Township, will be used for the first time since being created in early January when Fayette County residents go to the polls for the May primary election.

The new precincts are 3-E in the city's Third Ward and Union North which becomes the fourth voting precinct in Union Township.

Boundaries of four precincts in two of the city's wards are affected by the creation of the new 3-E precinct, and the creation of the Union North precinct changed the boundaries of the Union East, Union South and Union West precincts.

The new 3-E precinct affects the boundaries of precincts 3-B and 3-D in Washington C.H.'s Third Ward and precincts 2-C and 2-D in the city's Second Ward. The boundaries of precincts 2-A, 2-E, 3-A and 3-C are not changed.

Polling places have been established by the Fayette County Board of Elections for voters in the two new precincts. Voters in 3-E will cast their ballots at BelleAire Elementary School, and residents of the new Union North precinct will vote at Eber Junior High School.

Here are the boundaries of the new precincts and those old precincts affected by the creation of the new ones:

PRECINCT3-E
(New precinct)

Beginning at the DT&I Railroad crossing on Circle Avenue, west to High Street, the east side of High Street to Comfort Lane and the north side of Comfort Lane to the corporation line to the DT&I Railroad and north along the DT&I Railroad to Circle Avenue.

PRECINCT3-B

Bounded on the north by the south side of Court Street and Leesburg Avenue, on the west by the Washington C.H. corporation line, on the south by the corporation line and north side of W. Elm Street to High Street to Circle Avenue and the DT&I Railroad to Court Street.

PRECINCT3-D

Bounded on the north by the Washington C.H. corporation line and south side of W. Elm Street to High Street, on the west and on the south by the coporation line. Bounded on the east by the west side of High Street to Comfort Lane and and the south side of Comfort Lane from High Street to the coporation line.

UNION NORTH
(New precinct)

Starting at Ohio 41 and Paint Creek following the township line east to the B&O Railroad (Newark Division); following the railroad south to the Washington C.H. corporation line; following the corporation line west to the intersection of the B&O Railroad (Toledo Division) and the Washington C.H. corporation line; following the railroad north to the township line and the township line east to the starting point.

UNION EAST

Starting at the township line and the B&O Railroad (Newark Division) following the township line in a southerly direction to the B&O Railroad (Toledo Division); following the B&O Railroad west to the Washington C. H. corporation line north to the B&O Railroad (Newark Division), following the railroad north to the starting point.

UNION SOUTH

Starting at the B&O Railroad (Toledo Division), township line intersection, following the township line south and west to Sugar Creek, U.S. 62 intersection; following the east side of U.S. 62 to the Washington C. H. corporation line to the B&O Railroad (Toledo Division) and along the railroad to the starting point.

UNION WEST

Starting at the intersection of Sugar Creek and U.S. 62-S, following the township line north and east to the B&O Railroad (Toledo Division); following the railroad southeast to the Washington C. H. corporation line to U.S. 62-S; following the west side of U.S. 62 south to the starting point.

Mrs. Mary Jean Jennings, elections director, said there are two new polling places in the county this year.

Washington C. H. residents, who formerly voted at 509 Washington Ave., will now cast their ballots at the Washington Lumber Co., 319 Broadway.

County voters residing in the Union East precinct will now vote at Anders Greenhouse, CCC Highway-E. Those voters in the Union East precinct formerly voted at Eber Junior High School.

Here is a list of the 44 city and county polling places:

Kiwanis Teen Talent Show to present 18 acts

PIANO AUDITION — Ann K. Black, a Washington Senior High School student, auditions on the piano prior to the seventh annual Teen Talent Show, sponsored by the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club. The show will be held at 8 p.m. Friday.

LISA MORGAN

Guitar soloist

TAP DANCE ROUTINE — Cynthia Morrow, Loree Johnson and Christy Tarbutton audition their tap dance routine at an audition held by the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club. The tap dance routine will be among 18 acts presented by the annual Teen Talent production Friday night.

Eighteen acts, involving 43 Washington Senior and Miami Trace high school students, have been booked for the seventh annual Teen Talent Show Friday night.

The Teen Talent Show, which will be staged at 8 p.m. in the Washington Junior High School auditorium, is sponsored by the Washington C. H. Kiwanis Club.

Kiwanians reviewed 27 acts during auditions held in the Junior High School auditorium, but the performance has been narrowed down to 18 acts to keep the show within a two-hour limit.

The 43 students will be competing for a first place cash award of $150; second place of $100; third place of $50 and fourth place of $25. The remainder of the proceeds raised by the Kiwanis Club through admissions will be forwarded to scholarship funds at Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools.

ALTHOUGH all Kiwanis Club members are involved in the production in some capacity, three non-members will be assuming the key roles.

Donald Riber, of Washington C. H., is serving as the show's director and Mrs. Cinda Stinson, vocal music director at Miami Trace High School, is the assistant director. Jim Pidcock, local sales manager at WTVN Radio in Columbus, is again the master of ceremonies.

Musical performances, both individual and ensembles, will be featured in the show.

Music acts booked are: Tim O'Flynn; the group of Brian and Lisa Stritenberger and Carlton West; Mark Forsythe; Brian Stritenberger and Carlton West; Doug Joseph; Donnie Pepper; the eight-member group of Greg Sanderson, Gloria Bolender, Jana Bolender, Marlin Milstead, Mary Lee Warning, Kim Riley, Marilyn Creamer and Jeff Fannin; Dawn Schlichter; the group of Allen Fennig, Julie Frost, Belinda Bonner, Gretchen Krieger, Gayle Jenkins, David Foster and Jeff Hux, and Kathy Edwards.

Piano solos will be presented by Cassandra Delay and Ann K. Black, while Dean Shonkwiler will offer a comedy routine.

A tap dance routine will be presented by Loree Johnson, Cynthia Morrow and Christy Tarbutton, and solo guitar arrangements will be presented by Lisa Morgan and Charles McKinney.

The eight-member JNROTC pep band will perform along with a four-member rock band. Members of the JNROTC band are Brent Thompson, Tim Dove, Cindy Van Meter, Paul Dowler, Mike Hughes, Russell Coldiron, Tom Smith and Leonard Williamson.

Performers in the rock band are Leonard Bick, Randy Bock, Dean Shonkwiler and Bret Shaw.

'American Humor' topic of Rotary Club speaker

A unique, but important American characteristic was detailed in a light vein for members of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club during the regular weekly noon luncheon Tuesday in the Country Club.

Eugene Buttles, general manager of the PPG Industries plant at Delaware, told Rotarians that a unique but imporant American characteristic is the tremendous sense of humor most Americans possess.

"Humor is the sandpaper to smooth over the rough edges of our life," said Buttles who had an effective presentation with a sober approach.

Buttles, president-elect of the Delaware Rotary Club, fired a number of humorous military, sports, ethnic, religious and political stories at the Rotary Club members.

He explained that even in the worst of times, Americans can still laugh at themselves. He cited a typical example in Xenia following the recent tornado. He said a hand-painted sign in front of one of the many demolished houses in the community said "God Bless This Mess."

James Hanawalt was the program chairman.

DURING the business meeting, conducted by club Vice President Paul Crosby, Dr. Joseph Herbert urged Rotarians to attend a colon cancer detection clinic which will be held Sunday, April 28, at the Medical Arts Building on Willard Street. The clinic, which is free of charge, is being sponsored by the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society.

Rotarians heard a report from Joe Peters, who is heading the club's Xenia relief fund committee. Peters said to date 61 club members have contributed $1,545 for Xenia residents. The committee was formed only a week ago.

Student guests were John Mayer, of MTHS, and Bob Wallace, of WSHS. John Ewart was a guest with Ron Ratliff.

Visiting Rotarians were Earl Hall and Darrell French, both of Wilmington, Jerry Ardrey of London, Al Fulford, of Bexley, Ed Jones, of Hong Kong, and Dave Kohli, Art Dick and Ottie Hockman, all of Mount Sterling.

Herbert Philbrick leads quiet life

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Herbert A. Philbrick, the counterspy famous for leading "Three Lives," is spending his fourth life in this quiet Washington suburb.

"Who am I today?" asks the 59-year-old Philbrick, then answers, "Just an ordinary citizen."

It is just 25 years since Philbrick made a surprise court appearance in Boston and testified against 11 alleged Communists conspirators. All were convicted and spent five years in jail, although the high court later threw out the Smith Act, under which they were convicted. The court ruled that an overt act of conspiracy was needed, not just talk.

And the public became aware of Philbrick's three lives as citizen, Communist, and FBI counterspy.

"It was like a thunderbolt in the courtroom when I walked in, since four of the 11 knew me personally," Philbrick recalled in an interview. And the public became aware of Philbrick's three lives as citizen, Communist and FBI counterspy.

But the furor seems far removed from the brick colonial house where Philbrick now lives with his 31-year-old second wife, Shirley.

"I'm just like everybody else," he said with a grin. And he looks the part. He now runs a small weekly newsletter and printing shop.

Cashing in on the Philbrick name is not his style. In fact, he says he finds the name can be a hindrance.

He says when he talks with people on Capitol Hill to get material for his newsletter, they often ask if he is related to the famous Philbrick.

"I always say, 'Yes, I'm related,' without explaining any more," he said. "Otherwise you get into a two-hour discussion about how it was back then. I'd never get any work done."

HERBERT PHILBRICK

So his phone is unlisted, his business cards carry just his company's name, and even plane tickets are bought under an alias.

Eventually, he says, the family will move back to New England.

That's where he spent nine years gathering evidence on "youth councils" and other Communist-front groups.

"Communism is much stronger today as part of the whole world movement," he says. "It's a religion. Like good Christians figure they're going to heaven, every good Marxist-Leninist figures he's going to win."

A French researcher found that great vintages in Burgundy wines follow maximum solar activity.

Liza Minelli ill with bout of flu

STATELINE, Nev. (AP) — Liza Minnelli, the Academy Award winning singer-actress, is recuperating here after collapsing just before a scheduled night club appearance on Monday.

A spokesman said she was believed to be suffering from the effects of the flu and had an upset stomach.

Abbie Hoffman named in warrant

NEW YORK (AP) — Abbie Hoffman, a radical youth leader in the 1960s, has failed to appear in court to face a narcotics charge and a warrant for his arrest has been issued.

State Supreme Court Justice Mary Johnson signed a bench warrant Tuesday after Hoffman's attorney was unable to produce his client. Prosecutors said Hoffman was last seen here Feb. 5 when he taped a television show.

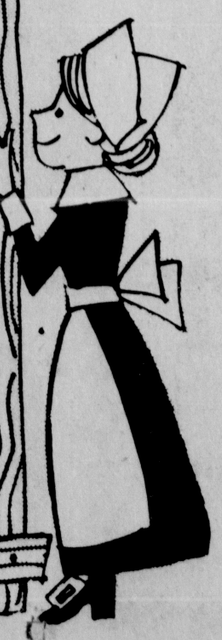

Hoffman faces a 15-year to life prison term if convicted on charges of selling three pounds of cocaine for $36,000 to an undercover agent last Aug. 29. He had been free on bond of $10,000.

Expect shortages at lumber yard

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The Saturday morning wake-up-and-build-something set may be disappointed. They'll be motivated to brandish their saws. They may have the time and inclination for a do-it-yourself job, but the local lumber yard may be unable to accommodate their needs for materials.

They may be in the same bind as local builders and carpenters who are finding lumber yard cupboards are often bare any day of the week. In fact, materials are so scarce and prices fluctuating so rapidly that Connecticut workmen can give estimates that are good for only two days.

"An example of price change is a job I planned to do in my own house," said builder Bob Alling of Bethal. "I wanted some paneling and it went up from $9.75 a sheet to $14.75 while I was thinking about it over a weekend. . ."

ON ORDER it may take a month or six weeks to get some materials, carpenters insist. But another time they can pick it up right away.

"Part of the trouble is that yards don't want to keep too much expensive stock on hand. They must keep it moving, so you get what they are making available," said Bob Bass of Georgetown.

Sometimes a supplier will tell builders something is ordered but the price he has quoted will hold for only two weeks. It holds up making estimates and even completing jobs.

If asphalt shingles are ordered it might take six weeks, one builder insists. Right now there is a scarcity of V-joint clear pine that is used in wainscoting and the like. Substituting, two builders "managed to get a few pieces of No. 2 pine" for one little job.

SELECT WOOD is just about out of the question right now in their area, they say, although cheaper woods — hem firm and the like — are available.

In commenting on the shortage of materials, one large lumber yard spokesman explained:

"It is no longer a buyer's market. Recently we couldn't get sheet rock or insulation of any kind. And during the winter months we couldn't get anything related to fireplaces — grates, andirons, free standing fireplaces.

"Select stock, clear pines and clear redwoods are hard to get. The uncertainty of the market is keeping us from stocking large quantities of materials. We'd rather let wholesalers stock it at their warehouses even though we must wait two or more weeks to get orders filled."

ANOTHER YARD predicts that roofing materials will be in short supply because roofing is made from crude oil "and a lot of pitch is required." Prices have been climbing for some time, that spokesman pointed out, adding:

"I just got in a lot of asphalt shingles. I waited two days to place an order and meanwhile the price went up 10 and one-half per cent."

The supplier told them "the increase in goods is not a labor factor, that rise will come later."

As a long-time source for do-it-yourselfers, the yard spokesman predicts "there won't be much do-it-yourselfing" this season. Things can only get worse, he insists.

Another lumber yard has been having "serious troubles for more than a year."

"I've had lots of problems trying to get insulation, and I can't get polyethylenes which are used with concrete for moisture barriers.

"I can't pinpoint the reasons why I am not getting certain things. There seems to be a different excuse for the shortage of each thing," he explained.

FORTUNATELY, people seem to understand the predicament, the builders point out.

In addition to price increases in materials and the delays, however, a lot of gas is used making estimates on jobs, picking up lumber in different towns and so on.

Such cost factors are reflected in job estimates and many men in the building trades are at leisure.

As for a do-it-yourselfer, "His best bet is to anticipate what he might want to do and order the materials now.

He might even be lucky enough to find the thing he needs on hand. We can't predict the market from day to day," said a lumber yard man.

No Sweat Savings.

Sometimes the hardest work of all is trying to save a few extra dollars. Those everyday necessities just seem to eat up your paycheck until there's nothing left to tuck away for the future.

But there is an easy way to build a nest egg. The Payroll Savings Plan. Just sign up where you work, and any amount you specify will be set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. It's so simple, you almost forget your money's there working for you. And, pretty soon, you'll be surprised at how your savings have grown.

The Payroll Savings Plan. Takes some of the perspiration out of planning ahead.

CRAFTY CRAFTSMEN

Safety and a community project were the main topics of discussion at the regular meeting of the Crafty Craftsmen Club. Robert Redman gave a report about home safety, then members discussed safety around their homes and barns and suggested checking for some hazards such as bare wires, poor outlets, overloaded circuits, storages places of flammable liquids and poisons within easy reach of children.

The club has selected a study of Indian Creek as their community project and they will determine the watershed area, the flood areas, study the rainfall, and the safety of the drinking water in the area.

To start members thinking about the project, adviser Eddie Rea asked them water requirements of corn, wheat, tomato and potato plants. Also he asked them how much water each thought a cow, sheep and horse would drink in a day.

The next meeting will be April 15 at Eric Vanzant's home.

Nixon designated May 12 as Mothers Day and wrote:

"...Mothers are today, as never before, moving into highly skilled jobs and careers. Barriers against equal opportunity for women have been disappearing rapidly, but we must remain diligent in our efforts to remove them."

The bidding:

Opening lead - queen of spades.

Some hands stand or fall on one key decision, and declarer is best advised in such cases to delay that decision until the last possible moment.

South failed to do so here when he impetuously went down in an ice-cold grand slam.

West led the queen of spades and it was apparent to declarer that the outcome would hinge on how he fared in hearts.

Having learned that with nine cards of a suit, missing four to the queen, it was generally better to play for the drop of the queen rather than the finesse, South won the spade lead and all too hastily cashed the A-K of hearts to go down one. He lost a spade trick at the end.

Declarer was extremely remiss when he plunged headlong into tackling the hearts in this fashion. With twelve sure tricks in sight — two spades, two hearts, four diamonds and four clubs — there was no need to make the crucial decision in hearts so early in the play.

Upon winning the spade lead with the king, he should have played a heart to the ace and cashed four clubs and the A-K-Q of diamonds to produce this position:

North

♥ Q 7	♦ 9

South
♠ A 9

The lead of the jack of diamonds at this point would have destroyed West. Whatever he discarded, South would automatically score the rest of the tricks. Guessing whether to finesse the heart would not have entered the picture at all.

Write Down Instructions

Almost invariably I leave my doctor's office having forgotten to ask the questions my husband and I think are important.

I then hate to bother my doctor and remain in a state of confusion.

Mrs. J. D., Maine

Dear Mrs. D.:

Many patients leave the doctor's office and later think of all the questions they should have asked.

It is reasonable to assume that the level of anxiety is high and the general tension of being in a doctor's office is responsible for such an interruption of communication between the patient and the doctor.

Some patients seem to be filled with guilt for "taking up too much of the doctor's time." This is false reasoning. Unless the patient's questions are completely answered, both the patient and the doctor are done an injustice.

Unless the patient thoroughly understands his condition and the nature of the treatment, the chances are great that any regimen will not be carefully followed.

Many patients sensibly jot down their complaints, symptoms and questions so that they do not forget them when they give the history of their illness to their doctor.

Similarly, patients should listen to the doctor's instructions and make notes to firmly fix the doctor's instructions in their minds.

Unless this is done the doctor's message, when relayed to another member of the family, can become distorted, and misinformation and confusion inevitably result.

* * *

A girl in our office came down with hepatitis. My doctor did not suggest an injection of gamma globulin. Other girls in the office got it.

No one else caught hepatitis. We want to know whose doctor was right.

Miss G. G., N.Y.

Dear Miss G.:

Your letter is an interesting one and highlights a source of confusion that should be clarified.

A doctor's decision to use gamma globulin is based on his total evaluation of the circumstances. The intimacy of the contact with a sick person dictates the need for such protection.

Many people who may have had no direct contact with the infected person still become highly anxious and almost demand from their doctors the security of an injection.

Others, like yourself, give a calmer picture of the situation and so the doctor decides there is no need for an injection of gamma globulin.

No one caught the hepatitis. Think about that.

Most observers agree that during the next 10 years or so, American cities will see increasing electrical brownouts. These are voltage reductions that cause electric motors to labor and burn out, TV pictures to shrink and lights to dim.

The Union Jack was Canada's official flag from 1763 to 1965.

You can plan your future to the dime. Simply sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan. An amount you specify will be automatically set aside each payday to buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

With Bonds what you save is what you get. Plus interest. Nothing's more secure and dependable.

Ask your payroll people to get you started right away. You'll be richer later. And feel good. And warm. And secure.

Domenico said that all members in good standing will be receiving ballots which were mailed Wednesday, along with the April newsletter and a 1974-75 program of work survey. To be counted, ballots must be returned to the Chamber of Commerce office no later than Wednesday, May 1.

The five new board members elected will be replacing Leroy Barton, Washington Savings Bank; Jim Hanawalt, Armco Steel; David Looker, First National Bank; William Pool, of the William Pool Insurance Agency, and Sam Marting, of Marting Manufacturing Co., all of whom are completing their terms on the board.

This year's election committee is headed by Jerry Sheppard. Otis Hess and George Winkle are assisting Sheppard.

Two thefts investigated

A centrifugal pump stolen from the Fayette County Farm Bureau and a stolen bicycle were reported by law enforcement agencies overnight.

Employes at the Elm Street branch of the Fayette County Farm Bureau discovered a liquid fertilizer pump missing Tuesday.

City police determined that the theft took place between noon Saturday and 9 a.m. Monday. The pump was valued at $150.

A girls' red, white and blue Schwinn bicycle was stolen from the front yard of the Alvin Johnson residence, Madison Mills. Sheriff's deputies are investigating the theft.

THEY RECEIVED THEIR BREAK TODAY! — Although it is not likely to receive national acclaim, the McDonald's break in Washington C. H. Wednesday morning is significant to local residents. Groundbreaking ceremonies near the Washington Square Shopping Center preceded construction of a 100-seat McDonald's Restaurant. Ron Fewster, center, and John Stiving, at right, the owners, said the facility should be open in less than four months and will employ more than 50 area residents. Rob Munn, left, will be the restaurant manager. All three are from Chillicothe, where they currently operate a McDonald's franchise.

SIX INJURED — Six persons were injured in this accident at the intersection of the CCC-Highway-W and Jamison Road at 11:13 a.m. Wednesday. Cars driven by Linda Pence, 22, Sabina, and Orville Hawkins, 59, Snow Hill Road, were involved. At press time all of those involved were at Fayette Memorial Hospital. Injured passengers all from Sabina, riding in the Pence vehicle were Della Pence, 47, broken knee cap, cuts and bruises; Denny Pence, 3, head injury; Jerome Pence, 2, no apparent injury and under observation and Robbie Pence, 4, no apparent injury, under observation. The extent of the drivers injuries was not immediately known. Sheriff Sgt. Bill Crooks said that the Hawkins vehicle, headed north on Jamison Road, pulled into the path of the Pence vehicle which was traveling northeast on the CCC-Highway. The investigation is continuing.

Jaworski demand for more tapes could bring fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sweeping new prosecution demand for President Nixon's Watergate tapes could mean another confrontation between the White House and the special Watergate prosecutor.

There was no immediate comment from the White House on how it will respond to Tuesday's bid by special prosecutor Leon Jaworski for court permission to issue a subpoena for 63 conversations.

Jaworski's predecessor, Archibald Cox, went to court last summer and won backing from district and appeals courts for a subpoena issued on behalf of the grand jury. Jaworski also subpoenaed the White House last March for materials believed to relate to the barter of ambassadorships and got substantially what he requested.

Jaworski asked U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica to make the subpoena returnable at 10 a.m. April 23. That would be two days before a subpoena issued for the House Judiciary Committee for material it wants for its impeachment investigation.

The special prosecutor said he needs the tapes and supporting documents to prepare for the Watergate cover-up trial of H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, John N. Mitchell and four others scheduled to begin in Sirica's court Sept. 9.

His request to the court and the Judiciary Committee's subpoena for 42 conversations differ in time and scope although 23 of the conversations are duplicated.

Jaworski concentrated on talks Nixon had with Haldeman and Ehrlichman, formerly the President's principal aides, and asked for a few that included Charles W. Colson and John W. Dean III.

The Judiciary Committee subpoena also asks for Haldeman-Ehrlichman-Dean conversations, and also those Nixon had with former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst and Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen.

The special prosecutor's request embraces specific conversations ranging over most of one year—from June 20, 1972, through June 4, 1973. The House subpoena spans two months, from Feb. 20, 1973, through April 18, when the Watergate cover-up was crumbling.

In his latest action, Jaworski followed the practice of asking the court for permission to subpoena since the material is sought for trial evidence.

The special prosecutor said he felt "obligated to seek these materials by subpoena," because he has received "no definitive response" to requests by letter. He enclosed a letter he wrote to White House lawyer James D. St. Clair, written April 11, advising him a subpoena would be sought in five days.

Haldeman, Ehrlichman, Mitchell and Colson, along with Gordon Strachan, Kenneth W. Parkinson and Robert C. Mardian are charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Army chief cuts Calley's prison term

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say Secretary of the Army Howard Callaway went far beyond the recommendation of a clemency board in halving Lt. William Calley's prison sentence to 10 years for the My Lai massacre.

Callaway's decision meant Calley could come up for parole within the year.

The Army said it could not make public the recommendation of the Army-Air Force Clemency and Parole Board. But sources said the board proposed only a slight reduction in Calley's 20-year sentence.

Callaway said he remitted 10 years of Calley's prison sentence because of "mitigating circumstances indicating that Lt. Calley may have sincerely believed that he was acting in accordance with the orders he had received and that he was not aware of his responsibility to refuse such an illegal order."

At the same time, the Army seccetary said Tuesday "there is no reasonable doubt in my mind that he perpetrated the acts for which he stands convicted."

The case is now before President Nixon, who has said he will review it personally and make the final decision. Army lawyers said Nixon could affirm the present sentence or cut it further but could not increase it.

Calley's civilian lawyer Kenneth M. Henson, said in Columbus, Ga., that the Army secretary's ruling was disappointing. "We're still hopeful that the President of the United State exonerates Lt. Calley," Henson said.

Officials at Army headquarters said they believe Calley spent only one night in the Ft. Benning, Ga., stockade after his sentencing by a court-martial to life in prison at hard labor on March 31, 1971.

Nixon ordered Calley released from the stockade April 1, 1971, and said he should be confined to his quarters pending review of his case.

Volcano erupts

MOSCOW (AP) — A 15,584-foot volcano on the Kamchatka Peninsula, at the East Asian end of the Soviet Union, has begun erupting after being quiet for seven years, Tass reported today.

The official Soviet news agency said ashes from the volcano were falling on an area of 300 square miles.

WCH to pay more

PUCO allows natural gas rate hikes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Customers of five major utilities in Ohio will be paying more for synthetic natural gas after a decision announced Tuesday by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

The PUCO allowed the firms, all customers of the Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., to increase the cost of synthetic gas to customers through a "fuel cost adjustment clause."

The commission also ordered the companies to explain to customers why the increase in necessary.

The request for the rate boost was made last June by the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co., Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., Dayton Power and Light Co., Ohio Valley Gas Co., and West Ohio Gas Co.

The utilities told the commission the extra revenue was necessary to obtain fuel from new sources.

The commission has allowed gas utilities to adjust their billings to customers for the past 22 years by passing along cost increases for natural gas.

Utilities are already receiving synthetic gas from a Green Springs plant, the PUCO noted.

The commission said it would review the impact of the adjustment clauses on customers.

Storm siren tested; isn't loud enough!

The storm warning siren atop the Courthouse, tested at noon Wednesday, functioned properly and at full volume according to a Fire Department spokesman. But the blast apparently did not carry beyond the city limits. Of those contacted, only one of five persons living near the city corporation line heard the test alert.

Officials at the Washington Avenue Nursing Home, Washington Ave. at Elm St., and residents at Highland Ave. and Fairway Dr., Clinton and Grand Aves., and Forest and Temple Sts. did not hear the siren at all.

At North St. and Oakland Ave. a resident stated that he heard it only because he was listening for it and had the door open. "If the door had been closed, I couldn't have heard it," he said.

Only one of the Union Township residents contacted heard the alert. A woman on Prairie Road, who was in her yard, was able to hear it, but her husband who was inside the house could not. Others who heard nothing included officials of the Quiet Acres Nursing Home, Palmer Rd.

Kissinger meets Latins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger opens four days of consultations with Latin American foreign ministers today, hoping to make progress toward his goal of a revitalized U.S. policy in the hemisphere.

Kissinger and his 24 Latin American colleagues are to meet at the State Department this afternoon for private informal discussions on trade, aid and financial problems President Nixon will host a state dinner for the ministers tonight.

After a concluding session Thursday at the State Department, the ministers will fly to Atlanta for the annual meeting of the General Assembly of the Organization of American States. Kissinger plans to return to Washington Sunday morning.

Democrat wins in Congress election

Nixon hurt by vote

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — The Democratic victory in Michigan's special congressional election is a blow to President Nixon's hopes of demonstrating political popularity to Republican House members considering impeachment.

Previous GOP setbacks in House contests in Johnstown, Pa., Cincinnati, Ohio, and Grand Rapids, Mich., have made many Republicans fearful of a GOP electoral disaster in next November's congressional elections.

Many congressional observers feel this has increased the likelihood that many Republicans may seek political safety by voting for an impeachment resolution if the House Judiciary Committee approves one.

In this atmosphere, Nixon decided to do his first campaigning since his own 1972 re-election. Figuring he would be blamed for any GOP setback here, he decided he should try to get in on any possibility of triumph.

Such a victory would surely have been cited by the White House to GOP doubters as evidence Nixon retains much support in the country and that a pro-impeachment vote would be politically risky.

At the time of the visit, six days before the election, there was considerable sentiment among the 8th District's political observers that Republican James Sparling Jr. had cut substantially into the lead indicated by polls for Democrat Bob Traxler and might even win.

But when the ballots were counted Tuesday night, the vote for Sparling in the rural areas Nixon visited fell below the normal Republican percentages. It was insufficient to offset the Democratic surge for Traxler in more populous Bay City and Saginaw, where labor unions are strong.

The Traxler victory, in a district the Democrats last won in Franklin D. Roosevelt's 1932 landslide, can only be read as a further sign of weakness on the part of Republicans and the President.

If this increases the likelihood of impeachment, it is not because of the 8th District's new congressman. Sparling also said he would vote to impeach if the evidence warranted.

The real impact will come, Traxler noted, from GOP House members already in Washington.

"They are the people that have to decide just how big an albatross he's going to be around their necks in November," he told his cheering supporters.

Ford plays down Demo victory

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford says the Democratic victory in a special Michigan congressional election is a bad omen for the country and that continued Democratic victories could lead to a "legislative dictatorship."

"One party control is not good for America," Ford said after Democrat Bob Traxler's narrow victory Tuesday in the state's 8th District over Republican James Sparling Jr.

"And the trend in congressional elections now is for the Democrats to end up with an overwhelming majority in the House. This will mean a legislative dictatorship."

Ford said the election would have no bearing on how Congress treats the President in regard to the impeachment inquiry now being conducted by the House Judiciary Committee.

Sparling said he did not blame Nixon for his defeat.

Traxler, who won in this traditionally GOP district despite a personal appearance by President Nixon on behalf of Sparling, said Nixon is the problem of Republicans, not Democrats.

Traxler's victory gave the 8th District seat to Democrats for the first time since 1932.

It marked the fourth time in five special elections this year that normally GOP areas have fallen to the Democrats.

But it was the first time Nixon took an active role in trying to stem the tide.

With all of the 296 precincts in the district unaccounted for in unofficial returns, Traxler had 59,918 votes, Sparling 56,575.

The results gave Traxler 51.4 per cent of the vote.

Traxler said after his victory that voters knew that perhaps a new moral force was needed in the White House.

"And while we didn't dwell on Watergate...there are a lot of people who felt it very important that a message and communication be sent that decency, honesty and integrity are absolutely essential in the White House."

In his comments, in a statement given to newsmen at Palm Springs, Calif., Ford said he had talked with Sparling "and he informed me that Watergate was not the principal factor in his defeat. The unions simply did a better job than the Republican organization in getting out the vote."

Sparling said he would decide later whether to challenge Traxler in November, when the seat opens up again in a regular election.

He insisted Nixon was not invited to Michigan to campaign for him, but rather to "get out of the White House where he is now isolated and face the people."

In his three-hour tour in the district last week, Nixon avoided heavily Democratic big city areas, where unemployment hovers around 10 per cent. He concentrated instead on the small communities where the district's GOP strength lies.

He drew a generally warm welcome from thousands, although there were some protesters.

Fighting continues on Syrian frontier

By The Associated Press

Israeli and Syrian artillery and tank guns battled again today on Mt. Hermon and along the Golan Heights.

The Israeli military command said Syrian guns pounded Israeli positions on the bitterly contested mountain, wounding one soldier, and the exchanges spread along the 40-mile perimeter around the territory captured in the October war.

The Syrian command reported Syrian and Israeli forces battled on the slopes of Mt. Hermon throughout the night but gave no details. The thud of artillery was heard all night in Damascus, the Syrian capital 23 miles from the Biblical mountain.

The Syrians also said the fighting spread along the front at daybreak.

It was the 37th consecutive day of fighting and coincided with the 29th anniversary of Syria's independence from France.

The Syrians have been trying to capture an Israeli reconnaissance post on the north side of Mt. Hermon which overlooks the entire front. A report from Damascus said the Syrians have established a forward command post on a slope of the snow-covered mountain, indicating more attempts to capture the Israeli position.

Associated Press newsman Hal McClure reported from the front that Israeli reinforcements ran into heavy Syrian cannon fire as they made their way up the slopes of the mountain on Tuesday.

Syrian President Hafez Assad returned to Damascus from a five-day visit to Moscow, and the two governments announced that the Soviets would increase Syria's military capacity and support Syria's "legal and inalienable right to use all effective means for the liberation of its occupied lands."

Beirut newspapers said the Kremlin pledged early delivery of MIG25 jet fighters and ground-to-ground missiles.

In the joint communique the Soviet government attempted to counter U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's success in Middle East peacemaking by criticizing attempts to solve the area's problems in "a piecemeal" fashion. It warned that to exclude the Soviet Union from peace negotiations would lead to "grave consequences."

There was mounting war talk in Cairo as President Anwar Sadat warned that an Israeli attack across the Suez Canal would be countered with longrange Egyptian missiles that he said were "still directed at three major Israeli cities."

Egypt is "ready for any eventuality" and has "a startling number" of tanks ready to cross the canal immediately if the need arises, Sadat told a group of students.

Abernathy slates new Poor March

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said the group would "confront Washington with our bodies this year" over the economics of poor people.

Abernathy spoke Tuesday night before a spring meeting of SCLC directors in the allblack suburb of Lincoln Heights.

Abernathy, in a fiery speech before about 150 persons, called President Nixon "the most notorious criminal in the land."

He also described Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace as "the symbol of racism in America" and vowed to stop an Edward Kennedy-George Wallace Democratic ticket in 1976.

"We are tired of hearing about Watergate. We want jobs. We want to be able to go to the doctor twice a year. We want to be able to sit in the dentist chair to have our teeth cleaned," he said.

Simon named treasury chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon named federal energy chief William E. Simon to be Treasury secretary today and pledged to play an expanded personal role in directing the government's economic policy.

Nixon promoted Simon's chief assistant, John C. Sawhill, to federal energy administrator.

In announcing Simon's nomination, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren also announced that the President "intends to play an increasingly expanded role," in coordinating the administration's economic policy.

Simon's selection had been expected for weeks.

Eckhart blasts utility firms taxes

By The Associated Press

More candidates disclosed their incomes and one lieutenant governor hopeful attacked utility firms Tuesday for the taxes they pay.

Henry Eckhart, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, said Ohio Bell will receive $11 million credit on net income of $57 million for 1973. United Telephone will receive a $3 million credit on net income of $8 million, Eckhart said.

"If you accept that the utility companies were entitled to this very favorable income tax treatment, you must also accept that the rate payers should not be required to pay dollars for taxes which are no longer charged," he said in prepared remarks for a Columbus political caucus.

"Ohio's utility companies owe their customers millions and millions of dollars in refunds and reduced rates," Eckhart said.

He is one of nine candidates for the Democratic nomination. Eckhart served as chairman of the Public Utilities Commission during part of Gov. John J. Gilligan's administration.

Meanwhile, Republican gubernatorial candidate Rep. Charles Fry, R-75 Springfield, disclosed he paid $28,167 in federal income tax in 1973 on a taxable income of $71,785 for him and his wife.

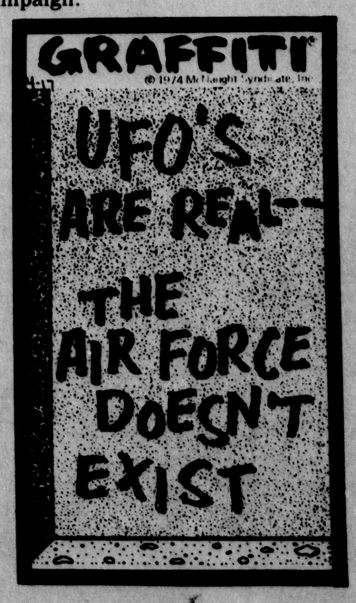

He said he had a gross income of $94,433, some $68,650 of it from salaries.

Elsewhere on the campaign, U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, looking for the Democratic nomination for the Senate, recommended Tuesday that food exports be limited in order to keep food prices in the U.S. at a reasonable level.

"The American consumer must be given first claim to his own farm products," Metzenbaum said.

Two candidates of nine on the slate for lieutenant governor have tentatively agreed to a discussion of election issues. Rep. Richard Celeste, D-5 Cleveland, and William O'Neill of Columbus agreed Tuesday to the discussion.

O'Neill suggested the discussion take place at lunchtime on the steps of the Capitol during the last week of the campaign.

Widespread manhunt on for SLA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe said today he is convinced that Patricia Hearst "was not a reluctant participant" in a San Francisco bank robbery and that he considers her a common criminal.

Saxbe told reporters at his weekly news conference that he was expressing his personal views about the 20-year-old newspaper heiress reported kidnaped by the Symbionese Liberation Army more than two months ago.

Saxbe said he believes the FBI would be justified in breaking into a dwelling to capture Miss Hearst and SLA members.

"The entire group we're talking about are common criminals," Saxbe said. Asked if he was including Miss Hearst in that description, he replied, "Miss Hearst is part of it."

In response to questions about the bank robbery, Saxbe said, "it would appear to me that she was not a reluctant participant in this robbery. My personal conclusion is that she was not a reluctant participant. There's room for others to say she was coerced into it, the two guns pointed at her and so on."

In San Franciso today, Saxbe's view was bolstered by bank guard Edward Shea, who said Miss Hearst "was full of curse words" and appeared ready to fire a sawed-off carbine if necessary during the robbery.

Shea, 66, who was disarmed during the holdup, said Miss Hearst "absolutely was a participant" in the bank heist Monday in which two passers-by were shot.

"She wasn't scared, I'll tell you that," he said. "She looked as though she knew what she was doing. She had a gun and looked ready to use it. She had plenty of command in her voice. She was full of curse words. She let it be known that she meant business."

Earlier, Miss Hearst's fiance said he believes the SLA contrived the bank holdup — in which she carried a carbine — to make people think she had joined the terrorist group.

Steven Weed, 26, told reporters Tuesday that Monday's bank heist, in which two persons were wounded and $10,690 was stolen, was designed "to get people to believe she is converted without having to let her go."

He also said he believed Miss Hearst "is being humiliated at the hands of a group of people who are determined not to let her get out of this alive."

In an April 3 taped communique, Miss Hearst scorned her family and said she had joined the SLA, which has claimed responsibility for abducting her Feb. 4 from a Berkeley, Calif., apartment she shared with Weed.

Weed said Miss Hearst, 20, appeared sick and exhausted in the photographs taken automatically by cameras in the bank Monday. She was accompanied by three white women and a black man.

Police Capt. Mortimer McInerney also said the holdup may have been staged by the SLA to "show off Patty Hearst as a member of their ranks."

Meanwhile, John Kelly, who heads the FBI office here, said the SLA could have forced Miss Hearst to participate in the robbery by threatening to harm her or her family.

Deaths, Funerals

Miss Viola May Shumaker

GREENFIELD — Miss Viola Shumaker, 77, a former Greenfield resident, died at 5 p.m. Tuesday in the Roselawn Nursing Home, West Lafayette.

Born in Highland County, Miss Shumaker was never married.

She is survived by two brothers, John, of Gallipolis, and Ralph, of Antioch; and three sisters, Mrs. Nanna May Thompson, of Dayton, Mrs. Margaret Ward, of Hillsboro, and Miss Elizabeth Shumaker, of West Lafayette. Two brothers and a sister preceded her in death.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Murray Funeral Home, with the Rev. Noble Miller officiating. Burial will be in Greenfield Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Friday.

John D. Williams

MARION — John D. Williams, 56, of Marion, died at 6:02 a.m. Wednesday in Community Memorial Hospital, Marion, where he had been a patient for the past 11 days.

Mr. Williams resided in Washington C. H. for 18 years before moving to Marion some five years ago. He was vice president and sales manager of G&G Homes Sales Corporation as well as rental property manager and a member of the board of directors of G&G Homes Inc., both of which are located in Marion. He was a World War II veteran, a member of the Paul H. Hughey Post, American Legion, as well as the 40&8 F&AM, and a member of Grace United Methodist Church. Mr. Williams belonged to the $1,000,000 Club of National Homes and was a member of United Commercial Travelers.

He is survived by his wife, the former Julia Schrock; a daughter, Mrs. Michael (Patty Lou) Garinger, of Dayton; and three brothers, Robert and Philip, of Columbus, and Daniel, of Sunbury.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home in Washington C. H., with Dr. Harold Scott officiating. Burial will be in Washington Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 until 4 p.m. and from 7 until 9 p.m. Friday.

MRS. LAURA M. DELLINGER — Services for Mrs. Laura Mae Dellinger, 93, of 123 W. Oak St., were held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Wilbur Bullock, pastor of McNair Presbyterian Church, officiating. Mrs. Dellinger, the widow of W. H. Dellinger, died Saturday.

Pallbearers for the burial in Bloomingburg Cemetery were Mark and Mike Dellinger, Tommy, Gary, Jim, and Bill McMurray.

SLA manhunt

Patricia's father, Randolph A. Hearst, returned Tuesday from a 10-day rest in La Paz, Mexico, and told reporters he had no idea whether his daughter was coerced into joining the bank robbery.

"Sixty days ago, she was a lovely child; 60 days later — a picture of her in a bank robbery!" said Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner.

Meanwhile, a federal bank robbery warrant was issued Tuesday for escaped convict Donald D. DeFreeze, the alleged SLA General Field Marshal Cinque. It was the first time the FBI publicly stated DeFreeze was the SLA leader. Authorities have said the group has about 25 members.

Earlier, federal robbery warrants were issued for three women previously linked to the SLA.

Another warrant seeks Miss Hearst as a material witness to a robbery. The FBI has said it did not charge Miss Hearst with bank robbery because photos showed that guns held by two SLA women were pointing in her direction.

Investigators also questioned why the robbers failed to shoot out the bank cameras, which were in plain view and took 1,200 pictures.

A dozen inspectors and scores of FBI agents were assigned full time to the search for the four women and five men who staged the daring robbery.

Problems surface in U.N. Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Confrontations are surfacing on all sides at the United Nations General Assembly special session on economics.

Conflicts between rich nations and poor, between oil producers and oil consumers, between socialist and capitalist countries, and between China and the Soviet Union have emerged in the last two days of debate.

Three major Arab oil countries, Kuwait, Iraq and Saudi Arabia, demanded Tuesday that the industrialized countries bear major responsibility for easing the economic hardship caused among the needy nations by the oil countries' hike in their prices.

"The greater part of it should be borne by the advanced industrial countries," Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani of Saudi Arabia told the assembly Tuesday.

He said his government gave more than $2 billion in foreign aid in 1973, and this made it the world's largest donor relative to national income and output.

Foreign Minster Sabah al Ahmad al Jaber al Sabah of Kuwait told the session the advanced countries "have a historic responsibility because they are primarily responsible for the backwardness and privation which are the lot of the underdeveloped countries."

He said Kuwait is spending 7 to 8 per cent of its gross national product on foreign assistance while the contribution of industrialized countries dropped in 1972 from .42 of one per cent to .34.

China accused the Soviet Union of trying to sabotage the assembly proceedings by an "irrelevant" proposal to link economic development to East-West detente.

U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on Monday urged against confrontations and appealed to the oil-rich countries to use some of their profits to aid needy nations.

"I think most of the developing countries took the view that there was an implied threat in what he said," Nigeria's foreign minister, Okoi Arikpo, told reporters.

Montgomery County GOP audit discloses 'oversight'

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Montgomery County Republican officials say the General Accounting Office has thrown a spotlight on what amounted to "an oversight" by the county party and a contractor who billed for labor, but not materials.

The GAO conducted an audit of the county GOP executive committee and Tuesday accused Republican officers and the electrical contractor of apparent violation of state and federal election laws which require reports on corporate contributions.

The $2,262 "oversight" was also referred to the U.S. Attorney General and the state attorney general's office.

Commenting on possible prosecution, county GOP president Charles Ross said, "They (GAO) insist on making a big deal out of every audit."

Billing of $2,422 by Chapel Electric Co. for employes' labor on installation of lighting in a 1972 redecoration of party headquarters was not discovered until the audit, said committee treasurer Guy Kennedy.

Kennedy said it was not the intent of either the executive committee or the company to make or accept an illegal campaign contribution.

The audit showed costs for the new lighting in the Dayton office as $4,685, but found bills adding up to only labor costs.

The GAO also cited the committee for failure to allocate its media expenditures on a percandidate basis and said party officials failed to report the occupations and principal places of business of many contributors.

Auditors said they also found a reported cash balance of $5,155 on hand April 7, 1972, but said other cash was held in a special checking account, a building fund and certificates of deposit—all totaling $45,998.

The report, however, said the committee has since amended its report of beginning cash on hand to include those extra funds.

The News In Brief

10,000 await flood relief

BEAUMONT, Miss. (AP) — An estimated 10,000 south Mississippi flood victims are waiting for high water to move downstream so they can return to their homes.

The floods, which followed up to 16 inches of rain last weekend, have claimed eight lives and caused an estimated $60 million in nonagricultural property damage.

At Hattiesburg, where the Leaf and Bowie rivers converge, and at Columbia, where the Pearl River is over its banks, water was receding. But flood waters still remained in many homes and businesses.

★★★★

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A week-long strike at the Borg Warner Co. plant, described by company officials as a wildcat walkout, has ended.

Members of Local 719 of the International Union of Electrical Workers voted Monday night to end the walkout. They were back on the job Tuesday.

The workers walked off the job April 9, reportedly in a dispute over disciplinary action taken against the union's president and another employe.

★★★★

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-passed campaign reform bill that includes little-noticed financial disclosure provisions will be before a House committee next week when Congress returns from its Easter recess.

Chairman Wayne Hays, DOhio, of the House Administration Committee already has said he opposes the bill because it provides for full public financing of presidential and congressional campaigns.

★★★★

WASHINGTON (AP) — Petroleum shortages will recur despite the end of the Arab oil embargo unless the public continues to save fuel, top government energy officials say.

John C. Sawhill, deputy administrator of the Federal Energy Office, said in an interview Tuesday that gasoline shortages, at their worst, would not get as bad as last February when some motorists waited in service station lines for hours.

But Sawhill said that "some people probably will forget about conservation and some spot shortages of gasoline will develop."

Little girl foils attempt at kidnap

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A 10-year-old girl on her way to school foiled a kidnap attempt by outwitting her would-be abductor. She escaped unharmed with the aid of a neighbor.

Police told this story:

Patricia Marshall and a friend were waiting for a school bus Tuesday on a corner near her home in Lake Vista, a New Orleans subdivision. A man stopped his car, pushed Patricia in on the passenger's side and slammed the door.

Patricia yelled at her friend to run. Then, pretending she couldn't open the car door, she began banging on the car window. The kidnaper, apparently convinced his victim was secure, started around to the driver's door.

Then Patricia opened her door. The kidnaper ran back around and tried to close it. Patricia blocked the door with her foot as they struggled. A neighbor, Harvey Schwartzberg, passed by on his way to work and stopped to help.

The kidnaper gave up trying to force the door closed and sped away after Patricia, with Schwartzberg's aid, escaped from the car.

Homecoming Queen plans Army career

The 1973 Washington Senior High School homecoming queen has chosen a career in the U.S. Army.

S-Sgt. William Bradshaw, U.S. Army recruiter for the Washington C.H. area, said Sandra Kay Cardiff, a 1973 WSHS graduate, has enlisted in the U.S. Army and will become a physical activity specialist. She will be assigned to Yuma, Ariz., following basic training at Ft. McClellan, Ala.

Miss Cardiff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cardiff, 522 Peabody Ave., was vice president and treasurer of Y-Teens at WSHS in addition to being a member of Student Council, National Honor Society and the Society of American High School Students.

A large high pressure system centered in Arkansas made for clear skies over Ohio during the night and the same system will continue to dominate the state's weather through Thursday as it drifts slowly eastward.

Under clear skies Tuesday night, temperatures across the state at dawn Wednesday were on the chilly side, generally ranging in the 30s except at Toledo where the mercury was holding at 29 degrees. Under sunny skies both today and Thursday, temperatures will warm somewhat during the afternoon hours.

With high pressure influence on the state, dry conditions will continue through Thursday.

A chance of showers Friday through Sunday. Highs in the 60s and lows in the 40s.

Clear skies favor U.S.

By The Associated Press

Clear skies and crisp temperatures prevailed over most of the nation today, marred only by a few showers.

The scattered showers that washed parts of the Rockies, central Florida, Kentucky and Tennessee during the night were expected to diminish later in the day.

Cool air moved into the eastern half of the country, and freeze warnings were posted for parts of the Virginias and Maryland.

While early-morning readings for most of the nation were in the 30s and 40s, levels in the South reached the 50s and 60s.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 77 at the Key West, Fla., Naval Air Station to 27 at Lebanon, N.H.

Teamsters threaten other unions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Teamsters union, locked in a bitter feud with the United Farm Workers, has threatened retaliation against any unions that support the AFL-CIO's nationwide boycott of California grapes and lettuce.

Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons took the unusual step of writing the leaders of all AFL-CIO affiliated unions to warn that participation in the boycott would result in an end of all future cooperation by the Teamsters.

Stock list cools off

NEW YORK (AP) — Another prime rate increase cooled off the stock market's recent rally today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up .63 at 861.86, and gainers clung to a narrow lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Citizens and Southern National Bank of Atlanta became the fourth bank to raise its prime lending rate above the former record high of 10 per cent, putting the key rate at 10¼ on existing loans and 10½ on new ones.

Cadence Industries was the NYSE volume leader, unchanged at 3 in trading marked by a 100,800-share block at that price.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .30 at 94.30.

Avis was down 4 at 14⅞ after the announcement that American Express would not proceed with plans to acquire the company from International Telephone. ITT was off ⅛ at 23⅛.

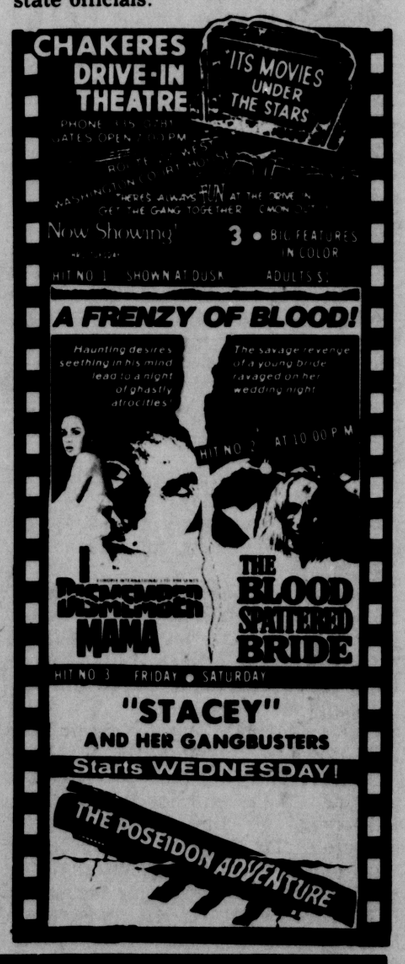

Polaroid, which came in with lower quarterly earnings this morning, dropped 3¾ to 61⅜.

Consolidated Oil & Gas was the Amex volume leader, up ¼ at 8⅛. Trading was halted in the issue for dissemination of news of a gas find in Webb County, Texas.

The NYSE's noon index of all its listed common stocks stood at 49.91, up .03.

High court OKs KSU lawsuits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court said today that damage suits against Ohio officials in the 1970 slayings of students at Kent State are not barred by executive immunity of state officials.

Stans faces Vesco testimony

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has finished his testimony before a federal court jury trying him on criminal conspiracy charges. Now it is the turn of his codefendant and one-time Cabinet colleague, Maurice H. Stans.

Mitchell testified under cross-examination Tuesday that he appointed Harry L. Sears as Republican campaign manager in New Jersey in 1972. Sears was one of the government's star witnesses against Mitchell.

On the same basis, the government brought out that Mitchell was instrumental in the appointment of William J. Casey as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission and of ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III to his initial administration job in the Justice department.

"Isn't it true, Mr. Mitchell, that your testimony is directly contradictory to that of all three of these men?" the witness was asked, in an attempt to suggest that it was Mitchell who was lying rather than the three men in whom he had placed his trust.

A defense objection was sustained on grounds the question was improper and it went unanswered. With that Mitchell's cross-examination was at an end.

Stans, Secretary of Commerce in President Nixon's first Cabinet, is scheduled to begin his testimony after the trial resumes today. There may be a final, minor defense witness first for Mitchell.

Mitchell and Stans are accused of using their influence to obstruct a massive fraud investigation by the SEC into the financial empire of Robert L. Vesco, in exchange for the latter's secret $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

Mitchell's place on the witness stand was taken in midafternoon by the man who replaced him as Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst.

Dean testified that Mitchell once called him and asked him to ask Kleindienst to look into the Mitchell-Stans grand jury here.

Kleindienst's testimony was elicited in support of Mitchell's denial that he ever had such a conversation with Dean after the latter had gone to the White House. Kleindienst said at the outset:

"I think of John Mitchell as one of the closest, most intimate friends I've ever had in my life."

"I have no recollection of any such call from Mr. Dean," Kleindienst went on. "I have no recollection of any conversation with Mr. Dean on this subject."

"Do you deny it happened?" he was asked.

"Well, I don't believe it happened," Kleindienst replied. "...Certainly, he didn't say anything to me about acting as a conduit or messenger boy for Mr. Mitchell, because Mr. Mitchell didn't need a messenger boy between us."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to relatives, friends, neighbors who gave their kindness, sympathy and beautiful floral tributes during the loss of our husband and father Ralph E. Lucas.

Mrs. Jane Lucas & Family

Thank You

We wish to thank our wonderful neighbors and friends for their thoughtfulness and expressions of love and kindness during the illness and death of my husband and our father, Thomas Dunn.

Special thanks to Dr. Rose, who was more than faithful and understanding to all of us.

IDA DUNN AND CHILDREN

Thank You

To all the 250 people who signed my petitions so I could be a candidate for Fayette County Commissioner on the Republican ticket May 7. To those I didn't get to see I want you to know I need all the help and support you can give me.

I am a farmer residing in Jefferson Township. I am presently a Jefferson Township Trustee having served for 12 years. I have been on the Republican Central Committee for 15 years. I am a Director of our Fayette County Fair Board. I have always tried to be a person of good standing in my community, and any job or office I have held made an earnest effort to perform it efficiently and conscientiously.

I believe an elected official should serve ALL the PEOPLE, with all money spent when needed, to the BEST PURPOSE and PROGRESS, over which you have control. There is no substitute for SOUND MONEY MANAGEMENT and a DEDICATED OFFICE HOLDER. I have faith I can work and cooperate with other officials.

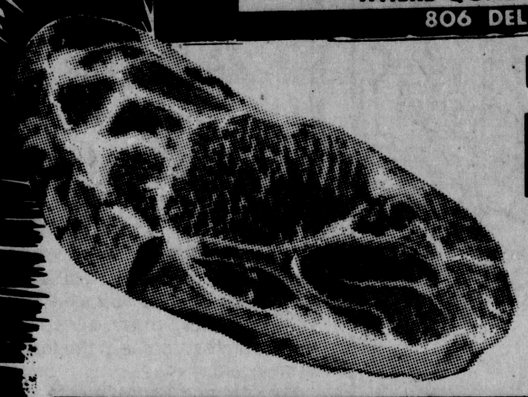

On May 7 when you go to the polls to vote for the person you want to work and represent you, may I ask for your nomination for Fayette County Commissioner?

Faulty weapons detectors

Questions have been raised about the propriety of routine electronic screening of airlines passengers to prevent their carrying weapons aboard.

The contentions that this is an unjustified invasion of privacy, and that above all basing criminal charges on the fruits of such warrantless searches is wrong, are legitimate subjects of debate.

One thing surely could be agreed to by everyone, though; as long as electronic screening is authorized, it should be operated efficiently. This gets us to New York Rep. John M. Murphy's claim that according to a government report a high percentage of airport weapons detectors are inoperative or malfunctioning.

This seems to be borne out by the experience of a Chicago Sun-Times reporter who found that detectors at two out of four checkpoints in O'Hare International Airport gave no sign when he walked through with a steel hammerhead in his pocket.

That makes the detection system a farce. If the electronic devices don't find a hunk of metal that size, what protection do they offer against the would-be aircraft hijacker with a gun in his pocket?

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Good talk, but who listens?

The World Anti-Communist League held its seventh annual convention in Washington, D.C., last week. It was the last place in the world to expect coverage for speeches about rolling back totalitarian threats, freeing the East European nations, building a U.S. Navy second to none, or getting Fidel Castro out of our hair.

The White House, pursuing detente, prefers to sidestep uncomfortable questions about Soviet military capabilities or intentions. The Washington press is monomaniacal, with no time for anything but Watergate.

But at least two interested outsiders were paying rapt attention to everything that was being said at the convention. They were the correspondents for Tass, the Soviet news agency, and the Communist Daily World.

The speeches were good, but how is one to evaluate their effect if only Moscow seems sufficiently interested to take them seriously? Adm. John McCain, Jr., former commander in chief of U.S. naval forces in the Pacific and Indian oceans, gave a remarkable briefing on the Soviet drive to dominate the oceans.

Last October, at the time of the Yom Kippur war, the U.S. Mediterranean fleet, 60 vessels strong, made the sudden discovery that 90 Soviet warships were busy protecting the Russian military supply lanes to Egypt and Syria. The Soviets lacked an aircraft carrier, but they had ships capable of launching 300-mile surface-to-surface missiles. The U.S., in short, was in an inferior position in the eastern Mediterranean at a most critical moment.

ADM. McCAIN went on to explain his "strategic island concept," which, if it is accepted as U.S. military policy, requires an upbuilding of such bases as the island of Diego Garcia in the Indian Ocean. The Tass and Communist Daily World men scribbled all of this down. But is Henry Kissinger listening? Will SALT II have anything to say about limiting conventional naval forces and facilities?

Another speaker, Rep. Richard Ichord (D.-Mo.), drew up a realistic balance sheet of detente as it has been practiced by the Soviets and the U.S. to date. Moscow has gotten a great deal out of detente for itself.

1. There was the wheat deal. 2. The Export-Import Bank agreed last October to lend the Soviets $500 million at six per cent interest. 3. The provisions of SALT I seem to have locked the U.S. into a second-place position in straegic power.

What did the U.S. get in return for all this? Ichord conceded that we did get help from the Russians in the Vietnam war settlement. But they were no help at all in the Middle East crisis. They not only armed the Egyptians, but they criticized Sadat for reaching an agreement with Kissinger, and they sided with Syria in urging the Persian Gulf Arab states to continue the anti-American oil embargo after the ceasefire.

ICHORD is not against detente as an idea, but he asked the 350 Anti-Communist League delegates what sense it makes to give without getting? Why offer the Soviet Union, which is furiously building a big navy, a huge loan at low interest and then have President Nixon turn around and demand $85 billion for U.S. defense?

Tass and the Communist Daily World showed the utmost interest in Ichord's complaints about one-sided detente, but is Richard Nixon ready to listen?

Anti-Communist League "Freedom Fighter" awards went to Valentyn Moroz of the Ukraine, Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary, and Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, the exiled Russian Nobel Prize winner. Moroz, the least known of the three, is a Ukrainian historian who, without international fame to protect him against imprisonment for writing his own version of the "Gulag Archipelago," has just smuggled to "the outside" these words: "Tell them only this: I am kept with the insane, they are creating hell for me. They are trying to drive me to the insanity of those with whom they locked me up. I cannot breathe."

"I come from another planet." So Avraham Shifrin, a luckier man than Moroz in that he has survived his own "Gulag Archipelago" imprisonment, introduced himself to the Anti-Communist League delegates. In his 1973 testimony before a U.S. Senate subcommittee, Shifrin anticipated everything that Solzhenitsyn has had to say. But it takes a Nobel Prize winner to make a splash.

It is really too bad that our anti-Communists have to listen to each other in a vacuum caused by a blind trust in detente. When will we, as a nation, realize that it takes two to detente even as it takes two to tango?

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, APRIL 18

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

A down-to-earth attitude needed. Don't let yourself be drawn into a whirlwind of rumor and speculation, now rife in many quarters.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

You may not size up occupational situations as accurately as usual. Better double-check! On the personal side, romance and travel favored.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Avoid a tendency toward lethargy. Rewards will be commensurate with the efforts you expend. Keep your own counsel in personal affairs.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Bonuses indicated from past efforts. These should give you new incentive, perhaps a wholly new approach in certain areas. Long-range plans favored.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Opposition from unexpected sources should not disrupt routine or plans previously made. Accept all challenges with your innate sturdiness and affability.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Look well into proposed suggestions or you may find yourself involved where you least desire it. Some definite "no" answers will be required.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A good period for branching out into new fields in your regular activities allow you the time. Creative interests especially favored.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Where you are not certain of your course, take time to gather more facts. Be sure you are not following "blind leads" or ill-informed persons.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A day for reflection. Give careful thought to decisions you must make soon. Outcomes could be extremely important to the future.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Originality will not be necessary to success now, so don't waste time by trying to be "different." You will do better by following past, well-tested procedures.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Under unusually generous Uranus influences, your creative urges are strong, may impel you to do something unusual and outstanding. Make the most of this fine period.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

You may encounter what seems to be undue opposition. Take whatever steps are necessary to overcome it, but do not mistake honest discussion for hostility.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly individualistic, creative and possessed of driving ambition. You usually attain your ambitions, took since your persistence and stamina are outstanding. In your relentless drive toward success, you often inspire others to follow your lead, but you could lose their support unless you overcome your overaggressiveness and an inclination to "dictate." You are extremely versatile and many fields are open to you in choosing a career. As a business executive or lawyer, you could be an outstanding success but, if your talents along artistic lines seem to dominate your choice, follow your desires since, properly educated, of course, you could become an eminent painter, musician, actor, playwright, composer.

Woman lashes out at judge on jury duty frustrations

DETROIT (AP) — Helen Mueller is a shy, 102-pound housewife who said she "really felt sort of proud" when she was called for federal jury duty.

But that was before she found out what jury duty was like.

After 20 days' service over three months, she stomped into U.S. District Court here to give Judge Fred W. Kaess a good bawling out.

"If I ever get in trouble, I'll never ask for a jury trial," she told the startled judge. "I don't want to be judged by a group of angry, frustrated people.

"We were herded around like animals, from one pen to another. Nobody says welcome, or tells you what the rules are, or what your rights are or what's going on around you. Most of the time you just sit, not knowing what it is you're waiting for.

"People become very resentful," Mrs. Mueller told the judge last week. "You'd be surprised how many jurors say they'll never vote again, because jurors names are drawn from the registered voters. I think that's terrible!"

Judge Kaess agreed and said a judicial committee was working on jury system reform.

The Drayton Plains woman said that the required 20 days of jury duty can stretch into six months if a juror is never chosen for a trial. So jurors stretch the truth a little during their examination just to get on a case and get the whole thing over with, she said.

"I don't mean the jurors lie," she said. "But for example, I've learned not to say what my husband's profession is. If I say he's a social worker, I'm excused right away. I learned very quickly to say he is a director for a family service agency. That's OK."

For another, the jurors aren't notified when a case is dismissed or settled out of court. "You might have to come in and sit all day only to be told to go home. And you never knew why," she said.

But Mrs. Mueller said the capper was the day she telephoned the emergency number to tell the court she couldn't show up because of a medical problem. She said she got a recorded message that told her what time to be on duty.

Red China opens trade showcase

TOKYO (AP) — Red balloons trailed anti-Confucius and anti-Lin Piao banners Monday for the opening of China's chief commercial showcase to the foreign world, the 35th Canton trade fair, Hsinhua reported.

The official Chinese news agency said it was the largest fair in history, but an American businessman quoted by Japanese reporters in Canton said the products shown were similar to those exhibited at the fair last fall.

The Japanese reports said about 5,000 foreign traders attended the fair on the first day. They said about 30,000 from 100 countries are expected during the fair's month-long run.

Peter Fonda's marriage ends

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — The 12-year marriage of actor-producer Peter Fonda and his wife, Susan, has ended in divorce.

Superior Court Judge Richard Wells granted Mrs. Fonda's petition for divorce Monday after she testified the marriage had been destroyed by irreconcilable differences.

Fonda and his wife have been separated for more than two years.

Mrs. Fonda was granted $2,500 a month in alimony and $500 a month in support for each of the couple's two children, Bridget, 10, and Justin 7. Wells ordered that community property be divided.

Fonda is the son of actor Henry Fonda and brother of actress Jane Fonda.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Long-time worker wants 'divorce shower'

DEAR ABBY: For years I have contributed to office collections for coworkers on the occasion of their engagements, marriages, anniversaries, births, deaths in the family, new homes, etc.

My wife and I separated a year ago, and I've been rooming with another man since then. Now I'm getting my own apartment, and I need all the things a couple needs to set up housekeeping-sheets, towels, dishes, appliances, etc. (My wife took everything when we split up.) Since I can't afford to buy all these things at once, I have proposed a "divorce" shower at work. It might even be appropriate for the gifts to be used items, since it's a second start for me.

The general reaction in the office was favorable, but some were on the fence. We agreed to abide by your advice as to whether this idea was too outrageous or actually a sensible way to help me out with a problem.

POTLESS

DEAR POTLESS: The idea makes a lot of sense to me. But you shouldn't "propose" the shower yourself, anymore than a bride should "propose her own shower. (P.S. Yours is not actually a "divorce shower," it's a miscellaneous shower for a man who's setting up housekeeping and doesn't have a pot.)

DEAR ABBY: I work in an office building. There's a woman down the hall who smokes a pack of cigarettes a day, and she bums every one of them!

She knows there are several smokers in this office, so she runs in just about every 30 minutes and asks if "anybody" has a cigarette.

I asked her why she didn't buy some and she said, "I'm not supposed to be smoking at all, and if I buy them I'll only smoke them." (I wonder what she thinks she is doing with the cigarettes she bums off us?)

Is there some real sharp answer we can give her when she comes in here to bum a cigarette?

SUCKER

DEAR SUCKER: Don't look for a sharp answer. Tell her if she's going to smoke she'll have to buy her own. That's sharp enough.

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating Henry for six months. He says he doesn't have a telephone at home. I do not have the phone number of the night or day jobs where he works. He says they allow only emergency calls, so he does all the calling.

One day I asked him where he lived and he said: "I can't give you the address because I'm moving right now." When I asked him where to send his Christmas card, he said: "Just hand it to me."

I have never been introduced to any of his friends, and he says he doesn't have any family.

Once I came right out and asked him if he was married, and he said no. He is always telling me I ask too many questions. I have a feeling he is not being honest with me. There are things I would like to know about him because I am falling in love with him. Why do you think he's so secretive?

IN THE DARK

DEAR IN: It's just a wild guess, but I'd say he's either married or living with someone. Unless he's willing to let you know where he lives and where he works, you'd be wise to forget him and look for a man who's not afraid to answer a few simple questions.

Today In History

NEW YORK (AP) — Thanks to a revived audience interest in more than music, news and sports, no less than four new radio drama or humor series are on the nation's airwaves these days. Now a fifth series is afoot.

It's the National Public Radio Theater, a dramatic effort that lasts an hour. Distribution of it began this month to the 163 public radio stations in the federally funded National Public Radio system.

NPR officials say a total of 11 of the weekly shows will be sent the stations this year, with a minimum of 26 new ones ordered for 1975. All will feature original or adapted material written only for radio.

What prompted it?

"One of the big things that moved us ahead was the success of the 'CBS Radio Mystery Theater,'" an NPR spokesman said, referring to the hour-long, weeknight series that made its debut in January.

"I think it proved the point that we've been trying to push," he said. "That there is an audience for radio drama if they, the audience, knows it's there."

Other radio series now on the air are the Mutual Broadcasting network's "Zero Hour," a suspense effort; a "National Lampoon" comedy series and "Sounds of the City," a soap opera about a black family.

The radio plays are produced by EARPLAY, a joint project of the University of Wisconsin's extension school and the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, at the university's radio station in Madison.

Karl Schmidt, a professor of educational communications, supervises the project. He says the show draws its thespians from New York, Chicago and the Minneapolis-St. Paul area as well as from the studentry.

How does he get his scripts?

"Mostly, we work through drama agents in New York," he said, "but we also solicit manuscripts through ads in the New York Times, the Saturday Review and other publications like that."

The pay for the scrivening is more inspirational than any known muse. Schmidt says an original, one-hour radio drama is worth $2,000 on acceptance, regardless of the author's fame or lack of it.

Question: Since few public radio stations can afford to advertise, how can listeners find out (a) the call letters of the nearest NPR outlet, and (b) when the programs air?

A spokesman said the best way is for the listener to write NPR's office in Washington, D.C., and ask which NPR station is in his or her area. Then call the station and ask when the show begins.

Court News

DIVORCE SUITS FILED

Two new divorce suits have been filed in Common Pleas Court.

Betty J. Campbell, 324 E. Paint St., has filed suit against Donald J. Campbell, Rt. 6, Washington C.H., on grounds of neglect of duty and cruelty. The parties were married Oct. 16, 1971, in Washington C.H. and have no children, according to the petition. The plaintiff asks that she be awarded half of the checking account existing on the date of filing the complaint, half of the accumulated savings account, furniture, household goods, sufficient additional funds for a down payment on the purchase of an automobile and that she be restored to her maiden name, Betty J. Forrest.

Helen M. Anders, of Milledgeville, has filed suit against Wilbur A. Anders, of Milledgeville, on grounds of neglect of duty and cruelty. The parties were married June 28, 1934, in Washington C.H. and have four children, three of whom are emancipated. The plaintiff asks child custody and support, temporary and permanent alimony, a property settlement to be determined by the court and a restraining order, which was granted.

ASKS ALIMONY ONLY

Susan L. Montgomery, 541 French Court, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court against Daniel J. Montgomery seeking alimony only. The parties were married Oct. 27, 1968, in Cincinnati and have no children, according to the petition. The plaintiff claims the defendant is guilty of neglect of duty.

Highway construction delay indefinite

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Declining revenues have resulted in an indefinite delay of highway construction work in Ohio, the head of the state Department of Transportation says.

J. Phillip Richley reported declining gasoline sales between December and February have cost the state more than $8 million in lost tax revenue.

Said Richley: "Our receipts started dropping in November, and the last three months they have really plummeted."

"The speed limit reduction (to 55 miles an hour) will have some effect, and if the gas suddenly starts to flow, it will reflect in our receipts," Richley said.

He said tax records showed December receipts down $1.7 million from the same month a year ago, with a drop of $3.3 million in January and $3.2 million in February.

City issues new building permits

The following new building permits have been issued at City Hall:

Louis Baer, 421 E. Market St., room on rear of residence; cost estimate $2,500;

Bernard Huffman, 428 Warren Ave., metal building on lot; cost estimate $150;

J.F. Loudner, 629 Fairway Dr., enclose patio; estimate $300.

Robert M. Pratt, 807 E. Paint St., new residence and attached garage, Lot 24, Dayton Ave.; cost estimate $30,000.

Columbus school planning blasted

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A civil rights worker testified Tuesday that sites for several schools planned in the Columbus education system would neighbor on property deeded with racially-restrictive clauses.

A hearing was expected to continue here today in federal court on a complaint by parents of eight Columbus students seeking to block an $89.5 million school construction program.

William A. Montgomery, who testified, described himself as a civil rights worker and said the building program would continue patterns of racial segregation.

Future of economy mostly guesswork

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Where the economy goes from here is becoming the subject of plain guesswork among some otherwise fearless forecasters of short-term trends whose brainpower is relied upon heavily in financial circles.

Many seem to agree that it might be an eventful summer in terms of prices and interest rates and wages and shortages, but conviction seems absent on whether things are going up or coming down.

Several analysts have sagely observed that while interest rates have been rising the trend has been down. That seems to suggest that recent increases have been mere jiggles in a downward slanting line, but you can't be certain.

One nationally circulated newsletter drops a reference to 15 per cent bond yields, while others maintain that the current 9 per cent return for new, top-rated corporates has to be the tops.

But those who claim to know really don't, unless they have managed to read the mind of Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who is the most influential man in determining how high or low the rates go.

What about prices?

A widely known economist with White House acquaintances is telling his corporate customers to expect the worst. He says inflation is chronic, that it isn't going to go away and everyone better realize it.

But others, some admittedly of the school that perennially believes "things can't get any worse," feel that the peak of inflation has been reached. Food prices have climbed 60 per cent in a decade.

You can take your pick of opinions about what is likely to happen when wage-price controls expire April 30, with forecasts seeming to be equally divided between a moderation and an increase in the inflation rate.

Unable to find a consensus regarding prices, or on their prospects for wage parity, consumers are taking matters into their own hands and are planting their own vegetable gardens.

Reach accord in Mansfield prison strike

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's corrections department won union agreement to disciplinary action against strikers at Ohio State Reformatory, including suspensions up to 30 days without pay, on a four-day prison walkout that ended late Tuesday.

Workers on the overnight shift had been caretakers of the institution's inmates since early Saturday when 260 employes struck. The prison employs about 450.

Joseph Ashley of the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction said a list of 23 procedural complaints was settled in a bargaining session Monday. But representatives of two unions did not consent to the disciplinary action until Tuesday evening, he said.

Striking members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes Local 1741 and the Richland County chapter of the Ohio Civil Service Employes Association had earlier ignored a court order to stop pickets from blocking prison entrances.

State corrections director Bennett J. Cooper had scheduled a Tuesday meeting on the procedural complaints about sanitary conditions and safety before the work stoppage.

But the question of alleged guard brutality, which triggered the Saturday walkout, Ashley said, "never had been clarified" in the talks.

Members of a citizen's advisory committee had talked with inmates who reportedly claimed physical abuses by the guards, Ashley said.

"Any employe with a documented reason for absence during the walkout will be paid for the four days," Ashley said. "But if the state has evidence any employe participated in the strike, he will not be paid."

The state agreed in a 12-hour session Monday to take action within 90 days on the safety and sanitary complaints, Ashley said. Employes said those issues had been ignored for over five months.

Wages were not a part of the dispute.

Hayes calls fellow solon blatant liar

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, called fellow Congressman Pierre S. DuPont, R-Del., "a categorical liar" for charging that Hays blocked campaign reform bills in committee.

In an angry rebuttal by telephone from his Flushing home, Hays said he is sponsoring a stronger bill, which should have been apparent, had DuPont read the text.

"If you've got the DuPont millions, you don't have to have any brains," he shot back.

The Delaware Republican charged during a news conference that Hays had substituted a weak bill which was a "mockery" of campaign reform.

DuPont is cosponsoring a bill before the House Administration Committee to set strict limits on the amount a single candidate could spend and the size of individual donations.

DuPont said he would try to get that bill out of committee, but also could support, with some reservations, a campaign spending reform measure recently passed in the Senate.

DuPont said he would attempt to add a ban on political contributions from special interest groups to the Senate measure.

DuPont told reporters he would endorse proposals requiring income tax disclosures by elected officials or a mandatory audit by the Internal Revenue Service.

Smoke inhalation fatal

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Shirlene Taylor, 34, died of smoke inhalation during a fire in her mobile home at LeSourdsville Tuesday, according to Butler County Coroner Dr. Garret J. Boone.

Lottery Commission angry with state

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A battle over the location of the new state Lottery Commission headquarters may have to be decided by the attorney general.

Lottery Commission members, visibly perturbed after being told that they did not have the final say in picking a headquarters site, voted 4-0 Tuesday to move into the building of their choice, even though an official of the State Department of Administrative Services told them they didn't have authority to make the choice.

The commissioners picked the Research Center building owned by the University Circle Research Center Corp., a Case Western Reserve University subsidiary.

Ray F. Weisent, administrator for space and planning of the Administrative Services Department, said his department will decide where the lottery commission locates its offices. Weisent said the department preferred the Ernest Bohn Towers in downtown Cleveland.

Lottery Commission Chairman David F. Leahy reported last week the commission had narrowed the choice to two sites—the Research Center and the Bohn towers, a housing project for the elderly located in the Erieview Urban Renewal district.

Weisent said the commissioners could only recommend a site but that the final selection would be up to his department.

Commission members said they were shocked.

Leahy said in talks in recent weeks with administrative services officials no one had given any indication that the commission couldn't make the final selection.

Commissioner Louis S. Goldman of Dayton abstained from the vote, saying that the decision was "an illegal act."

Before the vote was taken, Goldman announced that he may resign.

"This goes deeper than the location for the lottery commission," he said. "They are both good buildings. I'm considering whether I will sit on this commission any longer.

"I would like to go to the governor immediately, lay our cards on the table, and say, 'What are we? What are we doing here?'....I don't have to waste my time doing things like this."

Rattlesnake watershed hearing set for Thursday

SABINA — A public hearing to review a proposed project in the Rattlesnake Watershed, which covers a 277-square mile area in Fayette, Clinton, Highland, Greene and Madison counties, will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Sabina School cafeteria.

The meeting will be conducted by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources in cooperation with the Rattlesnake Watershed Steering Committee. The steering committee's pending application for planning assistance under the federal Small Watershed Act of 1954 will be reviewed.

The act authorizes the federal government to give technical and financial assistance to local organizations in planning and carrying out watershed projects.

Under the law, local, state and federal units of government cooperate in flood prevention and control, land drainage and management of water and related land resources.

The law is administered by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

THE PROPOSED project would include the watershed area of Lees Creek and Rattlesnake Creek upstream from the junction of Rattlesnake and Paint creeks.

Representatives of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources' watershed-planning section will be at the meeting to explain the current requirements for carrying out a program under the Small Watershed Act, to assess the need for the watershed project and to determine the level of public support for the project.

Although, the project is in a pre-planning stage, the sponsors and steering committee anticipate a significant amount of stream channelization in Fayette and Clinton counties.

Youth Activities

DEDICATED DOERS

The Dedicated Doers 4-H Club held a meeting in the home of Monica and Michelle Deskins. Linda Duncan brought the meeting to order and pledges were led by Monica. Lori Sholler gave the minutes of the last meeting and Susan Cawman reported on the balance in the treasury.

Teresa Mickle gave a safety report on "Riding a Boat." Everyone gave a good health tip. Linda Duncan gave a demonstration on "Tailor Tacking" and the meeting was adjourned by Lori Sholler and Jessica Case. Refreshments were served.

Agnew happy with life as writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "When I was young, I thought it was a lot more likely that I would grow up to be novelist than vice president of the United States. The written word has always fascinated me."

That's how former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew describes his new role as a writer. In an interview in the current issue of Ladies Home Journal, Agnew says he decided to write a novel to build confidence after a "very traumatic experience."

Agnew said he is writing every word of the novel "A Very Special Relationship," in longhand on lined yellow legal paper or dictating dialogue in the den of his Maryland home.

The book is about a vice president a decade in the future who "becomes the dupe of Iranian militants who want to cause an all-out confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union."

Agnew says he will use his personal knowledge of the vice presidency and the Washington scene but that Vice President Porter Newton Canfield of the book is not Spiro Agnew, or any other former vice president.

Canfield is a wealthy, aristocratic Ivy Leaguer who falls in love with the secretary of health, education and welfare — "beautiful, amber-eyed Meredith Lord."

"Writing these love scenes frightens me to death," says Agnew.

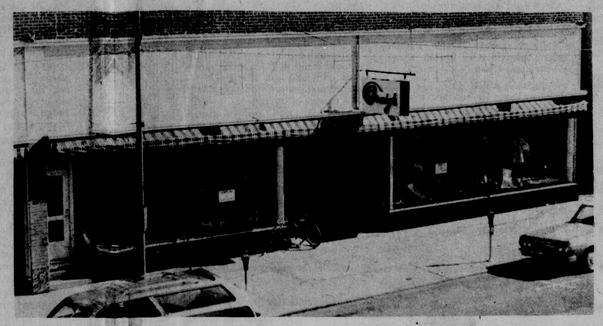

He added, "I have to admit that I won't always be writing from my own experience. I'm not a man of great experience in this area."

Solons push easier pay boosts

By TERESA C. FITTS
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Public officials could receive pay raises faster and easier should voters approve two changes of Ohio's Constitution at the primary polls.

The proposals before the voters are Issues No. 1 and No. 2 on the May 7 ballot, to modify the law prohibiting public officeholders from accepting pay raises granted during their current term.

Passage of the two constitutional amendments would allow all 33 state senators to receive $3,500 pay boosts in January, and would make statewide officeholders with four-year-terms eligible for pay raises granted between now and the end of 1972.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown predicts the two issues, plus a third creating a state board to simplify ballot language, will pass "to beat the band."

Some political observers, however, say overlapping language in the pay raise issues will lead to a court challenge should both be approved.

Unlike last year's heated debate over repeal of the state income tax, this year's constitutional ballot questions have attracted little voter interest.

"I haven't heard about any opposition to any of them," Brown said. "Our office is particularly concerned with Issue No. 3, of course.

"I don't expect you'll hear much grumbling from legislators if the first two pass," he added.

Issue No. 3 organizes a state Ballot Board to write conside, understandable language to explain proposed constitutional changes before voters.

Voter confusion about issues was blamed for last year's failure of five of seven proposed constitutional amendments.

A majority of the voters must decide "Yes" on the issues in order for them to pass.

Issue No. 1 is divided in two. Part one proposes that officials holding the same position in the same district be paid equally. That is, one county commissioner could not receive a higher salary than other county commissioners.

The second section recommends that all members of the General Assembly receive pay increases at the same time, regardless of when their terms end. Under current law, no public officer may accept a pay increase granted by the legislature during his current term.

Passage of Issue No. 1 would make the 16 state senators who aren't running for re-election this year eligible for pay raises that go into effect Jan. 1 for the 18 new or re-elected senators.

Lawmakers have already approved a salary hike for themselves from $14,000 to $17,500 annually effective Jan. 1.

Issue No. 2 would permit increases in compensation of public officials with more than two years remaining in their terms.

Passage of the issue would not affect a ban on giving pay raises to officials have served more than half of their four-year terms.

Because Issue No. 1 deals with legislators and "public officers" and Issue No. 2 mentions "public officers," which can include state senators, some political observers contend the issues conflict, and, if passed, are open to a court challenge.

"Possibly," said a spokesman for the secretary of state. "But we won't really know until they are passed."

Service Notes

On Great Lakes duty

Coast Guard Radioman 3-C Terry L. Hahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey C. Hahn, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, is helping provide assistance to commercial ships during an extension of the Great Lakes winter shipping season. He serves aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Southwind, which is on its last operational mission for the Coast Guard.

After the spring ice break-up, the cutter will be returned to its homeport here, and then leave for Baltimore the end of April.

Named flight officer

Navy Ensign James W. Libbey, son of Mr. and Mrs. MacArthur W. Libbey, Rt. 4, Washington C.H., was designated a Naval flight officer after graduating from the Airborne Tactical Data Systems Course at the naval air station in Glynco, Ga.

The course was designed to train prospective airborne combat information center officers for flight duty aboard Naval aircraft.

A 1972 graduate of the Ohio State University, Columbus, was a Bachelor of Science degree, he joined the Navy in January 1973.

Completes MP course

U.S. Marine Corps Pvt. Kenneth E. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, has completed the military police course at the U.S. Army training center at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

During the course, Pvt. Smith was trained in civil and military law, traffic control, patrolling, techniques of quelling riots and disturbances, prisoner of war control, communications, care and use of authorized weapons and unarmed defense methods.

STEP INTO FASHION WITH 4-H

With Fayette County having over 300 members enrolled in clothing projects each year, training in this area is wanted by advisers, parents, junior leaders, members and judges. We have a great opportunity coming on FRIDAY, APRIL 26th. A style show will be conducted by Mrs. Norma Deyo, State Clothing Specialist, a person from the State 4-H Office, and members of the State 4-H Fashion Board to explain the new clothing project possibilities. Several projects now are available to boys as well as girls. Most projects now have a knitting option in addition to sewing. Plan now to spend Friday evening, April 26 from 7 to 9 p.m. with us at the Washington Junior High School Auditorium to get answers and ideas for 4-H clothing projects this year.

BEFORE BUYING THAT NEW APPLIANCE

Selecting major appliance is not an easy shopping job. You must think about your family's needs, cost, and even energy use, space, noise levels, and pollution. Compounding the selection problem are the many makes, models, and features of each appliance.

Pre-purchase information is a must when you buy a major appliance. Do some armchair shopping — read the newspaper, magazines, Extension bulletins, mail order catalogs, and consumer research reports. Check at the local library for more information on equipment. You'll find our free, packet on buying major kitchen appliances very helpful too. It's available by calling 335-1150.

Such armchair shopping will give you two good ideas — what's available and what selection points about an appliance are important to you. Armed with this information, you're ready to visit several stores and do some comparison shopping.

The price of a basic appliance is a good deal less than one loaded with features. But these features may be worth the money — if you need to substitute time or energy for money. For example — features that make an appliance easier to use may be a great help to an older or physically handicapped individual.

Selecting an appliance is easier if an emergency doesn't limit your shopping time. Don't wait until the appliance quits to shop for a replacement. The amount of use and the kind of care given an appliance greatly affects its life expectancy. But, these guides may help you estimate how long an appliance will last. Ranges, refrigerators, and freezers have an average life of 15 to 16 years. Water-using equipment, such as washer and dishwashers, last an average of 9 to 11 years.

Safety is a factor that's sometimes overlooked. Manufacturers continually test in the laboratory and on the assembly line for safety and quality. Appliance companies also submit products to independent testing laboratories, such as Underwriters Laboratories. The American Gas Association conducts a national testing program for gas appliances. As you shop, watch for seals and tags, such as UL symbol, which show the appliance has been safety checked.

Remember that you, too, have a responsibility for appliance safety. Learn how to operate the appliance correctly; follow the instructions given in the appliance's use-and-care manual.

As you shop, check service facilities and availability. Be sure you understand any warranties or guarantees. Check wiring, water pressure, or any other utility needed to operate the appliance. Decide what you're going to do with the old appliance. Today's world doesn't need any junked appliances adding to the litter problem.

You'll be happier with your new appliance when you give time and thought to its selection.

Wedding date is July 6

MISS LINDA JAMES

Mr. and Mrs. Fred James, 1219 Washington Ave., announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda, to Eric E. Kipker, son of Louis L. Kipker, of Ada, and the late Mrs. Kipker.

The bride-elect, a 1969 Washington Senior High School, will graduate in May from Ohio Northern University, Ada, with a Bachelor of Science degree in pharmacy. She is a member of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority, and has been employed parttime at the Downtown Drug Store in Washington C.H.

Her fiance, a 1968 Ada High School graduate, and 1973 ONU graduate, with a Bachelor of Science degree in education, is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity. He is employed as a teacher at Shawnee High School.

The wedding, planned for July 6 in Grace United Methodist Church, will be a double wedding ceremony with her sister, Cinda.

Austin Church to purchase Bibles

Austin Methodist Women met in the church annex with Mrs. Don Sever as hostess. There were no devotions in order to clean the church sanctuary and annex to prepare for the Easter Sunrise Service and breakfast when 103 were served. There were five infants baptized and two members enrolled.

Mrs. Eugene Cockerill conducted the business session when Bible School was a topic for discussion, and it was announced that membership classes for teenagers will be taught by the Rev. David White. The church will purchase Bibles for the Seniors in the community.

Profits from a recent lunch served by the ladies was $391.73, and the auction proceeds will be announced later. Birthday wishes were sent to Mrs. Clone Taylor, who will be 88 April 323.

The May meeting will feature the 'Penny Boxes' from members. Mrs. Cockerill will bring devotions, and Mrs. Tom Starr will be hostess.

Those present were Mrs. Joe McQuiniff, Mrs. Cockerill, Mrs. Starr, Mrs. Esta McQuiniff, Mrs. Forrest Miller, Mrs. Wardie Taylor, Mrs. Chancey Overly, Mrs. Ralph Bryant, Mrs. James Starr Sr., Mrs. Don Sever and Amy and Sid Sever.

Butter labeled "sweet cream" is usually lightly salted; butter labeled "sweet" has no salt added.

Bride-elect is feted

Miss Kathy Entrekin, bride-elect of Thomas S. Jette, was honored at a miscellaneous bridal shower recently by co-hostesses, Mrs. Herbert Jones and Mrs. Steven Jette, at the Jones residence, at 121 W. Oak St.

Gifts were arranged under a pink and blue parasol, with a shower of matching streamers.

Games were won by Mrs. Wayne Entrekin, Mrs. Glen Jette, and Mrs. Thomas Entrekin, all of whom graciously presented their prizes to the guest of honor.

The guest list included, besides the guest of honor and co-hostesses, Mrs. Robert Entrekin, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Malcolm Jette, mother of the prospective groom, and daughters Shelley and Kelley, Mrs. Harold Gault, Mrs. Joan Wyatt, Mrs. Glen Jette and daughter Loretta, Mrs. Wayne Entrekin, Mrs. Thomas Entrekin and son Lee, and Miss Tina Jette.

Other invited guests unable to attend, but who sent gifts were, Mrs. Ralph Morris, Mrs. Malcolm Gault, Mrs. Ben McQuiniff, Mrs. Hamilton McMullan, Mrs. David Jackson, Mrs. Jean Kuhn and Mrs. William Gilmerr.

The wedding will be solemnized June 15, in the First Presbyterian Church.

Arts and Letters Society to meet

The seventh meeting of the National Society of Arts and Letters Columbus Chapter, will be a luncheon on the ground floor of the Clintonville Woman's Club, 3951 N. High St., at 1 p.m. Thursday.

Following a brief business meeting, Mrs. William S. Clark, past president, will introduce Mrs. Novice G. Fawcett, who will speak on a trip around the world made by the Fawcetts.

Mrs. Butler class hostess

The Kings Daughters Class of the First Christian Church met in the home of Mrs. Harry Butler for their regular business session.

Mrs. Edythe Parsley, class president, called the meeting to order. Devotions were presented by Mrs. Delores Myers in the theme of "Spiritual Work Shop," closing with the hymn "I Would Be True" and members repeating the Lord's Prayer.

The Lesson Study subject "Night of the Ghost," based on 14th chapter of Matthew was presented by class teacher, Mrs. Naomi Helm, and closed with a prayer hymn. For roll call which followed, each member responded with a special remembered Easter.

The church is raising a missionary fund for Xenia Brotherhood to assist in the rehabilitation resulting from tornado devastation. A contribution to the fund was approved by the class.

Decision of the class was that flowers provided for Easter services should be given to a convalescent home. The president reminded all of the Womens Fellowship meeting for Tuesday.

The president read a poem by Emily Dickinson entitled "If I Can Stop One Heart From Breaking" to close the session. The meeting was adjourned when members said the class benediction.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Mildred Whittington and Mrs. Myers in serving a delicious dessert which included a miniature Easter basket.

Eric Crawford is six years old

Eric Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Crawford, 531 Albin Ave., celebrated his sixth birthday Saturday. Keeping with the Easter season "Pin the Tail on the Bunny" and an Easter egg hunt was enjoyed by Eric and his friends.

Refreshments of cake, ice cream and punch were served to his kindergarten friends Amy Wyatt, Julie Boswell, Jackie Smith, Amy Arnold, Stephanie Hatmacher and Gary Brown. Also present were Carrie Ann Neff, Kevin and Angela Crawford, cousins of Eric, his brother Andy, and Wesley Wyatt. Mrs. Whitlow Wyatt assisted Mrs. Crawford in the hospitalities.

Grades to Grads CCL meets

Mrs. Roger Coe welcomed the Grades to Grads Child conservation League members to her home for the April meeting. Mrs. Robert Warnock, president, conducted the business session and announced that members should make reservations for the May banquet with her by April 25.

The slate of officers announced were: President, Mrs. Dale Ritenour; vice president, Mrs. Claude Keim; treasurer, Mrs. Ralph Hanes; recording secretary, Mrs. John Bobbitt; and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ray Bentley.

Mrs. Ritenour read an article concerning "Abortion," prepared by Michael Vrettos of the Fayette County Department. A discussion followed.

Members gave suggestions for program topics for the year. Mrs. Coe and Mrs. Marvin DeMent served refreshments.

Teacher contract matters top county board's agenda

Contract renewals for more than 50 Miami Trace School District teachers topped the business agenda during Tuesday nights meeting of the Fayette County Board of Education.

Superintendent Guy Foster announced the certified teachers whose contracts were to be renewed for the 1974-75 school year. They are as follows:

Continuing contracts - Dale Creamer, Fred Doyle, Janet Rex and Michael Yambor.

Three-year contract renewals (1974-77) — Charles Andrews, Paul Febo, Fonda Fichthorn, Pat Gall, Wallace Hill, Anne King, Janet McCarty, Carol Rhoads, Rebecca Sollars, Joyce Tudor, Robert Cosgray and Jean Ford.

Two-year contract renewals (1974-76) — Cathy Ambrose, Glenna Bish, Peggy Breakfield, Nancy Campbell, Charlotte Cassio, Harold Cook, Judy Ehlerding, Roger France, Susan Geiszler, Shirley Gilmore, Michael Henry, Richard Hill, Glenn Jacobson, Penny Johnson, David Krupla, Stephanie Krupla, Karen Shook, Sandy Stayrook, Larry Stover, Deborah Taylor, Carol Thomas, Cheryl Tutera, Fred Zechman, and Karen Bernard.

One year contract renewals (1974-75) — Timothy Bailey, Marjorie Blair, Lynda Bryan, Betsy Hamrick, Margaret James, Vicki Leasure, Marjorie Lint, Alma Litton, Gretchen Mayti, William Sowash and Thomas Yates.

THE BOARD explained that, due to law and board policy, the following temporary teachers shall be informed of the termination of their contracts: Susan Bailey, Paul Grim, Nancy Johnson, Lesley Jones, JoAnn Rhoads, Betty Shipley and Terry Sword. It is up to the board to renew the contracts if they choose to do so, in August.

The board also voted to employ three additional teachers. Debora Smith, Miamisburg, was granted a one-year (1974-75) contract with a salary of $7,702; Mary Williams, Rt. 2, was granted a 31-day contract (April 22-June 4, 1974) at a salary of $1,238.63 and Lynn Anthony, 215 Florence St., was granted a 31 half-day contract (April 22-June 4, 1974) at a salary of $555.98.

Mary Williams will replace Joseph Faris at Wayne Elementary School in Good Hope, whose resignation the board honored and the Lynn Anthony will replace Mary Watts at Wilson Elementary School, whose resignation was accepted by the board, effective April 19.

Another resignation accepted by the board was that of Christine Wolford, music teacher for Madison Mills, effective June 5.

Robert Hinchman was granted a leave of absence without pay, due to ill health, for the remainder of this school year and next year, and Larry Stover's request to be relieved of his freshman basketball coaching duties at Miami Trace High School at the end of this school year was granted.

OTHER BUSINESS included: the acceptance of the monthly financial reports and the monthly activity reports; renewal of the septic tank cleaning contract which went to Smith Septic Tank Cleaning Service for two years at $975 per year and the discussion of the sale of old buses and the purchase of new ones.

Assistant superintendent Steve Yambor announced that bids will be accepted May 31 on a minimum of four and a maximum of five, old school buses. The proposed date of sale will be June 11 and the tentative date of delivery will be March 1, 1975.

A problem posed by people living near the Wayne Elementary School baseball diamond in Good Hope was discussed by the board.

The occupants of the nearby houses have complained of baseballs hitting their homes. The board tabled the discussion pending further investigation.

The following persons were granted permission to attend professional meetings: Foster, April 17, Southwest Ohio Superintendents meeting in Wilmington and April 30 vocational school meeting in Wilmington; Ronald Lott, April 26, Title IV meeting in Hillsboro, and May 3-4, state school psychologists meeting at Salt Lake Lodge; Gilbert Jones and Donald Matthews, May 8-11, Ohio Association of Public School Employees meeting in Columbus; Fred Zechman and Doug James April 18-19, football workshop at Penn State University; Margaret Dowler, April 18 college financial aid workshop in Dayton; and Becky Cordes and Martha Fleming, May 6, regional food service workshop in Columbus.

Board president Kenneth Payton presented a vocation school report in which he announced the Ohio Board of Regents will establish the district for the five-county general-technical college. The five counties effected are: Fayette, Clinton, Adams, Brown and Highland. Two campus locations, one at Macon and one at the former Clinton County Air Force Base, have been selected by the regents.

Other business included the board's allocating $250 toward lowering the ceilings of the first and second grade classrooms at Jasper Elementary School.

The project, proposed by Marion Stockwell, president of the Milledgeville Parent-Teachers Organization, in order to conserve heat, will run over $2,000.

The next meeting of the county board will be held at Olive Elementary School at 8 p.m. May 7.

Fire code boner seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio builders' organization official has charged that an "administrative blunder" is responsible for sweeping changes in the state fire code being made without builders being notified.

The two revisions require sprinklers in all buildings over 50 feet high and automatic smoke detection devices in apartments without sprinklers.

Robert Stutz, technical director for the Building Industry Association of Central Ohio, said builders have not had time to become acquainted with the rules, which went into effect Monday.

Stutz said the Ohio Board of Building Standards held hearings on the code provisions in February, then decided in March to make them effective April 15.

"That date has come and passed and the building industry and enforcement agencies have not been given copies of the changes," Stutz charged.

76 schools damaged

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Tornadoes which swept through southwestern Ohio April 3 damaged 76 school buildings in four Ohio counties, federal officials announced Tuesday.

The Federal Disaster Assistance Administration in Dayton estimated it would cost $33.6 million to repair the structures.

The bulk of the damage was at Central State University at Wilberforce where 36 campus buildings received $20 million worth of damage, officials said.

In Xenia, 12 public school buildings suffered $12 million worth of damage, officials said.

Other damage reported by the disaster unit was at Mason School District, Warren County, $115,000; Sayler Park and Millvale Elementary schools, Cincinnati, $100,000; Oak Hills District, Cincinnati, $95,000; St. Brigid, a private elementary school, Xenia, $216,300, and at two private colleges, Wilberforce University, $750,000 and Cedarville College, $200,000.

Scioto grand jury sets special session

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)— The grand jury in Scioto County will meet in special session April 23 to look into the death of a Portsmouth woman, Prosecutor Everett Burton says.

George E. Washington, 21, of Portsmouth, has been charged with aggravated murder in the death of Sherrie Webb Moody, 22.

The woman's body was discovered on a rural road south of here Saturday.

Agency can't find housing applicants

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development field office reported it is having trouble finding tornado victims who requested temporary housing.

A spokesman said all requests have now been processed, but many persons have not followed up their requests.

The government pays free rents for such victims up to a year.

Farm energy chief said on way out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nicholas H. Smith, farm energy chief in the Agriculture Department, will be ousted from his job by May 1, according to government sources.

Smith, whose salary is $33,899 a year, announced his resignation Monday to associates, the sources said. But he told a reporter Tuesday night "no definite decision" had been made about leaving his post.

Smith flatly denied, however, that Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, now on a trip to the Far East, had requested he quit. Butz will return about April 24.

Smith joined USDA a year ago as a political appointee in the department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. He was named to head farm energy surveillance for the agency on June 27 last year.

As recently as March 29, Butz reaffirmed Smith as head of the department's energy operations.

"Mr. Nicholas H. Smith has been designated by the ASCS administrator as director of USDA energy management activities. Liaison with the Federal Energy Office will be through his office," the memorandum signed by Butz said.

None of three sources which said Smith will be ousted was able or willing to pinpoint the reason. However, one said Smith might have ad libbed too much on policy matters during farm energy testimony before congressional committees.

The source said Butz — or perhaps those near him — may have become concerned that Smith was "too busy making policy instead of carrying out the party line" formulated by Nixon farm officials.

Smith has a 1,700-acre crops and dairy farm in Michigan and reportedly may return there to head those operations.

U.S. Tornado Belt

TORNADOES' DEADLY WINDS roar across many parts of the world..... continental plains of North America are their favorite birthplace. Center of maximum frequency changes with season: February over the central Gulf States; March and April, moves east to southeast Atlantic states; May, southern plains; and June, north to northern plains and Great Lakes area as far east as western New York. Reason for drift? Tornadoes are born most often when warm, moist air masses battle with cool, dry air. As the whole area warms up, tornado frequency lessens.

A warning . . . just in case!

The springtime skies might have been ominous rather than inviting as the warning siren atop the Fayette County Courthouse wailed today.

It was only a test — the first step in an effort to provide an alert for Washington C.H. residents and dwellers on nearby farms who might someday be in the path of a killer tornado such as the one which struck Xenia two weeks ago.

It could happen here.

A GLANCE at the map above shows that Fayette County is on the eastern edge of the U.S. tornado belt — the eastern edge of an area where twisters are "occasional" rather than "frequent".

The zone seems to end at the edge of the Southeastern Ohio hills outside Circleville, although tornadoes may drop down anywhere under certain weather conditions.

And it has happened here!

During the late evening of Sept. 8, 1885, a tornado (then called a "cyclone") spiraled into Washington C.H. from the southwest, striking the city about 8 p.m. Within minutes six persons were dead, homes and business buildings were shattered.

There was no weather warning system at that time, and those who first spotted the funnel cloud near Selden on the CCC Highway, southwest of Washington C.H., were unable to alert the residents of Washington C.H.

Historians say that the storm moved into Fayette County from Greene County, of which recently devastated Xenia is the county seat.

THE WASHINGTON C.H. damage estimate after the 1885 tornado struck was "in excess of $500,000". A storm of that intensity today would have destroyed millions of dollars worth of property and probably would have claimed many more lives, since much of the suburban area in the path of the 1885 storm was undeveloped farm land at the time.

The number of injuries in the "Cyclone of 1885" was never accurately estimated, although it was considered providentially small for a storm which traveled along the ground for at least 12 miles.

Pictures of the damage are still on display in a frame on the main floor lobby at the Court House.

Tornadoes form most often on hot, humid days of April, May and June, usually between noon and midnight, when a mass of cool air meets a warm air mass. Usually, although not always, they are preceded by severe thunderstorms, hail and lightning.

Listed in adjoining columns are precautions you should consider if you are warned that a tornado is approaching, or if you see a funnel cloud.

How to protect yourself!

The tornado is the most sudden of all weather disasters — the most powerful storm with the most extreme wind force.

Instant shelter is the only one way to save life; preferably below ground level and away from windows.

The best protection is a storm cellar, or cave, with an air outlet to equalize air pressure.

IN TOWN take shelter in a building; steel-framed or concrete reinforced buildings are safest. Stand against interior walls or in hallways on lowest floors. Avoid tops of buildings; the tornado will often shear off the roof and upper floors. Also, avoid small brick and masonry block buildings since they usually lack reinforcement and may crumple in the wind. Avoid buildings with large area roofs such as gymnasiums, auditoriums and theaters; they may collapse from the air pressure.

AT HOME your basement, usually the side nearest the tornado, is best. A basement with a poured-slab wall is safer than one with a mortared wall since mortared walls collapse more easily when cracked. If you have no basement, head for the nearest neighbor that does. If there is no time, hug an inside wall closest to the center of your house. Closets and bathrooms on the first floors often survive a tornado and may provide protection.

Sturdy furniture, such as a heavy table or piano, offers protection from collapsing roofs or chimenys; curl up underneath to protect your head and eyes. Open windows and doors on the side of the room away from the tornado to lessen the chance of an explosion when air pressure drops as the tornado roars by.

OUTDOORS you best bet is not to panic. A tornado moves in a straight line, almost like a crayon line across a sheet of paper. If the funnel grows larger, it is coming closer to you. If you are walking or driving, try to avoid the tornado by moving away at a right angle. If you cannot escape, lie face down in the nearest ditch, depression or hollow.

AUTOS may outrun a tornado, since the storms usually travel between 25-40 miles per hour; but if it appears you may be trapped, get out of the car and head for the nearest hollow. Tornadoes toss cars, trucks and trailers around like pebbles.

In buildings with many people, power and fuel lines should be turned off and lookout posted to give warning if the tornado approaches.

Tornadoes occur most often on hot, humid days in April, May and June; mostly between noon and midnight. During thunderstorms watch for clouds that are turning rapidly around a central point and form into a vertical mass, almost like a finger; this may be a tornado in the making.

When the "finger" of clouds touches the ground it looks like a funnel and becomes a tornado, a twister. It whirls around at great speed creating winds on the outside and a vacuum on the inside. The longer that funnel touches the ground the more dirt and debris it sucks up; thus it becomes darker in color and more visible in daylight.

At night or in heavy rain or dust clouds when you cannot see the twister you will feel and hear the wind increase in velocity and volume as the tornado approaches; you have two to three minutes of warning when you feel a sudden increase in the strength and sound of the wind.

When that happens, head for cover at once.

Ohio Perspective

Plasma problems worry officials

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fifty cases of infectious hepatitis reportedly stemming from bad blood plasma techniques have Ohio health officials worried.

They are pushing for legislation that will give them control over the state's plasma donor centers.

Rep. Richard L. Wittenberg, D-44 Toledo, introduced the control legislation the Department of Health wants in the House April 3.

"The state health department has encountered problems with blood plasma centers and has given strong support to this bill," said Wittenberg.

Dr. John N. Ackerman, chief of the communicable diseases division, said about 35 cases of serum hepatitis have been reported among donors in the Akron area as a result of faulty techniques and procedures. In some cases the victims were selling blood.

"Along with several other scattered cases they probably total more than 50," said Ackerman.

Ackerman said the state moved in in each instance to advise and recommend corrections in a bid to eliminate dangers. Under the Ohio sanitary code the state has no legal powers to control plasma centers.

Wittenberg's bill would apply only to those plasma centers practicing the relatively new technique of plasmapheresis, a process under which only the plasma is retained and the remaining substances, including red blood cells, are returned to the donor.

Plasmapheresis is more attractive than taking whole blood in one sense—donors may give a pint twice in one week because their blood regenerates faster.

Only a few such centers now operate in Ohio, including two in Columbus, two in Cleveland, one in Akron and one in the Toledo area.

Regular blood banks, Ackerman said, are regulated well by the federal government.

If enacted, Wittenberg's bill would require all commercial plasma centers to keep a record of the donor's dealth, including a doctor's certification a week prior to donation. The doctor would have to certify the donor did not show a positive reaction to serum hepatitis.

Positive reactors would be barred from selling their blood, along with anyone having syphilis or who has been under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

Water project decisions delayed

By DEAN SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio communities will not learn if they will receive federal funding for water improvement projects until mid-May, a spokeswoman for the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency said.

Noreen Wills said Tuesday the final priority list for determining which communities get funded will not be completed until later this month. She said it is hoped the U.S. EPA regional office in Chicago will act on the list within two weeks.

Mrs. Wills said the final list has been delayed because of 500 changes in the original list of 828 projects. The Ohio EPA had hoped to have the list completed by early April.

"We had 500 total changes in the list and that has caused some delay," she said. "About 300 municipalities have asked that their points be recalculated and then 200 communities wanted their projects added to the list.

"We simply can't recalculate that many and revise the list and still get it out on time."

Communities throughout the state have been anxious to see the final list because it will determine if and when they get funding in the next year.

Each water improvement project has been rated and those with the highest points will get the money. Only 60-100 projects of the now 1,058 will receive federal money, Mrs. Wills said.

She said the Ohio EPA will disburse the $173 million in fiscal 1974 according to the final list. When that money runs out, she said, the agency will then begin distributing the $193 million for fiscal 1975.

Despite the delay in revising the list, she said communities in line for the money will not have to wait.

Mrs. Wills said, "We don't anticipate any grant delay for the communities. We have been working closely with them to get their plans ready. So when the approval comes through they can begin."

The priority list has been held up nearly a year.

Last summer, the U.S. EPA rejected as inadequate Ohio's first list of 225 projects. The federal agency asked the state to use additional information in compiling the list and include all possible projects.

After that, the list grew to 858 and then to 1,058 after public hearings last month.

The results of experiments carried out in 1943 have shown that the fastest messages transmitted by the nervous system travel at 265 m.p.h. With advancing age, impulses are carried 15 per cent more slowly.

Charles Chaplin given serenade

CORSIER-SUR-VEVEY, Switzerland (AP) — Silent movie king Charles Chaplin was serenaded by local school children and given four bottles of wine by Corsier's mayor Tuesday on his 85th birthday.

"I am intensely happy to be alive," Chaplin said in an interview.

The comedian spent his birthday with his wife Oona and their three youngest children at Chaplin's 37-acre estate overlooking Lake Geneva.

The gift of wine is a tradition here for honoring octogenarians.

Nixon's nephew gets married

NEW YORK — President Nixon's nephew Donald A. Nixon has married 23-year-old Helene Lipsky of Wantagh, Long Island.

The marriage was confirmed by the bride's mother, Mrs. Boran Lipsky. She said the couple was married two weeks ago in Costa Rica.

Donald is the son of the President's brother, F. Donald Nixon, and is employed as an aide to indicted financier Robert L. Vesco, who has been living as a fugitive in Costa Rica and the Bahamas.

Student sentiment sought at OU

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—A call for a poll Wednesday night of student sentiment has been issued by organizers of a workers' union strike at Ohio University.

Picketing of Nelson Commons cafeteria at OU began Tuesday morning by about 50 student workers. The cafeteria is the university's largest food service facility.

The pickets demanded recognition of their union from the school. The union claims about 200 members from the 1,200 student employes on campus.

Cook named president of WCH Lions Club

The Washington C.H. Lions Club elevated Ralph Cook to the office of president in the annual election held following the regular dinner meeting Tuesday night in the Country Club.

The 79 club members attending also heard Dr. Byers W. Shaw present facts regarding colon and rectal cancer and a project being sponsored in Washington C.H. for detection of the disease.

The club's board of directors, following the regular session, voted to contribute $500 to aid the relief for tornado victims in Xenia. The contributions will be forwarded to the Xenia Lions Club for proper distribution.

Cook, 1229 High St., owner of Cook Home Improvements and a member of Washington C.H. City Council for 13 years, assumes the office of club president after serving the past year as vice president. He succeeds David Looker.

OTHER NEW officers are Richard Coates, first vice president; Jesse Persinger, second vice president; George Naylor, third vice president; Benjamin G. Roby, secretary; William Lucas, assistant secretary; James Polk, treasurer; Harold Thompson, assistant treasurer; Gene Sagar, tail twister, and David Boswell, Lion tamer.

Two new members were also elected to the board of directors. They were Wesley Cox and Larry Lehman.

Dr. Shaw, a Lions Club member, said that the second most common cancer of men and women is cancer of the colon and rectum. He said there are 76,000 new cases a year and 47,000 deaths.

"The cure is no better now than it was 30 years ago and this is because the diagnosis is made too late," Dr. Shaw noted. "If these cases could be diagnosed earlier, the chance for survival would be vastly improved."

He promoted a colon cancer detection clinic which will be held Sunday, April 28, in the Medical Arts Building, Willard Street. The clinic is being sponsored by the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society. Men and women over 40 years of age are urged to attend.

Dr. Shaw showed a film and later fielded questions from the audience. The program was arranged by Persinger.

During the business meeting, it was announced by Coates that the annual cleaning project of Roszmann Field will be held during the April 30 meeting.

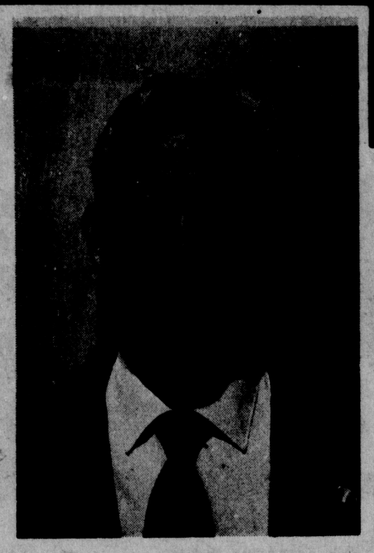

Lewis Overturf, of West Jefferson, was a guest with Bart Mahoney.

Annual TB meeting to be held Monday

The annual meeting of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association will be held Monday, April 22 at 6:30 p.m. in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

Mrs. John Summers, executive director of the South Central Ohio Lung Association, will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. George Finley, president of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association, will conduct the business meeting.

(Amended Senate Joint Resolution No. 15)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and proposing to enact section 20a of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to equalize the compensation of public officers and members of the General Assembly.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the primary election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, a proposal to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and a proposal to enact section 20a of Article II, of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, to read as follows:

ARTICLE II

Section 20. The General Assembly, in cases not provided for in this constitution, shall fix by law the term of office and the compensation of all public officers; but no change therein shall affect the compensation of any officer during his existing term, unless the office be abolished; provided, however, that if an officer elected to the same office from the same district on taking office receives a greater compensation, such rate of compensation shall thereupon be payable to each of the other officers holding the same office in that district.

An officer who is appointed to fill a vacancy in an elective office shall not be entitled to receive more compensation than any elected officer holding the same office in the same district is receiving at the time such appointed officer takes office.

Section 31. The members and officers of the General Assembly shall receive a fixed compensation, to be prescribed by law, and no other allowance or perquisites, either in the payment of postage or otherwise; and no change in their compensation shall take effect during the legislative biennium within which it was made.

Section 20a. Notwithstanding Section 20 of Article II of the Constitution of Ohio, any increase in compensation fixed by the General Assembly for any public officer, which, because of its being made during his term of office, does not become payable to such officer until after two years from the date of its enactment, shall nevertheless become effective and payable on and after the effective date of the enactment of such increase in compensation.

SCHEDULE

The secretary of state shall place upon the ballot as separate issues the proposal to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and the proposal to enact sections 20a of Article II, of the Constitution of Ohio, so as to permit the electorate to vote separately on each such proposal.

If a majority of the electors voting on the foregoing proposed amendments, at the primary election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, adopt the same, they shall become part of the Constitution of the State of Ohio and existing sections 20 and 31 of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio shall be repealed.

(Amended House Joint Resolution No. 61)

JOINT RESOLUTION

To amend Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to provide for preparation of the language which appears on the ballot when the General Assembly proposes a constitutional amendment so that it will properly identify the substance of the proposal, to provide procedures for timely challenges to the adoption and submission of such amendments, and to assure information to the voters about such amendments.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at a special election to be held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, a proposal to amend Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE XVI

Section 1. Either branch of the general assembly may propose amendments to this constitution; and, if the same shall be agreed to by three-fifths of the members elected to each house, such proposed amendments shall be entered on the journals, with the yeas and nays, and shall be filed with the secretary of state at least ninety days before the date of the election at which they are to be submitted to the electors, for their approval or rejection. They shall be submitted on a separate ballot without party designation of any kind, at either a special or a general election as the general assembly may prescribe.

The ballot language for such proposed amendments shall be prescribed by a majority of the Ohio ballot board consisting of the secretary of state and four other members, who shall be designated in a manner prescribed by law and not more than two of whom shall be members of the same political party. The ballot language shall properly identify the substance of the proposal to be voted upon. The ballot need not contain the full text nor a condensed text of the proposal. The board shall also prepare an explanation of the proposal, which may include its purpose and effects, and shall certify the ballot language and the explanation to the secretary of state not later than seventy-five days before the election. The ballot language and the explanation shall be available for public inspection in the office of the secretary of state.

The supreme court shall have exclusive, original jurisdiction in all cases challenging the adoption or submission of a proposed constitutional amendment to the electors. No such case challenging the ballot language, the explanation, or the actions or procedures of the general assembly in adopting and submitting a constitutional amendment shall be filed later than sixty-four days before the election. The ballot language shall not be held invalid unless it is such as to mislead, deceive, or defraud the voters.

Unless the general assembly otherwise provides by law for the preparation of arguments for and, if any, against a proposed amendment, the board may prepare such arguments.

Such proposed amendments, the ballot language, the explanations, and the arguments, if any, shall be published once a week for three consecutive weeks preceding such election, in at least one newspaper of general circulation in each county of the state, where a newspaper is published. The general assembly shall provide by law for other dissemination of information in order to inform the electors concerning proposed amendments. An election on a proposed constitutional amendment submitted by the general assembly shall not be enjoined nor invalidated because the explanation, arguments, or other information is faulty in any way. If the majority of the electors voting on the same shall adopt such amendments the same shall become a part of the constitution. When more than one amendment shall be submitted at the same time, they shall be so submitted as to enable the electors to vote on each amendment, separately.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take immediate effect and existing Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed.

Youth hurt in cycle mishap

A motorcycle accident sent a Fayette County youth to Fayette Memorial Hospital Tuesday, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported. City police investigated a minor accident.

Deputies said James J. East, 16, Rt. 4, Washington C. H., sustained injury to his right leg when his motorcycle ran into the rear of a car stopped in traffic on Ohio 41, 30 feet north of Peddicord Road in Union Township. The car was driven by Ronald E. Moore, 16, U.S. 62-S.

East was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by ambulance service where he was admitted. He was listed in satisfactory condition by hospital officials Wednesday.

Sheriff's deputies reported minor damage to the car and moderate damage to the motorcycle.

Slight damage was reported in an accident between cars driven by Joseph C. Stackhouse, 50, of 1228 E. Paint St., and David M. Matson II, 24, of 826 Washington Ave. at 11:03 a.m. Tuesday.

The mishap occurred in a private drive off of Columbus Avenue, near Blackstone Street, police said.

B'burg man hurt in cycle crash

A Bloomingburg man was hospitalized Tuesday following a motorcycle accident at his residence.

Charles W. Sigert, 48, of Bloomingburg, wrecked his motorcycle while riding it in a field behind his home at 4:15 p.m., Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported.

He suffered an injury to his left arm and facial abrasions and is presently listed in satisfactory condition at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Terrorists crazy, plane victim feels

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A young survivor of a 1973 Rome terrorist attack that killed 32 said she is trying to keep from becoming prejudiced.

But the 19-year-old Robyn Haggard, an American who lives with her parents in Saudi Arabia, believes the Palestinian terrorists who blew up her airplane after a gunfight were "crazy."

Miss Haggard just underwent more skin grafts at Holmes Hospital here and will return this weekend to her home.

She was returning home for the Christmas holidays from Knoxville, Tenn., where she was attending high school when the terrorists boarded the plane at Fiumicino Airport. Her cousin, Bonnie Presnell, who later died of burns, was with her.

The plane was delayed and then the pilot told the passengers to lie on the floor because a hijacking was occurring. Earlier, a policeman had been killed in an airport lounge. Minutes later, the girls saw a hijacker board and drop a phosphorus grenade in Robyn's seat.

She was turning away when it exploded, burning her left side, hands and face. She has been in and out of hospitals since.

"Everything went black. It was all smokey," she recalls. "I couldn't breathe, I don't know where Bonnie went. I stood up. I was tripping on my clothes and I ran down the aisle," said the slim brunnette.

Someone opened an emergency door and she and others leap to the wing. More explosions went off inside the plane.

Afterwards, the hijackers flew aboard another plane to Kuwait.

"I try my best not to be prejudiced, but those five were crazy. They came to our plane deliberately to kill us all. We were innocent, and they killed all they wanted to around the airport.

"When they did surrender they gave victory signs" at Kuwait, she said.

I think they were crazy," said the daughter of an oral surgeon for an oil company.

She said her hardest moment recently was flying back to the United States a month ago when her plane landed for a layover at the same Rome airport.

Sunnyside has open house

An open house was held Tuesday night at Sunnyside Elementary School by the school's Parent-Teacher Organization. A total of 75 persons attended.

Sunnyside Elementary School, which opened in 1939, will be closed at the end of the school year by the Washington C.H. Board of Education as a money-saving measure.

Mrs. Ed Warning, PTO president, conducted the program and teachers and the school principal were recognized.

Henry Best, school principal, was presented an attache case and Mrs. Faye Morrow, Mrs. Lucille Davis, Miss Mary Blazer, Mrs. Barbara Eakins, Miss Alexis Wackman and Mrs. Frances Tye, all teachers at the S. Fayette Street facility, were presented charms engraved with the dates of their teaching tenure at the school. Mrs. Warning received a corsage from Best.

All of the elementary classrooms were decorated for the event, and small ribbons with the name Sunnyside School were given to each guest.

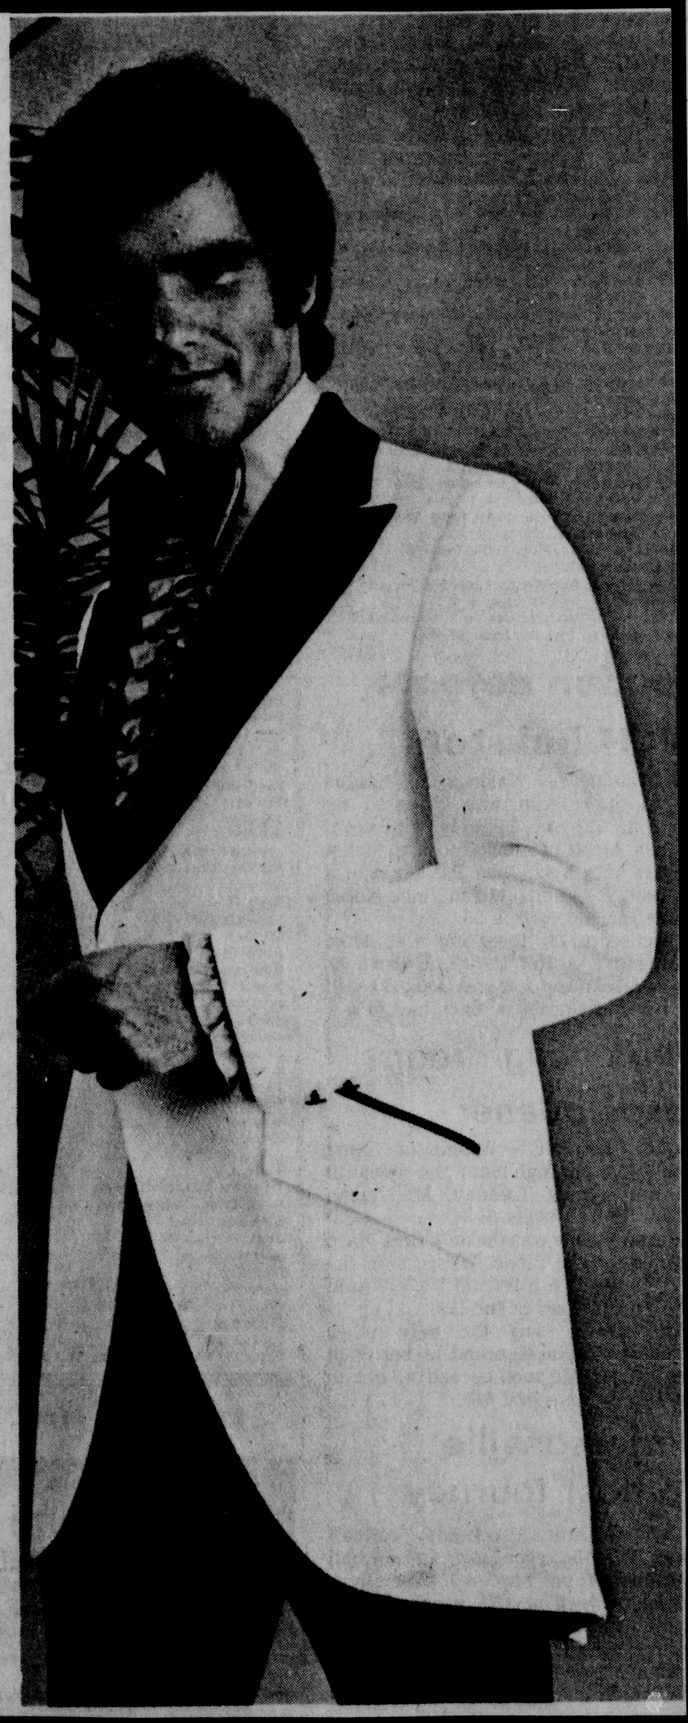

Serving on the social committee for the open house were Mrs. James Richards and Mrs. Charles Harris.

Blow 3-1 lead in final inning

Dodgers rout Reds, 5-3

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Los Angeles pitcher Andy Messersmith says the Dodgers haven't forgotten the team's 1973 collapse and the disastrous string of late-season defeats to the Cincinnati Reds.

"This win has to help us. It's what the Reds did to us last year...come from behind all the time. We remembered it," said Messersmith, who homered the Dodgers to a 5-3 victory in the 11th inning Tuesday night.

The triumph came after it appeared the Reds were on their way to winning their eighth game in their last nine outings against the Dodgers.

"You shouldn't lose games like this," said Reds' Manager George "Sparky" Anderson.

The Dodgers rallied from a 3-1 deficit on Jim Wynn's solo homer and a run-scoring single by Willie Crawford.

Relief ace Jim Brewer, 1-0, then handcuffed the Reds with three hitless innings. It was Brewer's first duty in nine days.

"I don't have to pitch every day," said Brewer. "Off two weeks and I will still be sharp as long as I throw on the sidelines."

The Reds tagged Messersmith for a run in the second inning on Dave Concepcion's runscoring double. In the third inning, Messersmith gave up walks to starter Clay Kirby and Pete Rose and a single to Joe Morgan. Danny Driessen then blasted a two-run double.

Kirby checked the Dodgers on three hits for seven innings before leaving with a minor muscle pull in his back.

In the 11th, Rick Auerbach opened the rally with a single and was sacrified to second by Willie Crawford. Loser Fred Norman walked Joe Ferguson and Steve Garvey loaded the bags with a single.

Bill Russell then hit a smash to left field that was missed by the diving Pete Rose and two runs were scored.

"Usually," said Russell, "when I hit balls like that they're caught. I concentrate more with men on base." He had 56 runs batted in last year hitting eighth in the lineup.

"It was close," said Rose. "I missed it by about six inches. Even if I had caught it, a run would have scored."

"We're fortunate to have a guy like Auerbach to back up Russell and be able to play third and second too," smiled Dodger Manager Walter Alston.

Manager Anderson said he hopes for a split in the two-game series. He sends Roger Nelson, 0-1, against Al Downing, 0-2 tonight.

"We've got to stop Los Angeles from getting too far out front," he said. "You know they were ahead by 11 games once last year before they faded and we caught them.

"We want to be out front or within a few games by All Star time."

The Dodgers are two full games out front now with an 8-3 season record. Cincinnati is 4-5.

East Clinton raps Blue Lions, 10-5

Washington C.H. Blue Lion varsity baseball squad was stung Monday evening by the East Clinton Astros at East Clinton by a score of 10-5. East Clinton led the Lions 7-0 after the first three innings. The loss sends the Lions' season mark to 1-3 while their SCOL record remains 1-1.

The Astros started early and never seemed to let up. A triple, two singles, and two walks quickly netted their first inning's three runs. In a repeat of the first, a double, two singles, a walk, and two errors gained three second frame runs and the Astros led quickly 6-0.

The Astros struck again in the third on a single, a walk, and alert base running. The result was an insurmountable 7-0 lead. The Lions finally go rolling in the fourth on a walk to Herb Bonner, a single by Sam Beedy and two throwing errors by East Clinton. The Astros did not let up and scored another run in the bottom of the fourth on a single, a walk and an error to make the score 8-2.

The Lions scored their final three runs in the sixth on a walk to Craig Shaffer, a double by Alan Coppock, a walk to Duke Willis and two fielders choices. The Astros picked their final two runs in the bottom of the sixth on four singles.

The winner was Jan Rittenhouse for the Astros, who worked five innings and gave up four hits and no earned runs. The loser was Larry Dumford, who in his two innings, gave up six hits and six runs, only three of which were earned. The bright spots for the Lions were the relief pitching by Greg McCune and the hitting of Alan Coppock who went three-for-four.

Lions' jayvees best Panthers

Behind the hitting and pitching of Mark Lamberson, Washington C.H. reserve team easily handed the reserves from Miami Trace a 10-3 setback.

Lamberson allowed just three hits to the Panthers and none of the runs he gave up were earned. In his seven innings of pitching, Lamberson struck out 10 and walked five.

Lamberson's double in the second inning brought the Lions' first two runs across the plate. Lamberson's double and Doug Phillips' triple were the only extra base hits for the Lions in their nine hit attack.

The Panthers received a triple from the bat of Mark Spears.

Pantherettes extend streak

Miami Trace girls' softball squad ran its perfect record to three games with a 7-2 win over Springfield Southeastern, Tuesday.

Debbie Morarity and Pam Matson swung the big bats for the Pantherettes. Morarity tripled with the bases loaded in the third inning to give Miami Trace a 3-0 lead. Matson's double scored two more runners in the seventh.

Thursday, Miami Trace and Washington Senior High square-off on the Lions' field.

Boston sinks Knicks, 111-99

NEW YORK (AP) — Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn gambled and won.

New York Coach Red Holzman took a chance and lost.

And because of those two decisions, the Celtics beat the Knicks 111-99 Tuesday night and took a commanding 2-0 lead in their National Basketball Association Eastern Conference best-of-seven final series, which continues in Boston Friday night.

In the only other pro basketball action Tuesday night the Milwaukee Bucks whipped the Chicago Bulls 101-85 in game one of the NBA Western Conference finals.

The moves by Heinsohn and Holzman both came in the decisive third period, when the Celtics turned a 60-53 halftime deficit into an 86-74 lead, outscoring New York 33-14.

Heinsohn took his calculated risk with 3:10 remaining in the quarter when his superstar and captain, John Havlicek, incurred his fifth personal foul. The Celtics, spurred by a 19-4 run early in the period, including 10 consecutive points, were leading 78-72 when Havlicek charged into Dean Meminger for his fifth foul.

But instead of taking him out and having him available for the usually vital fourth quarter, Heinsohn left him in the game.

"I kept him in because that's where the game was going to be won or lost," explained Heinsohn. "If I take him out, it's like he committed his sixth personal."

The decision paid off. Havlicek, who had fired in a remarkable 19 points in the first period—only three short of the NBA playoff record of 22—hitting his last seven shots for Boston's final 14 points of the quarter, didn't draw another foul. He played the rest of the way and wound up as the game's high scorer with 27 points.

Tigers streak past Panther thinclads

WILMINGTON — Miami Trace could only manage to win five events, as the Panthers bowed to Wilmington by the score of 71-47 in track, Tuesday evening.

Ron Warnock was the only double winner for the Panthers. Warnock won the discus with a heave of 122'8" and the shot with a put of 477'6".

The other winners for Miami Trace were Ernie Perry in the two mile, Gary Combs in the 880 and Kurt Neff in the high hurdles.

Hillsboro will visit the Panthers next Tuesday.

Teays Valley wipes out Miami Trace margin

Miami Trace's one run lead was not enough, as Teays Valley bombed relief pitcher Kevin Dunn for six runs in the final two innings to pull out a 8-3 victory.

Sophomore Greg Cobb gave the Panthers a 3-0 lead in the second inning. Cobb tripled with the bases loaded and wound up with four hits in four trips to the plate during the day.

The Vikings reached starter Bob Phillips for two runs in the top of the fifth. Jim Althaus reached base on an error and Greg Lambert doubled. Hal Southers' single brought both runners home.

Dunn relieved Phillips in the sixth and was greeted with a four-run uprising. Singles by Jim Stuthard, Terry Glitt and Ron McPherson quickly loaded the bases. McPherson was picked-off, but Althaus walked to put three men on again. Lambert followed with a triple, scoring all three runners, and he later scored on a wild pitch.

Two more runs were added to the Vikings tally in the seventh when Bill Williams came through with a triple, while Glitt and McPherson were on base.

Miami Trace is now 2-4 for the season. The Panthers travel to Madison Plains this evening.

London defeats WCH linksters

LONDON — Washington Senior High's golf team was defeated by London, 183-190, Tuesday afternoon.

Jack Alcott of London took medalist honors with a 42. John Phillips shot a 44, Doug Rice had a 47 and Vince Morse came through with a 50.

Top score for the Lions was Mike Stanforth's 44. Rob Harris carded a 46, Danny Dean had a 49 and Doug Boswell and David Garringer each had 51's.

Junior high team loses opener

CHILLICOTHE — Washington Court House's junior high team met defeat in its first outing Tuesday. Mt. Logan outscored the Lions 65-34.

Leroy Wilson was the only first place winner for the Lions. Wilson won the high jump with a leap of 5'4". Wilson also took second in the 220.

Bill Davis was the only other trackster to place second or better in two events. He took second places in the broad jump and 440.

Jeffersonville to host tourney

Jeffersonville Merchants' softball team will be sponsoring a softball tournament on May 4-5. The tournament, which is ASA sanctioned, is open to the first 20 Class A or B teams to apply.

All interested coaches should contact Bill Merriman, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville by April 26.

Absent: Louvicia Woodfork and Gail Graf.

Lions win first against Shermans

By LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Winning nine events and sweeping the top three places in three events, Washington Senior High School captured its first victory of the season with a dual meet upset of Class A Unioto, the newest entry to the South Central Ohio League.

The Blue Lions out scored the Shermans 74-53. However, the victory margin was quite deceiving, as the Tanks lost their top sprinter, Randy Sprouse, at the finish of the 100 yard dash.

Sprouse pulled a hamstring in his right leg, forcing him to be scratched from the 220, 880 relay and his final leap in the long jump. Sprouse had just won the 100 when his leg gave out on him. With Sprouse gone, the Shermans had to reshuffle team members in several events.

Washington picked up a total of 27 points on the Shermans in three field events, the Achilles' heel of this year's Unioto tracksters. The Lions shut out the Shermans in the discus, pole vault and high jump. Unioto swept the top three spots in the shot put, as Lions' strongman John Sanderson fouled on all three attempts.

Chuck Wilson was the only individual double event winner for the Lions. Wilson took first in the long jump with a leap of 18'9½" and first in the high jump, as he cleared 5-4". Wilson was also a member of the winning 880 relay team.

Final Team Totals — 1. Washington (w) 74, 2. Unioto (u) 53.
High Hurdles — 1. Tom Allen (w) 2. Fout (u) 3. Dove (w) Time: 16.3.

New voting precincts create boundary changes

Two new voting precincts, one in Washington C.H. and the other in Union Township, will be used for the first time since being created in early January when Fayette County residents go to the polls for the May primary election.

The new precincts are 3-E in the city's Third Ward and Union North which becomes the fourth voting precinct in Union Township.

Boundaries of four precincts in two of the city's wards are affected by the creation of the new 3-E precinct, and the creation of the Union North precinct changed the boundaries of the Union East, Union South and Union West precincts.

The new 3-E precinct affects the boundaries of precincts 3-B and 3-D in Washington C.H.'s Third Ward and precincts 2-C and 2-D in the city's Second Ward. The boundaries of precincts 2-A, 2-E, 3-A and 3-C are not changed.

Polling places have been established by the Fayette County Board of Elections for voters in the two new precincts. Voters in 3-E will cast their ballots at BelleAire Elementary School, and residents of the new Union North precinct will vote at Eber Junior High School.

Here are the boundaries of the new precincts and those old precincts affected by the creation of the new ones:

PRECINCT 3-E

(New precinct)

Beginning at the DT&I Railroad crossing on Circle Avenue, west to High Street, the east side of High Street to Comfort Lane and the north side of Comfort Lane to the corporation line to the DT&I Railroad and north along the DT&I Railroad to Circle Avenue.

PRECINCT 3-B

Bounded on the north by the south side of Court Street and Leesburg Avenue, on the west by the Washington C.H. corporation line, on the south by the corporation line and north side of W. Elm Street to High Street to Circle Avenue and the DT&I Railroad to Court Street.

PRECINCT 3-D

Bounded on the north by the Washington C.H. corporation line and south side of W. Elm Street to High Street, on the west and on the south by the coporation line. Bounded on the east by the west side of High Street to Comfort Lane and and the south side of Comfort Lane from High Street to the coporation line.

UNION NORTH

(New precinct)

Starting at Ohio 41 and Paint Creek following the township line east to the B&O Railroad (Newark Division); following the railroad south to the Washington C.H. corporation line; following the corporation line west to the intersection of the B&O Railroad (Toledo Division) and the Washington C.H. corporation line; following the railroad north to the township line and the township line east to the starting point.

UNION EAST

Starting at the township line and the B&O Railroad (Newark Division) following the township line in a southerly direction to the B&O Railroad (Toledo Division); following the B&O Railroad west to the Washington C. H. corporation line north to the B&O Railroad (Newark Division), following the railroad north to the starting point.

UNION SOUTH

Starting at the B&O Railroad (Toledo Division), township line intersection, following the township line south and west to Sugar Creek, U.S. 62 intersection; following the east side of U.S. 62 to the Washington C. H. corporation line to the B&O Railroad (Toledo Division) and along the railroad to the starting point.

UNION WEST

Starting at the intersection of Sugar Creek and U.S. 62-S, following the township line north and east to the B&O Railroad (Toledo Division); following the railroad southeast to the Washington C. H. corporation line to U.S. 62-S; following the west side of U.S. 62 south to the starting point.

Mrs. Mary Jean Jennings, elections director, said there are two new polling places in the county this year.

Washington C. H. residents, who formerly voted at 509 Washington Ave., will now cast their ballots at the Washington Lumber Co., 319 Broadway.

County voters residing in the Union East precinct will now vote at Anders Greenhouse, CCC Highway-E. Those voters in the Union East precinct formerly voted at Eber Junior High School.

Here is a list of the 44 city and county polling places:

Kiwanis Teen Talent Show to present 18 acts

PIANO AUDITION — Ann K. Black, a Washington Senior High School student, auditions on the piano prior to the seventh annual Teen Talent Show, sponsored by the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club. The show will be held at 8 p.m. Friday.

LISA MORGAN

Guitar soloist

TAP DANCE ROUTINE — Cynthia Morrow, Loree Johnson and Christy Tarbutton audition their tap dance routine at an audition held by the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club. The tap dance routine will be among 18 acts presented by the annual Teen Talent production Friday night.

Eighteen acts, involving 43 Washington Senior and Miami Trace high school students, have been booked for the seventh annual Teen Talent Show Friday night.

The Teen Talent Show, which will be staged at 8 p.m. in the Washington Junior High School auditorium, is sponsored by the Washington C. H. Kiwanis Club.

Kiwanians reviewed 27 acts during auditions held in the Junior High School auditorium, but the performance has been narrowed down to 18 acts to keep the show within a two-hour limit.

The 43 students will be competing for a first place cash award of $150; second place of $100; third place of $50 and fourth place of $25. The remainder of the proceeds raised by the Kiwanis Club through admissions will be forwarded to scholarship funds at Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools.

ALTHOUGH all Kiwanis Club members are involved in the production in some capacity, three non-members will be assuming the key roles.

Donald Riber, of Washington C. H., is serving as the show's director and Mrs. Cinda Stinson, vocal music director at Miami Trace High School, is the assistant director. Jim Pidcock, local sales manager at WTVN Radio in Columbus, is again the master of ceremonies.

Musical performances, both individual and ensembles, will be featured in the show.

Music acts booked are: Tim O'Flynn; the group of Brian and Lisa Stritenberger and Carlton West; Mark Forsythe; Brian Stritenberger and Carlton West; Doug Joseph; Donnie Pepper; the eight-member group of Greg Sanderson, Gloria Bolender, Jana Bolender, Marlin Milstead, Mary Lee Warning, Kim Riley, Marilyn Creamer and Jeff Fannin; Dawn Schlichter; the group of Allen Fennig, Julie Frost, Belinda Bonner, Gretchen Krieger, Gayle Jenkins, David Foster and Jeff Hux, and Kathy Edwards.

Piano solos will be presented by Cassandra Delay and Ann K. Black, while Dean Shonkwiler will offer a comedy routine.

A tap dance routine will be presented by Loree Johnson, Cynthia Morrow and Christy Tarbutton, and solo guitar arrangements will be presented by Lisa Morgan and Charles McKinney.

The eight-member JNROTC pep band will perform along with a four-member rock band. Members of the JNROTC band are Brent Thompson, Tim Dove, Cindy Van Meter, Paul Dowler, Mike Hughes, Russell Coldiron, Tom Smith and Leonard Williamson.

Performers in the rock band are Leonard Bick, Randy Bock, Dean Shonkwiler and Bret Shaw.

'American Humor' topic of Rotary Club speaker

A unique, but important American characteristic was detailed in a light vein for members of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club during the regular weekly noon luncheon Tuesday in the Country Club.

Eugene Buttles, general manager of the PPG Industries plant at Delaware, told Rotarians that a unique but imporant American characteristic is the tremendous sense of humor most Americans possess.

"Humor is the sandpaper to smooth over the rough edges of our life," said Buttles who had an effective presentation with a sober approach.

Buttles, president-elect of the Delaware Rotary Club, fired a number of humorous military, sports, ethnic, religious and political stories at the Rotary Club members.

He explained that even in the worst of times, Americans can still laugh at themselves. He cited a typical example in Xenia following the recent tornado. He said a hand-painted sign in front of one of the many demolished houses in the community said "God Bless This Mess."

James Hanawalt was the program chairman.

DURING the business meeting, conducted by club Vice President Paul Crosby, Dr. Joseph Herbert urged Rotarians to attend a colon cancer detection clinic which will be held Sunday, April 28, at the Medical Arts Building on Willard Street. The clinic, which is free of charge, is being sponsored by the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society.

Rotarians heard a report from Joe Peters, who is heading the club's Xenia relief fund committee. Peters said to date 61 club members have contributed $1,545 for Xenia residents. The committee was formed only a week ago.

Student guests were John Mayer, of MTHS, and Bob Wallace, of WSHS. John Ewart was a guest with Ron Ratliff.

Visiting Rotarians were Earl Hall and Darrell French, both of Wilmington, Jerry Ardrey of London, Al Fulford, of Bexley, Ed Jones, of Hong Kong, and Dave Kohli, Art Dick and Ottie Hockman, all of Mount Sterling.

Herbert Philbrick leads quiet life

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Herbert A. Philbrick, the counterspy famous for leading "Three Lives," is spending his fourth life in this quiet Washington suburb.

"Who am I today?" asks the 59-year-old Philbrick, then answers, "Just an ordinary citizen."

It is just 25 years since Philbrick made a surprise court appearance in Boston and testified against 11 alleged Communists conspirators. All were convicted and spent five years in jail, although the high court later threw out the Smith Act, under which they were convicted. The court ruled that an overt act of conspiracy was needed, not just talk.

And the public became aware of Philbrick's three lives as citizen, Communist, and FBI counterspy.

"It was like a thunderbolt in the courtroom when I walked in, since four of the 11 knew me personally," Philbrick recalled in an interview. And the public became aware of Philbrick's three lives as citizen, Communist and FBI counterspy.

But the furor seems far removed from the brick colonial house where Philbrick now lives with his 31-year-old second wife, Shirley.

"I'm just like everybody else," he said with a grin. And he looks the part. He now runs a small weekly newsletter and printing shop.

Cashing in on the Philbrick name is not his style. In fact, he says he finds the name can be a hindrance.

He says when he talks with people on Capitol Hill to get material for his newsletter, they often ask if he is related to the famous Philbrick.

"I always say, 'Yes, I'm related,' without explaining any more," he said. "Otherwise you get into a two-hour discussion about how it was back then. I'd never get any work done."

HERBERT PHILBRICK

So his phone is unlisted, his business cards carry just his company's name, and even plane tickets are bought under an alias.

Eventually, he says, the family will move back to New England.

That's where he spent nine years gathering evidence on "youth councils" and other Communist-front groups.

"Communism is much stronger today as part of the whole world movement," he says. "It's a religion. Like good Christians figure they're going to heaven, every good Marxist-Leninist figures he's going to win."

A French researcher found that great vintages in Burgundy wines follow maximum solar activity.

Liza Minelli ill with bout of flu

STATELINE, Nev. (AP) — Liza Minnelli, the Academy Award winning singer-actress, is recuperating here after collapsing just before a scheduled night club appearance on Monday.

A spokesman said she was believed to be suffering from the effects of the flu and had an upset stomach.

Abbie Hoffman named in warrant

NEW YORK (AP) — Abbie Hoffman, a radical youth leader in the 1960s, has failed to appear in court to face a narcotics charge and a warrant for his arrest has been issued.

State Supreme Court Justice Mary Johnson signed a bench warrant Tuesday after Hoffman's attorney was unable to produce his client. Prosecutors said Hoffman was last seen here Feb. 5 when he taped a television show.

Hoffman faces a 15-year to life prison term if convicted on charges of selling three pounds of cocaine for $36,000 to an undercover agent last Aug. 29. He had been free on bond of $10,000.

Expect shortages at lumber yard

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The Saturday morning wake-up-and-build-something set may be disappointed. They'll be motivated to brandish their saws. They may have the time and inclination for a do-it-yourself job, but the local lumber yard may be unable to accommodate their needs for materials.

They may be in the same bind as local builders and carpenters who are finding lumber yard cupboards are often bare any day of the week. In fact, materials are so scarce and prices fluctuating so rapidly that Connecticut workmen can give estimates that are good for only two days.

"An example of price change is a job I planned to do in my own house," said builder Bob Alling of Bethal. "I wanted some paneling and it went up from $9.75 a sheet to $14.75 while I was thinking about it over a weekend. . ."

ON ORDER it may take a month or six weeks to get some materials, carpenters insist. But another time they can pick it up right away.

"Part of the trouble is that yards don't want to keep too much expensive stock on hand. They must keep it moving, so you get what they are making available," said Bob Bass of Georgetown.

Sometimes a supplier will tell builders something is ordered but the price he has quoted will hold for only two weeks. It holds up making estimates and even completing jobs.

If asphalt shingles are ordered it might take six weeks, one builder insists. Right now there is a scarcity of V-joint clear pine that is used in wainscoting and the like. Substituting, two builders "managed to get a few pieces of No. 2 pine" for one little job.

SELECT WOOD is just about out of the question right now in their area, they say, although cheaper woods — hem firm and the like — are available.

In commenting on the shortage of materials, one large lumber yard spokesman explained:

"It is no longer a buyer's market. Recently we couldn't get sheet rock or insulation of any kind. And during the winter months we couldn't get anything related to fireplaces — grates, andirons, free standing fireplaces.

"Select stock, clear pines and clear redwoods are hard to get. The uncertainty of the market is keeping us from stocking large quantities of materials. We'd rather let wholesalers stock it at their warehouses even though we must wait two or more weeks to get orders filled."

ANOTHER YARD predicts that roofing materials will be in short supply because roofing is made from crude oil "and a lot of pitch is required." Prices have been climbing for some time, that spokesman pointed out, adding:

"I just got in a lot of asphalt shingles. I waited two days to place an order and meanwhile the price went up 10 and one-half per cent."

The supplier told them "the increase in goods is not a labor factor, that rise will come later."

As a long-time source for do-it-yourselfers, the yard spokesman predicts "there won't be much do-it-yourselfing" this season. Things can only get worse, he insists.

Another lumber yard has been having "serious troubles for more than a year."

"I've had lots of problems trying to get insulation, and I can't get polyethylenes which are used with concrete for moisture barriers.

"I can't pinpoint the reasons why I am not getting certain things. There seems to be a different excuse for the shortage of each thing," he explained.

FORTUNATELY, people seem to understand the predicament, the builders point out.

In addition to price increases in materials and the delays, however, a lot of gas is used making estimates on jobs, picking up lumber in different towns and so on.

Such cost factors are reflected in job estimates and many men in the building trades are at leisure.

As for a do-it-yourselfer, "His best bet is to anticipate what he might want to do and order the materials now.

He might even be lucky enough to find the thing he needs on hand. We can't predict the market from day to day," said a lumber yard man.

No Sweat Savings.

Sometimes the hardest work of all is trying to save a few extra dollars. Those everyday necessities just seem to eat up your paycheck until there's nothing left to tuck away for the future.

But there is an easy way to build a nest egg. The Payroll Savings Plan. Just sign up where you work, and any amount you specify will be set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. It's so simple, you almost forget your money's there working for you. And, pretty soon, you'll be surprised at how your savings have grown.

The Payroll Savings Plan. Takes some of the perspiration out of planning ahead.

CRAFTY CRAFTSMEN

Safety and a community project were the main topics of discussion at the regular meeting of the Crafty Craftsmen Club. Robert Redman gave a report about home safety, then members discussed safety around their homes and barns and suggested checking for some hazards such as bare wires, poor outlets, overloaded circuits, storages places of flammable liquids and poisons within easy reach of children.

The club has selected a study of Indian Creek as their community project and they will determine the watershed area, the flood areas, study the rainfall, and the safety of the drinking water in the area.

To start members thinking about the project, adviser Eddie Rea asked them water requirements of corn, wheat, tomato and potato plants. Also he asked them how much water each thought a cow, sheep and horse would drink in a day.

The next meeting will be April 15 at Eric Vanzant's home.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
4 ♥	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 ♦	Pass	5 NT	Pass
6 ♦	Pass	7 NT

Opening lead - queen of spades.

Some hands stand or fall on one key decision, and declarer is best advised in such cases to delay that decision until the last possible moment.

South failed to do so here when he impetuously went down in an ice-cold grand slam.

West led the queen of spades and it was apparent to declarer that the outcome would hinge on how he fared in hearts.

Having learned that with nine cards of a suit, missing four to the queen, it was generally better to play for the drop of the queen rather than the finesse, South won the spade lead and all too hastily cashed the A-K of hearts to go down one. He lost a spade trick at the end.

Declarer was extremely remiss when he plunged headlong into tackling the hearts in this fashion. With twelve sure tricks in sight — two spades, two hearts, four diamonds and four clubs — there was no need to make the crucial decision in hearts so early in the play.

Upon winning the spade lead with the king, he should have played a heart to the ace and cashed four clubs and the A-K-Q of diamonds to produce this position:

North
♥ K J 10 9

West
♠ J 10
♥ Q 7

East
♠ 7 6 4
♦ 9

South
♠ A 9
♥ 6
♦ J

The lead of the jack of diamonds at this point would have destroyed West. Whatever he discarded, South would automatically score the rest of the tricks. Guessing whether to finesse the heart would not have entered the picture at all.

Write Down Instructions

Almost invariably I leave my doctor's office having forgotten to ask the questions my husband and I think are important.

I then hate to bother my doctor and remain in a state of confusion.

Mrs. J. D., Maine

Dear Mrs. D.:

Many patients leave the doctor's office and later think of all the questions they should have asked.

It is reasonable to assume that the level of anxiety is high and the general tension of being in a doctor's office is responsible for such an interruption of communication between the patient and the doctor.

Some patients seem to be filled with guilt for "taking up too much of the doctor's time." This is false reasoning. Unless the patient's questions are completely answered, both the patient and the doctor are done an injustice.

Unless the patient thoroughly understands his condition and the nature of the treatment, the chances are great that any regimen will not be carefully followed.

Many patients sensibly jot down their complaints, symptoms and questions so that they do not forget them when they give the history of their illness to their doctor.

Similarly, patients should listen to the doctor's instructions and make notes to firmly fix the doctor's instructions in their minds.

Unless this is done the doctor's message, when relayed to another member of the family, can become distorted, and misinformation and confusion inevitably result.

A girl in our office came down with hepatitis. My doctor did not suggest an injection of gamma globulin. Other girls in the office got it.

No one else caught hepatitis. We want to know whose doctor was right.

Miss G. G., N.Y.

Dear Miss G.:

Your letter is an interesting one and highlights a source of confusion that should be clarified.

A doctor's decision to use gamma globulin is based on his total evaluation of the circumstances. The intimacy of the contact with a sick person dictates the need for such protection.

Many people who may have had no direct contact with the infected person still become highly anxious and almost demand from their doctors the security of an injection.

Others, like yourself, give a calmer picture of the situation and so the doctor decides there is no need for an injection of gamma globulin.

No one caught the hepatitis. Think about that.

Most observers agree that during the next 10 years or so, American cities will see increasing electrical brownouts. These are voltage reductions that cause electric motors to labor and burn out, TV pictures to shrink and lights to dim.

Mother's Day proclaimed

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon, in his annual Mothers Day proclamation, says "there is no undertaking more challenging, no responsibility more awesome" than being a mother.

Nixon designated May 12 as Mothers Day and wrote:

"...Mothers are today, as never before, moving into highly skilled jobs and careers. Barriers against equal opportunity for women have been disappearing rapidly, but we must remain diligent in our efforts to remove them."

C. of C. names 10 director candidates

Ten Washington C.H. area men have been selected by the membership of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce to appear on the official ballot for the election of five members to three-year terms on the board of directors.

President Fred L. Domenico said the prospective directors are:

G.L. Arnold, of the Armco Steel Corp. Metal Products Division plant here; Donald Bailey, of Conchemco, Inc., Sabina; Ray Downing, Craig's Department Store; Glenn Hemsworth, First National Bank in Washington C.H.; Larry Lehman, Downtown Drug Co.; David Six, First National Bank in Washington C.H.; John Toby, Montgomery Ward Co.; Ronald Farmer, of Ron Farmer's Auto Supermarket; Ronald Warner, of the Washington Savings Bank, and James R. Wilson, of the Fayette County Bank.

Domenico said that all members in good standing will be receiving ballots which were mailed Wednesday, along with the April newsletter and a 1974-75 program of work survey. To be counted, ballots must be returned to the Chamber of Commerce office no later than Wednesday, May 1.

The five new board members elected will be replacing Leroy Barton, Washington Savings Bank; Jim Hanawalt, Armco Steel; David Looker, First National Bank; William Pool, of the William Pool Insurance Agency, and Sam Marting, of Marting Manufacturing Co., all of whom are completing their terms on the board.

This year's election committee is headed by Jerry Sheppard. Otis Hess and George Winkle are assisting Sheppard.

Two thefts investigated

A centrifugal pump stolen from the Fayette County Farm Bureau and a stolen bicycle were reported by law enforcement agencies overnight.

Employes at the Elm Street branch of the Fayette County Farm Bureau discovered a liquid fertilizer pump missing Tuesday.

City police determined that the theft took place between noon Saturday and 9 a.m. Monday. The pump was valued at $150.

A girls' red, white and blue Schwinn bicycle was stolen from the front yard of the Alvin Johnson residence, Madison Mills. Sheriff's deputies are investigating the theft.

Frank McGee dies at 52

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank McGee, a television newsman of the National Broadcasting Co. and a regular on the network's "Today" program, died today. He was 52.

McGee died of pneumonia at Harkness Pavilion of the Columbia Presbyterian Hospital. He had been ill off and on for several months, the network said.

McGee's last appearance on the "Today" program was last Thursday.

Born in Monroe, La., he began his broadcast career in 1950 at WKY-TV in Oklahoma City. Five years later, he became news director of WSFA-TV in Montgomery, Ala. He joined NBC in 1957.

Among his honors as a news broadcaster were a Peabody Award in 1966 and an Emmy for Special events coverage in 1968.

THEY RECEIVED THEIR BREAK TODAY! — Although it is not likely to receive national acclaim, the McDonald's break in Washington C. H. Wednesday morning is significant to local residents. Groundbreaking ceremonies near the Washington Square Shopping Center preceded construction of a 100-seat McDonald's Restaurant. Ron Fewster, center, and John Stiving, at right, the owners, said the facility should be open in less than four months and will employ more than 50 area residents. Rob Munn, left, will be the restaurant manager. All three are from Chillicothe, where they currently operate a McDonald's franchise.
